Logistics and Fulfillment for e-business Janice Reynolds, 2001-04-15 Logistics and fulfillment management is unglamorous complex and expensive but it is one of the primary factors determining whether an e business will be profitable Many enterprises large and small rush into the e business model without adequate consi Short Film Distribution Jason Moore, 2011-03-29 No detailed description available for Short Film Distribution Distributing Silent Film Serials Rudmer Canjels, 2011-01-25 Tracing the international consumption distribution and cultural importance of silent film serials in the 1910s and 1920s Canjels provides an exciting new understanding of the cultural dimension and the cultural transformation and circulation of media forms Specifically he demonstrates that the serial film form goes far beyond the well known American two reel serial the cliffhanger Throughout the book Canjels focuses on the biggest producers of serials America France and Germany while imported serials such as those in the Netherlands are also examined This research offers new views on the serial work of well known directors as D W Griffith Abel Gance Erich von Stroheim and Fritz Lang while foregrounding the importance of lesser known directors such as Louis Feuillade or Joe May In the early twentieth century serial productions were constantly undergoing change and were not merely distributed in their original form upon import As adjusted serials were present in large quantities or confronted different social spaces nationalistic feelings and views stimulated by the unrest of World War I and the expanding American film industry could be incorporated and attached to the serial form Serial productions were not only adaptable to local discourses they could actively stimulate and interact as well influencing reception and further film production By examining the distribution reception and cultural contexts of American and European serials in various countries this cross cultural research makes both local and global observations Canjels thus offers a highly relevant case study of transnational transcultural and transmedia relations Technology Innovations for Behavioral Education Mary Banks Gregerson, 2011-05-03 Behavioral and technological innovation has a special place in the future of graduate and medical education both for students and for educators A new multi media pedagogy offers innovative techniques and technologies drawing widely upon behavioral science The psychology of multi media education maximizes learning by involving many different sensory modalities Although multi media has long meant use of film and other electronic modality adjuncts like Powerpoint newer technologies expand these horizons further Now multi media pedagogy means not only newer technologies but also newer and different education techniques This book describes psychology innovation currently making educational settings competent and competitive Student choice rules in education today The technologically driven environment produces students whose preference is incumbent on electronic research means Besides using these tools themselves students thirst for multi media pedagogy in the classroom online and on campus It is therefore teachers who close the digital divide between generations in order to educate effectively Approaches using new technologies and techniques have proven successful internationally with diverse audiences Reel Latinxs Frederick Luis

Aldama, Christopher González, 2019-09-24 Latinx representation in the popular imagination has infuriated and befuddled the Latinx community for decades. These misrepresentations and stereotypes soon became as American as apple pie. But these cardboard cutouts and examples of lazy storytelling could never embody the rich traditions and histories of Latinx peoples. Not seeing real Latinxs on TV and film reels as kids inspired the authors to dive deep into the world of mainstream television and film to uncover examples of representation good and bad. The result is a riveting ride through televisual and celluloid reels that make up mainstream culture. As pop culture experts Frederick Luis Aldama and Christopher González show the way Latinx peoples have appeared and are still represented in mainstream TV and film narratives is as frustrating as it is illuminating. Stereotypes such as drug lords, petty criminals, buffoons, and sexed-up lovers have filled both small and silver screens and the minds of the public. Aldama and González blaze new paths through Latinx cultural phenomena that disrupt stereotypes, breathing complexity into real Latinx subjectivities and experiences. In this grand sleuthing sweep of Latinx representation in mainstream TV and film that continues to shape the imagination of U.S. society, these two Latinx pop culture authorities call us all to scholarly action.

Making Movies Black Thomas Cripps, 1993-05-20 This is the second volume of Thomas Cripps's definitive history of African Americans in Hollywood, covering the period from World War II through the civil rights movement of the 1960s. Examining this period through the prism of popular culture, Making Movies Black shows how movies anticipated America's changing ideas about race. Cripps contends that founded in the liberal rhetoric of the war years with the catchwords brotherhood and tolerance came movies which defined a new African American presence both in film and in American society at large. Focusing on popular film culture from classic Hollywood films and black musicals like Gone with the Wind and Cabin in the Sky to war movies and government propaganda films like Bataan and Wings for this Man narrated by Ronald Reagan to the first bold strides toward a humane portrayal of interracial comradeship in The Breaking Point, Cripps documents the ever-fluctuating African American presence in Hollywood. Delving into previously inaccessible records of major Hollywood studios among them Warner Brothers, RKO, and Twentieth Century Fox, as well as federal records of the Office of War Information, the NAACP, and interviews with survivors of the era, Cripps reveals the struggle of black actors like Sidney Poitier leading the way in liberal racial casting as cops and judges, fishermen and wounded veterans yet marginalized behind the scenes within the racial ferment of cultural politics. More than a narrative history, Making Movies Black reaches beyond the screen itself with sixty photographs, most never before published, which visually illustrate the mood of the time. Revealing the reflective power of American popular film, Making Movies Black is the perfect book for those interested in the changing attitudes toward race in post-World War II society.

The Hollywood Sequel Stuart Henderson, 2017-11-07 This illuminating study charts the changing role of the Hollywood film sequel over the past century. Considering a range of sequels in their industrial, historical, and aesthetic contexts from The Son of a Sheik (1926) to Toy Story 3 (2010), this book provides a comprehensive history of this critically neglected yet commercially dominant art form.
