Overview of Middle Eastern Religions including Islam Christianity Judaism Hinduism and Druze The Making of the Medieval Middle East Jack Tannous, 2018-12-04 A bold new religious history of the late antique and medieval Middle East that places ordinary Christians at the center of the story In the second half of the first millennium CE the Christian Middle East fractured irreparably into competing churches and Arabs conquered the region setting in motion a process that would lead to its eventual conversion to Islam Jack Tannous argues that key to understanding these dramatic religious transformations are ordinary religious believers often called the simple in late antique and medieval sources Largely agrarian and illiterate these Christians outnumbered Muslims well into the era of the Crusades and yet they have typically been invisible in our understanding of the Middle East's history. What did it mean for Christian communities to break apart over theological disagreements that most people could not understand? How does our view of the rise of Islam change if we take seriously the fact that Muslims remained a demographic minority for much of the Middle Ages? In addressing these and other questions, Tannous provides a sweeping reinterpretation of the religious history of the medieval Middle East. This provocative book draws on a wealth of Greek, Syriac, and Arabic sources to recast these conquered lands as largely Christian ones whose growing Muslim populations are properly understood as converting away from and in competition with the non-Muslim communities around them.

Religion in the Middle East Arthur John Arberry, 1969. It is generally accepted that the Middle East witnessed the ancient rise of monotheism and its dissemination. The three faiths predominantly concerned—Judaism, Christianity, and Islam—have retained their separateness and have been in different degrees torn asunder by schisms, but less well known has been the degree of co-operation between the three faiths and their multifarious sects throughout history. First published in 1969, Religion in the Middle East aims to give a factual account of these three religions and their sects in concord and conflict from an historical perspective. The focus was on the significance of Islam, considered to be the dominant religion of the Middle East since the seventh century. Experts from many parts of the world contributed individual chapters, and the whole work was co-ordinated by a team of leading scholars, making it an erudite study that will be of interest to anyone interested in the historical impact of Islam in the Middle East.

Religion And Politics In The Middle East Michael Curtis, 1981-11-16. Examines the reemergence of Islam as a stimulus to political events in the Middle East.

Religion and Societies Carlo Caldarola, 2011-06-01. The series Religion and Society RS contributes to the exploration of religions as social systems both in Western and non-Western societies; in particular, it examines religions in their differentiation from and intersection with other cultural systems such as art, economy, law, and politics. Due attention is given to paradigmatic case or comparative studies that exhibit a clear theoretical orientation with the empirical and historical data of religion and such aspects of religion as ritual, the religious imagination, constructions of tradition, iconography, or media. In addition, the formation of religious communities, their construction of identity, and their relation to society and the wider public are key issues of this series.

Islam , Religion and International Relations in the Middle East Sotiris Roussos, 2020-12-10. The volume has a twofold purpose: first, to question main presuppositions and perceptions regarding religion and international politics in the Middle East; and second, to reflect on the role(s) of religion in the regional order. The first part deals with the contribution of religion to a post-Western turn in International Relations in the Middle East and beyond. It discusses the postsecular conceptual framework in order to expand their approaches to the analysis of the Middle East and addresses the search for religion's suitable place within International Relations, taking as a starting point the social changes in the world and the postulated Mesopotamian turn in International Relations. The second part focuses on the role of state-like non-state actors. ISIS challenged the international order because, contrary to revolutionary states in the past, it negates the foundations of the Westphalian system At the same time the rise of ISIS had a tremendous impact on the jihadi sub system The third part studies the impact of religion on foreign and security policy Israel UAE UK and Saudi Arabia It explores how religion has been shaping each stage of the decision making process the position that religion holds in perceptions of stability in the post 2011 era and the politics of moderate Islam arguing that even though moderate Islam has been devised for creating soft power it serves sharp power as well Faith and Power Bernard Lewis,2010-05-05 Short collection of previously unpublished in English works by the doyen of Middle Eastern history Embracing the Divine Akram Fouad Khater,2011-11-28 Hindiyya al Ujaimi a young eighteenth century nun whose faith was matched by her ambition and intellect lies at the heart of this absorbing history of Middle Eastern Christianity At the age of twenty six Hindiyya left her hometown of Aleppo to establish a convent in the mountains of Lebanon Her order and her growing public profile as a visionary and living saint met with stiff opposition from Latin missionaries and with mistrust from the Vatican Church authorities were suspicious of feminine spirituality and independent religious authority eventually subjecting her to two Inquisitions by the Vatican Sentenced to spend her entire life imprisoned Hindiyya died in 1798 in her cell leaving a legacy that shaped the church for many years to come Compelling in its cinematic scope resplendent with the requisite villains and mysterious events infused with sinister and sexual tensions tragedy and pathos Hindiyya s story holds within its folds a larger tale about the construction of a new Christianity in the Levant Khater skillfully reveals what her story tells us about religious minorities in the Middle East early modern cultural encounters between the West and the Middle East and the relationship between gender modernity and religion Islam, Judaism, and the Political Role of Religions in the Middle East John Bunzl,2004 From the foreword The clash of civilizations thesis is a gimmick like The War of the Worlds better for reinforcing defensive self pride than for critical understanding of the bewildering interdependence of our time This book in focusing on the self and the other in Jewish and Muslim thought is an attempt in this direction Although the politicization of religion or sacrilization of politics is not restricted to the Middle East this phenomenon found its most spectacular expressions in the region These essays examine in an original and innovative manner the complex relation between political and national identity and the three major religions of the contemporary Middle East Islam Christianity and Judaism Although the focus is on Palestinian Israeli relations the study is relevant to the entire history of the modern Middle East Discussions of the Palestinian Israeli arena include the conflictive relations between the two national communities and the political role played by religion in shaping the conflict the escalation of the conflict and possible avenues for reaching a peace agreement The contributors an international group of scholars from Israel Palestine Europe and the United States explore common theological and political ground shared by Jews and Muslims a novel comparative approach that could lead to future dialogue along theological as well as political lines Contents Foreword Adrift in Similarity by Edward Said Introduction by John Bunzl Part I On Islam and Judaism Muslims and Jews 1 A Religion s Self Conception of Religion The Case of Judaism and Islam by
