Realism And Revolution Balzac Stendhal Zola And The Performances Of History:

Realism and Revolution Gordon Naidoo, 1991 Realism and Revolution Sandy Petrey, 1988 Sandy Petrey here looks at the emergence of nineteenth century French realism in the light of the concept of speech acts as defined by J L Austin and as exemplified by the history of the French Revolution Through analysis of the techniques of representation in works by Balzac Stendhal and Zola Petrey suggests that the expression of a truth depends on the same collective forces necessary to change a regime According to Petrey political legitimacy in the Revolution the Empire and the Restoration was established by means of a series of demonstrations that what words say cannot be interpreted without reference to the community to which they speak Petrey first discusses the creation of France's National Assembly in 1789 as a foundational example of how speech acts can bring about historical transformation He then challenges the most powerful twentieth century assault on realist aesthetics Roland Barthes's S Z and also considers the views of such contemporary critics as Jacques Derrida Barbara Johnson and Stanley Fish During the Revolution Petrey says statements of truth were not descriptions of what was but rather exhortations to produce what was not Nineteenth century French fiction represents in literary form a similar collectively authorized linguistic performance the real in realism comes from representing facts not as they are in themselves but as they are produced and rejected in society In the course of illuminating readings of three central realist works Balzac's Pere Goriot Stendhal's The Red and the Black and Zola's Germinal Petrey takes the position that the dilemmas of representation far from being one of realism's blind spots figure among its major narrative subjects Realism and Revolution Sandy Petrey, 2018-10-18 Sandy Petrey here looks at the emergence of nineteenth century French realism in the light of the concept of speech acts as defined by J L Austin and as exemplified by the history of the French Revolution Through analysis of the techniques of representation in works by Balzac Stendhal and Zola Petrey suggests that the expression of a truth depends on the same collective forces necessary to change a regime According to Petrey political legitimacy in the Revolution the Empire and the Restoration was established by means of a series of demonstrations that what words say cannot be interpreted without reference to the community to which they speak Petrey first discusses the creation of France's National Assembly in 1789 as a foundational example of how speech acts can bring about historical transformation He then challenges the most powerful twentieth century assault on realist aesthetics Roland Barthes's S Z and also considers the views of such contemporary critics as Jacques Derrida Barbara Johnson and Stanley Fish During the Revolution Petrey says statements of truth were not descriptions of what was but rather exhortations to produce what was not Nineteenth century French fiction represents in literary form a similar collectively authorized linguistic performance the real in realism comes from representing facts not as they are in themselves but as they are produced and rejected in society In the course of illuminating readings of three central realist works Balzac's Pere Goriot Stendhal's The Red and the Black and Zola's Germinal Petrey takes the position that the dilemmas of representation far from being one of realism's blind spots figure among its major narrative subjects Realism, Form, and Representation in the Edwardian Novel Charlotte Jones, 2021-01-07 The real represents to my perception the things that we cannot possibly not know sooner or later in one way or another wrote Henry James in 1907 This description riven with double negatives hesitation and uncertainty encapsulates the epistemological difficulties of realism for underlying its narrative and descriptive apparatus as an aesthetic mode lies a philosophical quandary What grounds the real of the realist novel What kind of perception is required to validate the experience of reality How does the realist novel represent the difficulty of knowing What comes to the fore in James's account as in so many is how the forms of realism are constituted by a relation to unknowing absence and ineffability Realism Form and Representation in the Edwardian Novel recovers a neglected literary history centred on the intricate relationship between fictional representation and philosophical commitment It asks how or if we can conceptualize realist novels when the objects of their representational intentions are realities that might exist beyond what is empirically verifiable by sense data or analytically verifiable by logic and are thus irreducible to conceptual schemes or linguistic practices a formulation Charlotte Jones refers to as synthetic realism In new readings of Edwardian novels including Conrad's Nostromo and The Secret Agent Wells's Tono Bungay and Ford's The Good Soldier this volume revises and reconsiders key elements of realist novel theory metaphor and metonymy character interiority the insignificant detail omniscient narration and free indirect discourse causal linearity to uncover the representational strategies by which realist writers grapple with the recalcitrance of reality as a referential anchor and seek to give form to the force opacity and uncertain scope of realities that may lie beyond the material In restoring a metaphysical dimension to the realist novel's imaginary Realism Form and Representation in the Edwardian Novel offers a new conceptualization of realism both within early twentieth century literary culture and as a transhistorical mode of representation Bureaucrats and Bourgeois Society R. Kingston, 2012-10-19 Between 1789 and 1848 clerks modified their occupational practices responding to political scrutiny and state administration reforms Ralph Kingston examines the lives and influence of bureaucrats inside and outside the office as they helped define nineteenth century bourgeois social capital ideals of emulation honour and masculinity The Historical Novel in Nineteenth-Century Europe Brian Hamnett, 2011-11-24 Even at the height of its popularity in the early nineteenth century the historical novel faced criticism at many levels After its predominance in the 1810s and 1820s writers and historians shunned it as a travesty of their respective disciplines Even so the historical novel has frequently attracted a wide ranging public right up to the present day Brian Hamnett examines key novels by authors including Scott Balzac Manzoni Dickens Eliot Flaubert Fontane Gald's and Tolstoy revealing the contradictions inherent in this form of fiction and exposing the challenges writers faced in attempting to represent a reality that linked past and present He argues that the historical novel in the nineteenth century was a common European phenomenon with considerable interconnection of themes and periods Accordingly the book ranges from the British Isles and France through the Germanic territories Italy and Spain to the Russian Empire identifying the different objectives and phases of the historical novel Although historical novels did appear in the two previous centuries the form came to maturity in the nineteenth century a consequence of the developing nature of history as a discipline distinct from literature and philosophy and the increasing primacy of the novel for writers and the reading public Yet the frontiers between history and literature remained blurred and the two disciplines continued to influence one another as each sought a faithful representation of human experience Postcolonial Realism and the Concept of the Political Eli Park

