We Are All Migrants Jan Plamper, 2023-03-23 In 2015 Germany agreed to accept a million Syrian refugees. The country had become an epicenter of global migration and one of Europe's most diverse countries. But was this influx of migration new to Germany? In this highly readable volume Jan Plamper charts the groups and waves of post 1945 mobility to Germany. We Are All Migrants is the first narrative history of multicultural Germany told through life stories. It explores the experiences of the 12.5 million German expellees from Eastern Europe who arrived at the end of the Second World War, the 14 million guest workers from Italy and Turkey who turned West Germany into an economic powerhouse, the GDR's Vietnamese labor migrants and the 2.3 million Germans and 230,000 Jews who came from the Soviet Union after 1987. Without minimizing racism, We Are All Migrants shows that immigration is a success story and that Germany has been and is one of the most fascinating laboratories on our planet in which multiple ways of belonging and ethnic, national and supranational identities are hotly debated and messily lived.

European Cinema in the Twenty-First Century Ingrid Lewis, Laura Canning, 2020-05-23 This book rethinks the study of European Cinema in a way that centres on students and their needs. In a comprehensive volume introducing undergraduates to the main discourses, directions and genres of twenty-first century European film, Importantly this collection is the first of its kind to apply a transversal approach to European Cinema, bringing together the East and the West while providing a broad picture of key trends, aesthetics, genres, national identities and transnational concerns. Lewis and Canning's collection effectively addresses some of the most pressing questions in contemporary European film, such as ecology, migration, industry, identity, disability, memory, auteurship, genre, small cinemas and the national and international frameworks which underpin them. Combining accessible original research with a thorough grounding in recent histories and contexts, each chapter includes key definitions, reflective group questions and a summative case study. Overall, this book makes a strong contribution to our understanding of recent European Cinema, making it an invaluable resource for lecturers and students across a variety of film-centred modules.

Teen Life in Europe Shirley R. Steinberg, 2005-10-30 Teens in European countries have a number of similarities. But because Europe consists of such a diverse group of countries, differences do exist. These differences can be attributed to a variety of economies, geographies and politics. American teens will find a special interest in the region as it is the region in the world most similar to their own culture. Each chapter covers a country in the region and is written by a native of that country. The 12 countries profiled are Denmark, England, France,

Germany Ireland Italy Malta The Netherlands Portugal Spain Sweden and Turkey Each chapter concludes with a resource guide providing print and electronic sources for additional research

Contemporary Jewish Writing in Europe Vivian Liska, Thomas Nolden, 2007-12-05 With contributions from a dozen American and European scholars this volume presents an overview of Jewish writing in post World War II Europe Striking a balance between close readings of individual texts and general surveys of larger movements and underlying themes the essays portray Jewish authors across Europe as writers and intellectuals of multiple affiliations and hybrid identities Aimed at a general readership and guided by the idea of constructing bridges across national cultures this book maps for English speaking readers the productivity and diversity of Jewish writers and writing that has marked a revitalization of Jewish culture in France Germany Austria Italy Great Britain the Netherlands Hungary Poland and Russia

Transcultural Memory and European Identity in Contemporary German-Jewish Migrant Literature Jessica Ortner, 2022 Examines how German Jewish writers from Eastern Europe who migrated to Germany during or after the Cold War have widened European cultural memory to include the traumas of the Gulag Preserving the memory of the Holocaust as a moral and ethical limit case is key to the European Union's attempt to construct a pan European identity But with the Eastern expansion of the EU new member states have challenged the Holocaust's singularity calling for the traumas of the Stalinist Gulag to be acknowledged much more explicitly Thus even though Europe has been unified politically it is divided by its diverging perceptions of the past Jessica Ortner argues that German Jewish writers from Eastern Europe and the GDR who migrated to Germany as refugees during or after the Cold War have responded critically to the need to widen European cultural memory to include the traumatic experiences of the East The writers focused on include Katja Petrowskaja Olga Grjasnowa Lena Gorelik Vladimir Vertlib and Barbara Honigmann A central focus of the book is the traveling of memories from Eastern Europe and the GDR to Western Germany and Austria Introducing the term literature of mnemonic migration Ortner asserts that these authors writings negotiate the mnemonic divide between East and West They criticize the normative memory politics of both Germany and the Soviet Union and address not only the politically explosive question of how to remember both National Socialism and Communism but also the status of Jews in contemporary Germany
