The Poetry of William Carlos Williams of Rutherford Wendell Berry, 2011-02-10 A superb study that reminds us that Williams remains our contemporary not only for the lively cadences and fresh imagery that animate his poems but for the ethical imperative of his example The Sewanee Review Acclaimed essayist and poet Wendell Berry was born and has always lived in a provincial part of the country without an established literary culture In an effort to adapt his poetry to his place of Henry County Kentucky Berry discovered an enduringly useful example in the work of William Carlos Williams In Williams' commitment to his place of Rutherford New Jersey Berry found an inspiration that inevitably influenced the direction of his own writing Both men would go on to establish themselves as respected American poets and here Berry sets forth his understanding of that evolution for Williams who in the course of his local membership and service became a poet indispensable to us all Generously quoting many of Williams' best lines Berry produces a work of aesthetics more than evaluation of love more than critique Booklist

The Zen of Ecopoetics Enaiê Mairê Azambuja, 2023-12-22 This book is the first comprehensive study investigating the cultural affinities and resonances of Zen in early twentieth century American poetry and its contribution to current definitions of ecopoetics focusing on four key poets William Carlos Williams Marianne Moore Wallace Stevens and E E Cummings Bringing together a range of texts and perspectives and using an interdisciplinary approach that draws on Eastern and Western philosophies including Zen and Taoism posthumanism and new materialism this book adds to and extends the field of ecocriticism into new debates Its broad approach informed by literary studies ecocriticism and religious studies proposes the expansion of ecopoetics to include the relationship between poetic materiality and spirituality It develops cosmopoetics as a new literary theoretical concept of the poetic imagination as a contemplative means to achieving a deeper understanding of the human interdependence with the non human Addressing the critical gap between materialism and spirituality in modernist American poetry The Zen of Ecopoetics promotes new forms of awareness and understanding about our relationship with non human beings and environments It will be of interest to scholars researchers and students in ecocriticism literary theory poetry and religious studies Poets of Reality Joseph Hillis Miller,1992 Passionate Intellect Michael Kirkham,1999-01-01 This critical study looks at the first four decades of Charles Tomlinson s poetic career and is the only published full scale exclusive treatment of his poetry Tomlinson is a major British poet whose work has received more recognition in North America and continental Europe than it has in his own country where still in some quarters its character is misunderstood and therefore misjudged The purpose of Kirkham s study is to increase understanding and appreciation of the exceptional achievement of Tomlinson s poetry emphasizing both the startling originality of his vision a unified vision of a natural human world and the subtlety of his poetic art The study is a reading of the poems which aims to show what they yield to close scrutiny and to remove misconceptions Known for its analytical rendering of sense impressions and its avoidance of the personal pronoun the objectivism of Tomlinson s poetry is not an exercise in asceticism but a means of enlarging the circumference of the perceiving self an expansion of self which is not at the same time an inflation of the self regarding ego Its theme is not objects as such but relations the relation of the perceiving self to the other of the human to the non human world Its reputation for cool detachment is based on a misreading it is a poetry of energy and excitement which combines self restraint with passionate conviction Modern Poetry and the Plastic Imagination, 1890-1925 Eric Oscar Johannesson,1955 The ^APoem as Icon Margaret H.
