

The background image is a composite of several elements. At the top, a bright sunburst with white rays emanates from a central point against a clear blue sky. Below the sun, numerous monarch butterflies are shown in various stages of flight. Some are large and in sharp focus, showing their characteristic orange and black wing patterns. Others are smaller and blurred, suggesting movement. The bottom half of the image is dominated by a dense, green forest canopy, with sunlight filtering through the leaves. The overall composition is bright and lively, with a strong emphasis on the natural world.
