Realism And Naturalism In Nineteenth Century American Literature:

Realism and Naturalism in Nineteenth-century American Literature Donald Pizer, 1966 During the Revolution a nine year old black slave girl is given the task of blowing up ammunition stored in the British barracks in Charleston Realism and Naturalism in Nineteenth-century American Literature Donald Pizer, 1984 Realism and Naturalism in Nineteenth-century American Literature Donald Pizer, 1984 The 1966 edition of this book has become a standard work In this new revised edition Pizer has dropped three chapters and has refined and extended the work by adding six American Literary Naturalism An Approach Through Form American Literary Naturalism The Example of Dreiser The Problem of Philosophy in the Naturalistic Novel Hamlin Garland's 1891 Main Travelled Roads Local Color as Art Jack London The Problem of Form and Dreiser's Nigger Jeff The Development of an Aesthetic The book contains definitions of realism and naturalism based on representative novels of the period ranging from Howells Rise of Silas Lapham to Crane's Red Badge of Courage analyses of the literary criticism of the age stressing that of Howells Garland and Norris and close readings of specific works by major figures of the period Realism and Naturalism in Nineteenth-Century American Literature Donald Pizer, 1976 Realism and naturalism in nineteenth century American literature, with a pref Donald Pizer,

Reader's Guide to Literature in English Mark Hawkins-Dady, 2012-12-06 Reader's Guide Literature in English provides expert guidance to and critical analysis of the vast number of books available within the subject of English literature from Anglo Saxon times to the current American British and Commonwealth scene It is designed to help students teachers and librarians choose the most appropriate books for research and study The Theory and Practice of American Literary Naturalism Donald Pizer, 1993 In his first book devoted exclusively to naturalism Donald Pizer brings together thirteen essays and four reviews written over a thirty year period that in their entirety constitute a full scale interpretation of the basic character and historical shape of naturalism in America The essays fall into three groups Some deal with the full range of American naturalism from the 1590s to the late twentieth century and some are confined either to the 1890s or to the twentieth century In addition to the essays an introduction in which Pizer recounts the development of his interest in American naturalism reviews of recent studies of naturalism and a selected bibliography contribute to an understanding of Pizer's interpretation of the movement One of the recurrent themes in the essays is that the interpretation of American naturalism has been hindered by the common view that the movement is characterized by a commitment to Emile Zola's deterministic beliefs and that naturalistic novels are thus inevitably crude and simplistic both in theme and method Rather than accept this notion Pizer insists that naturalistic novels be read closely not for their success or failure in rendering obvious deterministic beliefs but rather for what actually does occur within the dynamic play of theme and form within the work Adopting this method Pizer finds that naturalistic fiction often reveals a complex and suggestive mix of older humanistic faiths and more recent doubts about human volition and that it renders this vital thematic ambivalence in increasingly sophisticated forms as the movement matures In addition Pizer demonstrates that American naturalism cannot be viewed monolithically as a school with a common body of belief and value Rather each generation of American naturalists as well as major figures within each generation has responded to threads within the naturalistic impulse in strikingly distinctive ways And it is indeed this absence of a rigid doctrinal core and the openness of the movement to individual variation that are responsible for the remarkable vitality and longevity of the movement Because the essays have their origin in efforts to describe the general characteristics of American naturalism rather than in a desire to cover the field fully some authors and works are discussed several times though from different angles and some referred to only briefly or not at all But the essays as a collection are complete in the sense that they comprise an interpretation of American naturalism both in its various phases and as a whole Those authors whose works receive substantial discussion include Stephen Crane Frank Norris Theodore Dreiser Edith Wharton James T Farrell Norman Mailer Joyce Carol Oates and William Kennedy Of special interest is Pizer's essay on Ironweed which appears here for the first time

Documents of American Realism and Naturalism

Donald Pizer, 1998 Donald Pizer presents the major critical discussions of American realism and naturalism from the beginnings of the movement in the 1870s to the present He includes the most often cited discussions ranging from William Dean Howells Henry James and Frank Norris in the late nineteenth century to those by V L Parrington Malcolm Cowley and Lionel Trilling in the early twentieth century To provide the full context for the effort to interpret the nature and significance of realism and naturalism during the periods when the movements were live issues on the critical scene however he also includes many uncollected essays His selections since World War II reflect the major recent tendencies in academic criticism of the movements Through introductions to each of the three sections Pizer provides background delineating the underlying issues motivating attempts to attack defend or describe American realism and naturalism In particular Pizer attempts to reveal the close ties between criticism of the two movements and significant cultural concerns of the period in which the criticism appeared Before each selection Pizer provides a brief biographical note and establishes the cultural milieu in which the essay was originally published He closes his anthology with a bibliography of twentieth century academic criticism of American realism and naturalism
