Remaking Of Television New Zealand 1984-1992:

The Remaking of Television New Zealand 1984-1992 Barry Spicer, Michael Powell, David Emanuel, 2013-11-01 The Remaking of Television New Zealand outlines and analyses the radical changes made to television broadcasting in New Zealand during the period 1984-1992. It looks closely at how TVNZ, a division of the Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand, was transformed into a successful commercial company under the State-Owned Enterprises Act 1986. Based on remarkable inside access, this book is an important and valuable study of the transformation of a staid public television broadcaster into a market-oriented business.

Rugby League in New Zealand Ryan Bodman, 2023-09-29 This is the story of a sport told through its communities. Rugby League in New Zealand: A People's History unveils the compelling journey of a game flourishing against the odds. Beginning with the game's introduction to the country in 1907, Ryan Bodman reveals the deep-rooted connections between rugby league's development and the evolving cultural fabric of New Zealand. By questioning the mythic status of rugby union in the nation's identity, this history highlights how power, politics, and people have collectively shaped the country's sporting scene. Drawing on first-hand interviews and a wide range of illustrations and archival material, Bodman locates rugby league history in working-class suburbs and among Kīngitanga Māori Pasifika migrants and clubs and communities across the country. The people behind the game share accounts of change, triumph, and resilience while emphasising rugby league's lasting influence on New Zealanders' lives.

Sport, Culture and Advertising Steven J. Jackson, David L. Andrews, 2004-11-10 Sport has a close relationship with advertising: both where advertisers sponsor sports as well as where sport and fitness lends its perceived positive imagery to a wide range of consumer goods. Sport, Culture, Advertising explores the themes of

The Advertising Age Encyclopedia of Advertising John McDonough, Karen Egolf, 2015-06-18 For a full list of entries and contributors, a generous selection of sample entries, and more, visit the The Advertising Age Encyclopedia of Advertising website. Featuring nearly 600 extensively illustrated entries, The Advertising Age Encyclopedia of Advertising provides detailed historic surveys of the world's leading agencies and major advertisers, as well as brand and market histories. It also profiles the influential men and women in advertising, overviews advertising in the major countries of the world, covers important issues affecting the field, and discusses the key aspects of methodology, practice, strategy, and theory. Also includes a color insert.

Tending the Flame of Democracy Geoffrey Whitehead, 2004 Geoffrey Whitehead believes that the West has been selling itself short in terms of world opinion because of market failures in the communications industry over recent decades. He argues that more must be done to nurture democracy at home if the case for democracy is to be advocated successfully as a workable model to others. This book therefore looks ahead to the needs of people as citizens, not just as consumers, between now and 2025 and says that national governments need to re-visit their policies urgently in the wake of the 11 September 2001 terrorist attacks on the US. Geoffrey Whitehead has worked internationally in communications both as a print, radio, and television journalist, including time as Reuters Whitehall.
