Reason And The Christian Religion Essays In Honour Of Richard Swinburne:

Reason and the Christian Religion Alan G. Padgett, 1994 Richard Swinburne is one of the most distinguished philosophers of religion of our day In this volume many notable philosophers in Britain and America unite to honour him and to discuss various topics to which he has contributed significantly These include general topics in the philosophy of religion such as revelation and faith and reason and the specifically Christian doctrines of the Trinity the Incarnation and atonement In the spirit of the movement which Richard Swinburne has spearheaded the essays in this collection use analytic philosophical methods to examine doctrines in particular religious traditions expanding upon traditional discussions of theism

Swinburne's Hell and Hick's Universalism Lindsey Hall, 2017-11-01 This title was first published in 2003 This book seeks to establish whether a Christian position must entail a belief in hell or whether Christians can hold a coherent theory of universal salvation Richard Swinburne's defence of hell depends on the argument that hell is necessary if humans are to be genuinely free It becomes clear that the contemporary discussion of hell and universalism cannot be separated from the issues of human freedom and God's knowledge and so Hall centres the discussion round the question Are we Free to Reject God John Hick argues that although we are free to reject God there will eventually be an universalist outcome Having examined the contrasting arguments of Hick and Swinburne Hall builds on Hick's position to develop an argument for Christian universal salvation which holds in balance our freedom in relation to God and the assurance that all will finally be saved

A Rational Faith Joshua Sijuwade, 2025-03-27 A comprehensive analysis of Richard Swinburne's intellectual journey and philosophical work A Rational Faith explores the legacy of one of the most influential and rigorous philosophical defenders of theism Across Swinburne's written career he has displayed a deep commitment to demonstrating the intellectual credibility of the Christian faith facing modern scientific and philosophical challenges and the materialistic worldview of modern intellectualism. Analysing his life and work through in-depth accessible explanations of key issues and their context, Joshua Sijuwade brings together collected criticism of Swinburne's work and explores possible counter arguments alongside a foreword by Richard Swinburne himself. Suitable for any reader interested in Swinburne's philosophy, first approach or those intrigued by a philosophical defence of the Christian faith, A Rational Faith reveals Swinburne's life and work as a witness to his belief that belief in the central tenets of the Christian faith is rational.

Fifty Years of Philosophy of Religion: A Select Bibliography (1955-2005) Andy Sanders, Kristof de Ridder, 2007-06-28. The bibliography lists about 10 000 titles of monographs, collections and articles in the field of the philosophy of religion and philosophical theology that appeared between 1955 and 2005. The majority of them are in the English language but publications in German, Dutch and French are listed as well. Though it is not claimed to be exhaustive, the bibliography offers a fairly representative survey of scholarly work on the main topics of interest. Publications have been systematically classified according to eleven main categories: Introductions, Surveys and Historical Issues, Part I Religious Language, Part II Religious Experience, Part III Religious Epistemology, Part IV Theism, Part V Hermeneutics, Part VI Religion and Science, Part VII Religion and Aesthetics, Part VIII Religion and Morality, Part IX Religious Pluralism, Part X and Feminist Philosophy of Religion, Part XI. Part III has been subdivided into Religious Experience and Mystical Experience. Part VII into The Concept of God, arguments for The Existence of God, The Problem of Evil and Atheism, and Part VIII into General and Historical Issues, Theological Issues and implications of Modern Physics, Cosmology and Biology. The bibliography will particularly be useful to scholars, teachers and students in the philosophy of religion, philosophical theology and systematic theology as well as to those who are interested professionally or otherwise in the results of academic scholarship in those fields.

God is a Communicative Being William M. Schweitzer, 2012-03-29. Over the past half century there has been a proliferation of scholarship on the great American theologian Jonathan Edwards. However, the vast majority of this output confines itself to the details of his work. With some welcome exceptions, the forest has often been missed for the trees. In this ground-breaking study, William Schweitzer presents a new reading of Edwards. He starts with the question: what is distinctive in Edwards' theology? The answer comes in Edwards' insight into Trinitarian life: God is eternally communicative of his knowledge, love and joy among the Three Persons of the Trinity, and this divine communicativeness was for Edwards the explanation for why God created the universe. More specifically, however, Edwards believed that God's communication carries with it the Trinitarian hallmark of harmony. This hallmark is not always easy to discern, even for the regenerate Edwards, lifelong project as demonstrated by the common purpose of all three unfinished Great Works: was to interpret the harmony found in and among the several media of revelation.

Resurrection, Scripture, and Reformed Apologetics Steven D. West, 2012-07-26. Apologetic methodology has been the subject of intense debate in Reformed circles This book argues that we can test Reformed apologetic methods for consistency using two linchpin theological topics the doctrine of the resurrection and the doctrine of Scripture Should apologetics move from establishing theism to the resurrection and then to Scripture Or should theism the resurrection and the doctrine of Scripture be accepted on the testimony of the Holy Spirit as basic beliefs Alternatively do these doctrines need to be presupposed and incorporated into a transcendental defense of the faith After analyzing classical apologetics historical evidentialism Reformed epistemology and presuppositionalism for their apologetic cogency Steven D West contends that any method used by Reformed apologists should be able to argue successfully for a high view of Scripture the source of the doctrine of the resurrection The book will be useful to everyone interested in the relationship between theology philosophy and apologetics

The Predicament of Belief Philip Clayton, Steven Knapp, 2011-10-27 Does it make sense can it make sense for someone who appreciates the explanatory power of modern science to continue believing in a traditional religious account of the ultimate nature and purpose of our universe This book is intended for those who care about that question and are dissatisfied with the rigid dichotomies that dominate the contemporary debate The extremists won't be interested those who assume that science answers all the questions that matter and those so certain of their religious faith that dialogue with science philosophy or other faith traditions seems unnecessary But far more people today recognize that matters of faith are complex that doubt is endemic to belief and that dialogue is indispensable in our day In eight probing chapters the authors of The Predicament of Belief consider the most urgent reasons for doubting that religious claims in particular those embedded in the Christian tradition are likely to be true They develop a version of Christian faith that preserves the tradition's core insights but also gauges the varying degrees of certainty with which those insights can still be affirmed Along the way they address such questions as the ultimate origin of the universe the existence of innocent suffering the challenge of religious plurality and how to understand the extraordinary claim that an ancient teacher rose from the dead They end with a discussion of what their conclusions imply about the present state and future structure of churches and other communities in which Christian affirmations are made
