

Reflections Towards the Future of Medical Informatics

A Farewell Lecture after Almost Half a Century of Medical Informatics Activities

Reinhold Haux

Peter L. Reichertz Institute for Medical Informatics of TU Braunschweig and Hannover Medical School, Germany

Summary

Objective: To provide guidance on the future development and role of medical informatics, or biomedical and health informatics, in form of reflections.

Method: To report on the author's previous activities as a medical informatician, which spans almost half a century. It begins in 1973 when he started to study medical informatics. In 1978, more than four decades ago, his professional work started. He retired at the end of summer semester 2021. This was the occasion to prepare this farewell lecture.

Results: In twenty reflections, thoughts are presented on professional careers (R1 – 'places'), on medical informatics as discipline (R2 – 'interdisciplinarity', R3 – 'theses', R4 – 'affiliations'), on research (R5 – 'duality', R6 – 'confusion', R7 – 'connections', R8 – 'collaboration'), on education (R9 – 'community', R10 – 'competencies', R11 – 'approaches'), on academic self-governance (R12 – 'autonomy'), on engagement (R13 – 'Soyuzhes', R14 – 'professional societies', R15 – 'respect', R16 – 'lightstep walk'), and on good scientific practice (R17 – 'time invariants', R18 – 'Zeitgeist', R19 – 'knowledge gain', R20 – 'searching').

Conclusions: It has been a pleasure for me to participate in medical informatics activities for almost fifty years. During that time, there have been significant advances, including in medicine and in informatics, and also in medical informatics itself. And now it is the turn of others. While keeping in mind that tradition is not preserving the ashes, but passing on the fire, this report with its reflections may be of some help.

1 Introduction

1.1 About this Manuscript

When the regular term of a professor ends, and the new professional life phase as a professor emeritus is about to begin, it is a tradition at German universities to give a so-called farewell lecture (in German: Abschiedsvorlesung). My farewell lecture was first presented on September 22, 2021, at TU Braunschweig in German [1]. In addition, I had the opportunity to give this lecture also in English on October 16, 2021, in Athens, Greece, during ICIMTH (International Conference on Informatics, Management, and Technology in Healthcare) 2021. This manuscript is an updated edited written version of the farewell lecture in English.

This English version started from the German version in [1], which I first translated and to some extent modified, supported by the DeepL program [2]. Then, Casimir Kulikowski kindly read the first version and suggested edits to my German-biased English, which developed into the present manuscript.

Please note that the German manuscript is more extensive, especially with the inclusion of a commented poem and nine appendices. Some details related to these appendices in [1] will occasionally be referred to here. As the German manuscript has been published in GMS MIBE, the official journal of the German Association of Medical Informatics, Biometry and Epidemiology (GMDS) – an Open Access journal – the German manuscript and its appendices can be easily accessed.

1.2 Objective(s) and Method

One objective of this farewell lecture is to reflect on future developments and on the role of medical informatics as a discipline. The manuscript contains twenty reflections, related primarily, but not exclusively, to medical informatics. These reflections may be of primary interest to readers.

In order to set the context for as well as to explain and elaborate on these reflections, it seemed necessary first to report about my work as a medical informatician. This part of the report might be of less interest to readers. Reporting about my work was both, method and another objective.

Please note that in this farewell lecture I will once again use the term medical informatics in its wide, comprehensive sense ([3], p. 256, and section 2.2 in this manuscript). Others may prefer to call this discipline biomedical informatics, or health informatics, or biomedical and health informatics or yet something else [4, 5–8].

My reflections on the future are presented after almost half a century of medical informatics activities, which I began studying almost fifty years ago in 1973. In 1978, more than four decades ago, my professional career started.

Do I really report on my activities? Actually, this is not possible, because I have always collaborated with others. Many people I have met during these almost five decades have shaped me. I have learned from them and I am still learning today. If I mention achievements here, then these people have helped to achieve them.

time for readers Becoming widely available in the eighteenth century when working hours increased and lighter and quicker forms of reading newspapers magazines broadsheets surged in popularity the material form of the codex book invited readers to situate themselves creatively in time Drawing on letters diaries reading logs and a range of eighteenth and early nineteenth century novels Christina Lupton s Reading and the Making of Time in the Eighteenth Century concretely describes how book readers of the past carved up expanded and anticipated time Placing canonical works by Elizabeth Inchbald Henry Fielding Amelia Opie and Samuel Richardson alongside those of lesser known authors and readers Lupton approaches books as objects that are good at attracting particular forms of attention and paths of return In contrast to the digital interfaces of our own moment and the ephemeral newspapers and pamphlets read in the 1700s books are rarely seen as shaping or keeping modern time However as Lupton demonstrates books are often put down and picked up they are leafed through as well as read sequentially and they are handed on as objects designed to bridge temporal distances In showing how discourse itself engages with these material practices Lupton argues that reading is something to be studied textually as well as historically Applying modern theorists such as Niklas Luhmann Bruno Latour and Bernard Stiegler Lupton offers a rare phenomenological approach to the study of a concrete historical field This compelling book stands out for the combination of archival research smart theoretical inquiry and autobiographical reflection it brings into play Radiance and Reflection Jane Hayward, Walter Cahn, Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), 1982 Religious Thought in England in the Nineteenth Century John Hunt, 1896 Summarizes the works and views of theologians and intellectual leaders with brief biographies p 363 396 and discusses the content and significance of important series and lectureships

The Flaneur in Nineteenth-Century British Literary Culture Isabel Vila-Cabanes, 2018-10-15 The flaneur is a cultural and literary phenomenon usually associated with nineteenth century Paris but the type also exists in the artistic and literary panorama of other major European capitals such as London Berlin and Moscow Despite massive recent interest in the figure of the flaneur in scholarly studies analyses about the nineteenth century British analogue are often fragmentary appearing in the form of isolated articles However there is an abundant amount of nineteenth century novels sketches and journalistic essays which offer remarkable and hitherto overlooked accounts of the British metropolis and which frequently include the figure of the flaneur as a central character or the topic of flanerier as a theme This book explores a great array of texts making an essential contribution to our knowledge and understanding of the prehistory or rather history of the British flaneur from the early eighteenth century to the early twentieth century with a special focus on the nineteenth century The flaneur is looked at as a figure in which the development and dynamics of the modern metropolis and its impact on the literary discourse are manifested from a formal as well as thematic perspective

Science and Sound in Nineteenth-Century Britain Edward J. Gillin, 2023-12-22 Sound and Science in Nineteenth Century Britain is a four volume set of primary sources which seeks to define our historical understanding of the relationship between British scientific knowledge and sound between 1815 and

1900 In the context of rapid urbanization and industrialization as well as a growing overseas empire Britain was home to a rich scientific culture in which the ear was as valuable an organ as the eye for examining nature Experiments on how sound behaved informed new understandings of how a diverse array of natural phenomena operated notably those of heat light and electro magnetism In nineteenth century Britain sound was not just a phenomenon to be studied but central to the practice of science itself and broader understandings over nature and the universe This collection accompanied by extensive editorial commentary will be of great interest to students and scholars of the History of Science
