Disability & International Development

Malcolm MacLachlan, Leslie Swartz, 2009-07-21 One of the greatest challenges facing modern global health is how to include the most marginalized and impoverished people in international efforts to promote social and economic development In Disability and International Development disability rights are situated within the broader context of global health and the need for much greater inter sector collaboration Reports from a broad cross section of low and middle income countries locales as diverse as Zimbabwe Bolivia Kyrgyzstan and Papua New Guinea move beyond surface discussions of what is working and what shows promise to discuss political and governance contexts the roles of disabled persons in research by outsiders concurrent struggles e g women s or children s rights and instructive inroads made by community activists and national Disabled People s Organizations The results are provocative and offer new lenses for viewing both the issues and the populations they affect Each of the book s chapters spotlights a topic as representative of the enormity and immediacy of challenges to inclusive global health including The impact of international human rights law on domestic law and local traditions The effect of failed states on the lives of people with disabilities Empowerment and advocacy disability organizations and movements HIV AIDS interventions with disabled persons Assistive technologies in low income countries Strategies for improving the lives of children with disabilities Cross disciplinary as well as cross cultural Disability and International Development will attract a wide audience of professionals in rehabilitation social welfare and human rights governmental and non governmental organizations and disabled people s organizations researchers and practitioners It will also be relevant to those working in health and welfare administration health policy international aid and development and human rights In addition graduate students in disability studies public and global health and international development should find this an important guide to the future of these fields

How I Lost My Mother Leslie Swartz, 2021-03

How I Lost My Mother is a deeply felt account of the relationship between a mother and son and an exploration of what care for the dying means in contemporary society The book is emotionally complex funny sad and angry but above all heartfelt and honest It speaks boldly of challenges faced by all of us challenges which are often not spoken about and hidden but which deserve urgent attention This is first and foremost a work of the heart a reflection on what relationships mean and should mean There is much in the book about relationships of care and exploitation in southern Africa and about white Jewish identity in an African context But despite the specific and absorbing references to places and contexts the book offers a broader more universal view All parents of adult children and all adults who have parents alive or have lost their parents will find much in this book to make them laugh cry think and feel      Women, Motherhood and Living with HIV/AIDS Pranee

Liamputtong, 2013-03-12 There are about 34 million people worldwide living with HIV AIDS Half are women There has been a dramatic global increase in the rates of women living with HIV AIDS Among young women especially in developing countries infection rates are rapidly increasing Many of these women are also mothers with young infants When a woman is labeled as having HIV she is treated with suspicion and her morality is being questioned Previous research has suggested that women living with HIV AIDS can be affected by delay in diagnosis inferior access to health care services internalized stigma and a poor utilization of health services This makes it extremely difficult for women to take care of their own health needs Women are also reluctant to disclose their HIV positive status as they fear this may result in physical feelings of shame social ostracism violence or expulsion from home Women living with HIV AIDS who are also mothers carry a particularly heavy burden of being HIV infected This unique book attempts to put together results from empirical research and focuses on issues relevant to women motherhood and living with HIV AIDS which have occurred to individual women in different parts of the globe The book comprises chapters written by researchers who carry out their projects in different parts of the world and each chapter contains empirical information based on real life situations This can be used as evidence for health care providers to implement socially and culturally appropriate services to assist individuals and groups who are living with HIV AIDS in many societies The book is of interest to scholars and students in the domains of anthropology sociology social work nursing public health medicine and health professionals who have a specific interest in issues concerning women who are mothers and living with HIV AIDS from cross cultural perspective      Psychology in Society , 2005      Sustainable

Stellenbosch Mark Swilling, Ben Sebitosi, Ruenda Loots, 2012-11-01 Stellenbosch faces the same challenges that most South African urban areas face rapid urbanisation sluggish economic growth growing inequalities unsustainable use of natural resources deteriorating biodiversity social problems unhealthy living insecure supplies of healthy food degrading soils infrastructure backlogs and inadequate urban planning At the same time Stellenbosch has tremendous potential It brings together in one beautiful place extra ordinary intellectual capacity social diversity financial resources creative potential high value eco systems spiritual energy and some of South Africa s most vibrant grassroots social movements in its poorest areas The brief given to the writers was to examine the current challenges and discuss what needs to change in the way we think about these challenges to ensure more positive and sustainable long term outcomes This is therefore a contribution that aims to further open up and widen recent dialogues about the future that Stellenbosch deserves Back cover
