Remembering Korea 1950 A Boy Soldiers Story:

Remembering Korea 1950 H. K. Shin, 2001-04-01 Hyung K Shin was sixteen years old when the North Korean army invaded South Korea in June 1950 Fleeing his home Shin soon found himself alone in Pusan a refugee without resources or any means of support To save himself from destitution he lied about his age and volunteered for service in the South Korean army Shin s account of the months that followed is a moving record of the Korean War from the perspective of an ordinary ROK soldier He recounts his hasty training and subsequent experiences as a battlefield soldier in North Korea as a guard in a prisoner of war camp and as a refugee again in the massive flight of civilians and ROK military personnel retreating before the onslaught of the Chinese invasion Through it all Shin struggles to retain his humanity and pursue his education In the process the naive schoolboy becomes a man Today Hyung K Shin is an internationally respected chemist but in the pages of this memoir he carries us back to Korea during a pivotal moment in that country s history This is the first account in English that describes the war from the perspective of a Korean who lived through and fought in it Shin s detailed and lively narrative is a stirring monument to the survival of human decency and kindness in the midst of terror cruelty despair and the destruction of a proud nation

The Warrior Image Andrew J. Huebner, 2011-12-01 Images of war saturated American culture between the 1940s and the 1970s as U S troops marched off to battle in World War II the Korean War and the Vietnam War Exploring representations of servicemen in the popular press government propaganda museum exhibits literature film and television Andrew Huebner traces the evolution of a storied American icon the combat soldier Huebner challenges the pervasive assumption that Vietnam brought drastic changes in portrayals of the American warrior with the jaded serviceman of the 1960s and 1970s shown in stark contrast to the patriotic citizen soldier of World War II In fact Huebner shows cracks began to appear in sentimental images of the military late in World War II and were particularly apparent during the Korean conflict Journalists filmmakers novelists and poets increasingly portrayed the steep costs of combat depicting soldiers who were harmed rather than hardened by war isolated from rather than supported by their military leadership and American society Across all three wars Huebner argues the warrior image conveyed a growing cynicism about armed conflict the federal government and Cold War militarization historian Jie Hyun Lim raised under an anticommunist dictatorship turned to Marxian thought to explain his country's development even as he came to struggle with its Eurocentrism. As a transnational scholar working in postcommunist Poland, Lim recognized striking similarities between Korean and Polish history and politics. One realization stood out: Both Korea and Poland at once the West for Asia yet Eastern Europe had been assigned the role of East. This book explores entangled Easts to reconsider global history from the margins. Examining the politics of history and memory, Lim reveals the affinities linking Eastern Europe and East Asia. He draws out commonalities in their experiences of modernity in their transitions from dictatorship to democracy and in the shaping of collective memory. Ranging across Poland, Germany, Israel, Japan, and Korea, Lim traces the global history of how notions of victimhood have become central to nationalism. He criticizes mass dictatorships of right and left in the Global Easts, considering Nazi jurist Carl Schmitt's notion of sovereign dictatorship and the concept of decisionist democracy. Lim argues that nationalism is inherently transnational, critiquing how the nationalist imagination of the Global East has influenced countries across borders. Theoretically sophisticated and conceptually innovative, this book sheds new light on the transnational complexity of historical memory and imagination, the boundaries between democracy and mass dictatorship, and the fluidity of East and West.
