Religion, Theology, and the Human Sciences Richard H. Roberts, 2010 Religion, Theology and the Human Sciences Richard H. Roberts, 2002 Religion Theology and the Human Sciences explores the religious consequences of the so called end of history and triumph of capitalism as they have impinged upon key institutions of social reproduction in recent times The book explores the imposition of managerial modernity upon successive sectors of society and shows why many people today feel themselves to be oppressed by systems of management that seem to leave them no option but to conform Richard Roberts seeks to challenge and outflank such seamless oppressive modernity through reconfiguration of the religious and spiritual field

The Shi'a of Samarra Imranali Panjwani, 2012-01-30 The assault on Samarra which was built in the period of the Abbasid caliphate in the ninth century CE therefore came to represent for many a symbol of the destructive civil conflict which engulfed Iraq following the 2003 US led invasion The Shi'a of Samarra explores and analyses the cultural architectural and political heritage of the Shi'a in both Samarra and the Middle East thus highlighting how this city functions as a microcosm for the contentious issues and debates which remain at the forefront of efforts to rebuild the modern Iraqi state Its examination of the socio political context of the Shi'a Sunni divide provides important insights for students and researchers working on the history and politics of Iraq and the Middle East as well as those interested in the art and architecture of the Islamic world

Being the Body of Christ in the Age of Management The Rev'd Lyndon Shakespeare,2016-08-26 The church needs effective leaders We must be more missional Better organization is required Such sentiments are commonplace among Christians concerned with the health and sustainability of their local church as well as the church universal Over the past thirty years the desire for more efficiently run effectively led and organizationally sound churches has contributed to an approach to thinking about the church in terms uncritically assumed from the business and management sector This has given rise to treating the church as if it were just another social body in need of better organization The question is what happens when we apply the logic of management techniques to an organization that identifies as the body of Christ Drawing on organizational theory theological anthropology and sacramental theology this book navigates a path for Christians that avoids reducing the church to just another organization while providing a vision for the church as the social body where all are invited to connect and be made members of Christ and each other Such a vision provides an alternative to the social categorization that would define the church by its organizational character rather than its eschatological destiny The Child in American Evangelicalism and the Problem of Affluence David A. Sims,2009-06-01 This work presents an evangelical theology of the child nurtured in the context of American evangelicalism and affluence It employs an eclectic theological critical method to produce a theological anthropology of the affluent American evangelical child AAEC through interdisciplinary evangelical engagement of American history sociology and economics Sims articulates how affluence constitutes a significant impediment to evangelical nurture of the AAEC in the discipline and instruction of the Lord Thus the problem he addresses is nurture in evangelical affluence conceived as a theological anthropological problem Nurture in the cultural matrices of the evangelical affluence generated by technological consumer capitalism in the U S impedes spiritual and moral formation of the AAEC for discipleship in the way of the cross This impediment risks disciplinary formation of the AAEC for capitalist culture cultivates delusional belief that life consists in an abundance of possessions and hinders the practice of evangelical liberation of the poor on humanity's underside. The result is the AAEC's spiritual moral lack in late modernity. Chapter 1 introduces the problem of the AAEC. Chapters 2 and 3 provide a diachronic lens for the theological anthropology of the AAEC through critical assessment of the theological anthropologies of the child in Jonathan Edwards, Horace Bushnell, and Lawrence Richards. Chapters 4 and 5 constitute the synchronic perspective of the AAEC. Chapter 4 presents an evangelical sociology of the AAEC drawing upon William Corsaro's theory of interpretive reproductions, and chapter 5 constructs an evangelical theology of the AAEC through critical interaction with John Schneider's moral theology of affluence. Chapter 6, 'Whither the AAEC', concludes with a recapitulation of the work and a forecast of possible futures for the AAEC in the twenty-first century. The American Church Monthly, 1921

Religion, Climate Change, and Food Security in Africa Loreen Maseno, David Andrew Omona, Ezra Chitando, Sophia Chirongoma, 2024-03-29. This book addresses the relationship between religion, climate change, and food security in Africa. Contributors to this volume interrogate how and to what extent religion in Africa serves as a resource or confounding factor in responding to Sustainable Development Goals 13 (action on climate change) and 2 (achieve Zero Hunger, achieve food security and improved nutrition and promote sustainable agriculture). Approaching the theme from diverse disciplinary and methodological angles, contributors probe the potential role of religion in Africa to accelerate the achievement of these two SDGs, especially the role of religion with regard to food availability, food accessibility, food utilization, and food systems stability.

The Oxford Handbook of Nineteenth-century Christian Thought Joel D. S. Rasmussen, Judith E. Wolfe, Johannes Zachhuber, 2017. This Handbook considers Christian thought in the long nineteenth century from the French Revolution to the First World War, encompassing not only doctrine and theology but also Christianity's mutual influence on literature and the arts, political and economic thought, and the natural and social sciences.

Entering the New Theological Space John Reader, 2016-05-06. This book presents theological reflections on the changing nature of church mission and Christian identity within a theology of blurred encounter: a physical, social, political, and spiritual space where once solid hierarchies and patterns are giving way to more fluid and in many ways unsettling exchanges. The issues raised and dynamics explored apply to all socially produced space, thus tending to blur that most fundamental of theological categories: namely, urban vs. rural theology. Engaging in a sharper way with some of the helpful but inevitably broad-brush conclusions raised by recent church-based reports, Mission Shaped Church Faithful Cities, the authors examine some of the practical and theological implications of this research for the issue of effective management and therefore church leadership generally. Speaking to practitioners in the field of practical theology as well as those engaged in theological and ministerial training, key voices encompass dimensions of power and conflict and identify some of the present and future opportunities and challenges to church faith-based engagement and leadership arising from blurred encounters. Contributors, practitioners and theorists, cover a wide spectrum of interdisciplinary professional contexts and academic denominational interests. Contributors include John Atherton, John Reader, Helen

Wildman, 2012-07-19 This trio of volumes contains essays that explore vital existential moral or metaphysical issues surrounding the relationship between the sciences and the world's religions In Science and the World's Religions experts with scientific and religious backgrounds explore vital existential or practical issues drawing on whatever sciences are relevant and engaging at least two religious traditions The multidisciplinary essays exhibit rigorous intellectual scholarly thinking but are written to clearly communicate to educated adult lay readers The first volume addresses questions about the origins and purpose of the cosmos and the human project The second volume investigates the roles of religion and spirituality in human existence considering issues ranging from the brain and religious experience to the human life cycle The third volume tackles controversies in which both religion and science are stakeholders showing how both can deepen understanding and enrich human experience Together these three books present readers with powerful tools that enable them to think through the challenge of integrating science with their religious beliefs and spiritual practices Pragmatic Realism, Religious Truth, and Antitheodicy Sami Pihlström, 2020-02-03 As a traditional theological issue and in its broader secular varieties theodicy remains a problem in the philosophy of religion In this remarkable book Sami Pihlström provides a novel critical reassessment of the theodicy discourse addressing the problem of evil and suffering He develops and defends an antitheodicy view arguing that theodicies seeking to render apparently meaningless suffering meaningful or justified from a God's Eye View ultimately rely on metaphysical realism failing to recognize the individual perspective of the sufferer Pihlström thus shows that a pragmatist approach to the realism issue in the philosophy of religion is a vital starting point for a re-evaluation of the problem of theodicy With its strong positions and precise arguments the volume provides a new approach which is likely to stimulate discussion in the wider academic world of philosophy of religion
