

CONFUCIANISM

The four Religious Traditions of China

Chinese culture is marked by four main religious traditions: 1. The traditional folk religion 2. Taoism 3. Confucianism (had state patronage) 4. Buddhism

The “San-jiao heyi” concept The Chinese emphasis on harmony was also extended to “the unity of the three faiths” “San-jiao heyi” is still widely used to refer to Confucianism, Taoism and Buddhism.

More popular teachers such as Jiao Hong (1540-1620) taught that all three religions constitute in fact “a single teaching,” and all three should be believed because each merely uses separate language to articulate its truth.

Liu Mi (Active 1324):

“Although the Three Teaching are different,
in the arguments they put forward, they are One.”

Emperor Xiaozong (1163-1189):

Redefining Heresy and Tolerance Hung Tak Wai examines how the Qing empire governed Muslims and Christians under its rule with a non interventionist policy Manchu emperors adopted a tolerant attitude towards Islam and Christianity as long as political stability and loyalty remained unthreatened However Hung argues that such tolerance had its limitations Since the mid eighteenth century the Qing court intentionally minimised the importance of the Islamic identity Restrictions were imposed on the Muslims external connections with Western Asia The Christian minority was kept distant from politics and the Han majority At the same time Confucian scholars began to acquire a new understanding of religion but they were not encouraged to get in touch with the Muslims and Christians This book demonstrates how from the late eighteenth to the early nineteenth century the Qing government prevented Confucian scholar bureaucrats from interfering in the religious life of Christians and Muslims and how the Confucians understanding of religion was reshaped during the implementation of such policy in the period This book reveals that a different kind of religious tolerance had already emerged among Sinophone intellectuals before their contact with the West This book goes beyond the assumption of a homogeneous Han society and pays attention to the religious groups that emerged after the seventeenth century which differed from or even contradicted Confucianism and other Chinese religions and it is concerned with how such alien communities influenced the development of Confucianism itself Wang Fan sen Academia Sinica This book significantly enriches our comprehension of how early modern Confucians as adherents of a state public religion engaged with Abrahamic religions By delving into the dynamics of interreligious interaction Redefining Heresy and Tolerance sheds new light on the encounters between Confucianism and the Abrahamic faiths offering fresh insights into the complex religious landscape of Asian culture Huang Chin shing Academia Sinica

All Under Heaven John H. Berthrong, 1994-01-01 This book is a study of comparative philosophy and theology The themes are the critical issues arising from the modern interpretation of Confucian doctrine as they confront the Christian beliefs of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries

Natural Theology Reconfigured Zhiqiu Xu, 2016-03-22 Classic natural theology in its logical rational Aristotelian presentation has encountered an impasse Since the Enlightenment nature has ceased to be a vital topic in theological discussions until a recent revival of interest stemming from ecological and feminist concerns Provocatively transcending boundaries between Philosophy and Theology ancient and contemporary East and West Natural Theology Reconfigured revitalises the validity and relevancy of Natural Theology a shipwrecked concept in the West with the aid of Eastern Confucian Axiology and American Pragmatism

Female Philosophers in Contemporary Taiwan and the Problem of Women in Chinese Thought Jana S. Rošker, 2021-09-20 This book illuminates the problem of women in Chinese philosophy through the lens of the lives and work of two contemporary Taiwanese female philosophers It takes two approaches that have been relegated quite unfairly to the margins of dominant discourses The first is concerned with the work of women philosophical theorists who are still overshadowed by their male colleagues regardless of where they live their theoretical potential and the value of their research The second approach is related to the question of the role of Taiwanese philosophy in maintaining the continuity of the Chinese intellectual tradition in the second half of the twentieth century The book thus connects these two issues and provides a bridge linking them Although discrimination against female philosophical theorists on the one hand and the failure to recognize the important contribution of Taiwanese philosophy to the development of modern Chinese philosophy on the other seem at first glance to have little in common both harbor a problem that has its roots in discourses of exclusion emanating from the political historical and social inequalities associated with power structures