Sorensen,2021-04-28 As the scholarly world attunes itself once again to the specifically political this book rethinks the political significance of literary realism within a postcolonial context Generally postcolonial studies has either ignored realism or criticized it as being na ve anachronistic deceptive or complicit with colonial discourse in other words incongruous with the postcolonial This book argues that postcolonial realism is intimately connected to the specifically political in the sense that realist form is premised on the idea of a collective reality Discussing a range of literary and theoretical works Dr Sorensen exemplifies that many postcolonial writers were often faced with the realities of an unstable state a divided community inhabiting a contested social space the challenges of constructing a notion of the people often out of a myriad of local communities with different traditions and languages brought together arbitrarily through colonization The book demonstrates that the political context of realism is the sphere or possibility of civil war divided societies and unstable communities Postcolonial realism is prompted by disturbing political circumstances and it gestures toward a commonly imagined world precisely because such a notion is under pressure or absent Stendhal's Parallel Lives Francesco

Manzini,2004 This book deals with the important and hitherto neglected relationship between the works of Stendhal and Plutarch s Parallel Lives Stendhal s readings of Plutarch are shown to inform his literary representations of Revolution and Empire Restoration and Orleanism as well as his theorizations of Romanticism In particular the Plutarchan concept of Parallel Lives is used to analyse one of the major themes of Stendhal s writing the self construction of individual identity whether auto biographical or fictional by means of the emulation as distinct from the imitation of heroic exemplars As a consequence the balance between irony and idealism often identified by critics in Stendhal s work is shown rather to be an imbalance weighted in favour of an idealism derived from Plutarchan conceptions of heroism particularly as they are represented in the Lives of Julius Caesar and Marcus Brutus Realism: Aesthetics, Experiments, Politics Jens

Elze,2022-04-07 Realism seems to be everywhere both as a trending critical term and as a revitalized aesthetic practice This volume brings together for the first time three aspects that are pertinent for a proper understanding of realism its 19th century aesthetics committed to making reality into an object of serious art the experiments with and against realism by 20th century modernist postmodernist or magical realist writing and the politics of realism especially its ambitions to map the complex realities produced by global capitalism and climate catastrophe This juxtaposition of aesthetics experiments and politics unsettles the entrenched opposition between realism and experimental literature that tends to ignore the fact that realism by virtue of its commitment to a changing material and social world cannot be but continuously experimenting The innovative chapters of this book address some of the pressing questions of literary and cultural studies today like the complex relation between historical materialism and new materialisms between science and art or the different aesthetic and political affordances of making systemic analyses against depicting the specificity of the local Some of the chapters deal with classically realist authors such as George Eliot mile Zola and Joseph Conrad to gauge the aesthetic radicalism of their diverse realist projects Others investigate the experimental engagements with realism by authors such as B S Johnson J M Coetzee or Rachel Cusk Yet others analyze the politics of realism found in contemporary anglophone novels by writers like Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie David Mitchell or Rohinton Mistry The readings assembled here are a testament to the diversity of literary realism s from the 19th 20th and 21st centuries and to the ongoing controversies surrounding definitions and deployments of realism

Post-Realism Robert Hariman,1996-08-31 Beer and Hariman provide a coherent set of essays that trace and challenge the tradition of realism which has dominated the thinking of academics and practitioners alike These timely essays set out a systematic investigation of the major realist writers of the Post War era the foundational concepts of international politics and representative case studies of political discourse
