Reforming Higher Education and External Studies in Sweden and Australia Urban Dahllöf, 1977 Higher Education and Lifelong Learning Hans Schuetze, Maria Slowey, 2013-01-11 Responding to the emerging needs of lifelong learners arguably represents one of the most fundamental challenges facing higher education systems of the countries of the developing world At the start of the new century the concept of Lifelong Learning may indeed be counted as one of the the key organising concepts underlying public policy in many countries The interpretation of the concept however remains highly contested This timely book throws new light on the dramatic changes taking place in higher education through an exploration of the participation of non traditional students in ten countries Among others the following areas are explored the complex reality behind the statistics on participation in higher education in five European countries Austria Germany Ireland Sweden and the United Kingdom North America Japan Australia and New Zealand contrasting perceptions of lifelong learning changing patterns of participation by adults in higher education national and institutional policies and innovations to accommodate non traditional students and new forms of study conclusions for policy practice and research Higher Education for Lifelong Learners will be of interest to academics researchers and students involved with higher education lifelong learning and comparative education as well as policy makers educational managers and administrators The contributions reveal a remarkable transformation in the student body and in the way learners pursue their studies highlighting the international impact of increasing marketisation and differentiation on the nature of the higher education accessible to potential lifelong learners Higher Education Across the Circumpolar North D. Nord, G. Weller, 2002-05-17 This is the first book to analyze the role of the new circumpolar universities in northern development Since 1960 over twenty new universities have been built in the northern regions of Canada Russia the United States the Nordic countries and Japan This book analyzes and compares the reasons for their establishment the impact they have had in providing greater access to advanced education and the effect they have had on economic social cultural and political development of these various northern regions The School and the University Burton R. Neave,Sally Jenkinson,1983 Higher Education in International Perspective Philip G. Altbach,David H. Kelly,Jan Kluczyński,1985 Adult Participation in Swedish Higher Education Kenneth Abrahamsson,1986 Swedish Behavioral Science Research Reports Statens psykologisk-pedagogiska bibliotek,1977 Expanding Colleges and New Universities Urban Dahllöf,Staffan Selander,1996 This book is a follow up of an earlier collection of conference papers under the title New Universities and Regional Context edited by the same team 1994 This time the focus is on a selection of case studies from four countries that share a lot of contextual conditions basic for the operation of higher education In three of these Norway Sweden and Scotland several non metropolitan medium sized colleges find themselves in an expansion phase and are also building up research facilities especially in niche areas of both regional importance and international significance Nine such cases are presented one from Scotland four from Norway and four from Sweden The comparisons also include three cases from Australia where a recent reform of the national resource allocation scheme has led to a series of amalgamations of the former Colleges of Advanced Education into the university system One such merger has already been broken up into two new structures while the two other examples represent two different kinds of networks between campuses The case reports and the summary chapters emphasize the importance of both external demographic conditions and industrial relations as well as firm and consistent management strategies Abstract Neo-liberal Educational Reforms David Turner,Hüseyin Yolcu,2013-12-17 This volume gathers a cast of eminent scholars for a critical and comparative analysis of how neoliberal education policies have functioned in a range of countries in different stages of economic development Treating case studies from Europe Asia the Americas and the Middle East the volume shows how globalization operates differently in different societal contexts
