Terrorist Financing Nicholas Ridley, Nick Ridley, 2012-01-01 In recent years a great deal has been written about terrorism and how best to inhibit and undermine terrorist's aspirations Much of this literature tends to be one dimensional reflecting the experience of the author Dr Ridley having had a long and diverse career in intelligence and in particular financial analysis has succeeded in going far beyond description of a series of war stories to providing not only a starting account of the range and character of modern terrorism but also a knowledgeable analysis of the measures adopted around the world to combat the threat Of critical importance in the minds of many has been the adoption of techniques in the main from the war against drugs facilitating the identification and disruption of finance While emphasising the value of financial intelligence Dr Ridley now as a scholar dispassionately questions how successful this strategy has been and where it might take us Such issues need to be aired and resolved if we are not to undermine the very values which we seek to protect Barry Rider University of Cambridge UK This is hugely important and highly relevant contribution by a world

The Talibanization of Southeast Asia Bilveer Singh, 2007-10-30 Long before the terrorist attacks of September 11 2001 awakened the United States and the Western world to the heightened level of the terrorist threat Southeast Asia had been dealing with this threat The bombing in Bali that killed 202 people many of them Australian tourists was by no means the region s first experience with Islamic extremism which can be traced back to the 1940s and the Darul Islam struggle The most recent group to emerge is Al Jama'ah Al Islamiyah (AJAI) the most potent Islamic terrorist organization to date in the region and the group behind the Bali bombing. Understanding the process of Talibanization in Southeast Asia which was once an oasis of moderate Islam in the modern world is a key to unraveling the mystery of the increased radicalization in the region. Essentially this involved the establishment of a political system that was more Islamic in character either nationally or within a specific territory of a national state. This book analyzes the increasing Talibanization of Southeast Asia a relatively new phenomenon that involves the adoption of Islamist doctrines, ideologies and values that are largely militant in character and that for some groups includes the adoption of violence to achieve their goals. This has succeeded in posing one of the most serious security challenges to the region since the end of the Cold War. Jihadists are operating in small and localized cells even though the broad goals remain the same namely to spread sharia, establish an Islamic state and bring down secular regimes. As most governments do not have the credibility or the expertise to diminish the threat posed by Islamist extremism, Wahhabism and Salafism, Southeast Asia is in danger of being Talibanized in the near future.

Islamist Terrorism and Militancy in Indonesia Kumar Ramakrishna, 2014-10-19. Drawing upon insights from the natural and social sciences, this book puts forth a provocative new argument that the violent Islamist threat in Indonesia today derives its stubborn resilience from being in essence a complex adaptive and self-organizing system or what some specialists might even call a super organism. The book challenges the popular assumption that ideology is the root cause that explains why Indonesian Islamists radicalize into violent extremism. In addition, it addresses why despite years of intense security force pressure, seemingly disparate militant cells keep popping up like the proverbial hydra and in the apparent absence of a centralized coordinating body nevertheless appear to display an organic interconnectivity with one another. Going beyond standard ideological mantras, the book argues that fresh interdisciplinary thinking is needed to cope with the constantly mutating violent Islamist challenge in Indonesia and puts forth a comprehensive strategy for doing so. It will be of interest to academics and students of terrorism, religion and violence in the Southeast Asian region.

Targeting Terrorist Financing Arabinda Acharya, 2009-09-11. This book examines the dynamics of terrorist financing including a discussion about the importance of money from both the terrorist and the counter terrorist perspective. Targeting Terrorist Financing argues that it is not the institutions that have failed the war on terrorist financing; rather, it is the states that have failed the institutions. The measures contemplated by the world community to interdict terrorists and their financial infrastructures are sufficient to debilitate the terrorists both militarily and financially. However, what has been increasingly lacking is political will among the states and this has overwhelmed the spirit of cooperation in this very critical front against terrorism. This volume assesses the need for international cooperation and the role of institutions and regimes in targeting terrorist financing. After the 9/11 attacks, there was an expression of global willingness to target terrorism generally and terrorist financing in particular. The institutional mechanisms that grew out of this are explored in detail here with a critical examination of the progress made by the international community The impact of these measures is considered with respect to changes in the nature of the terrorist threat money confiscated adoption of international conventions and global standards by states and levels of compliance among others This book will be of great interest to students of terrorism international organisations international security and IR in general Arabinda Acharya is Research Fellow Manager of Strategic Projects and Head of the Terrorist Financing Response Project at the International Centre for Political Violence and Terrorism Research in the S Rajaratnam School of International Studies Nanyang Technological University Singapore

Islamic Education and Indoctrination Charlene Tan, 2012-01-26 Islamic schools especially madrasahs have been viewed as sites of indoctrination for Muslim students and militants Some educators and parents in the United States have also regarded introductory courses on Islam in some public schools as indoctrinatory But what do we mean by indoctrination And is Islamic education indoctrinatory This book critically discusses the concept of indoctrination in the context of Islamic education It explains that indoctrination occurs when a person holds to a type of beliefs known as control beliefs that result in ideological totalism Using Indonesia as an illustrative case study the book expounds on the conditions for an indoctrinatory tradition to exist and thrive Examples include the Islamic school co founded by Abu Bakar Ba asyir and the militant organisation Jemaah Islamiyah The book further proposes ways to counter and avoid indoctrination through formal non formal and informal education It argues for the creation and promotion of educative traditions that are underpinned by religious pluralism strong rationality and strong autonomy Examples of such educative Muslim traditions in Indonesia will be highlighted Combining philosophical inquiry with empirical research this book is a timely contribution to the study of contemporary and often controversial issues in Islamic education

Extremist Islam Kumar Ramakrishna, 2022 Since the Bali terrorist attacks in 2002 law enforcement agencies have rigorously combatted terrorist networks in Southeast Asia yet groups motivated by violent extremist interpretations of Islam remain resilient and dangerous This book shines a light on specific beliefs behaviors and policies that impact these challenges ultimately offering cutting edge effective tools for response The book begins by challenging misguided and controversial notions that depict Islam as an inherently violent religion arguing that the theological ideological amalgam of what has been called Salafabism is the more useful lens for recognizing closed minded extremist currents The book carefully distinguishes this Salafabist extremist mindset from relatively open minded Salafabist radicalism paying due attention to nonviolent extremists and the ways they can contribute to rather than reduce violent terrorist activity in the region Using poignant case studies from Malaysia Singapore the Philippines and Indonesia the book clarifies a bewildering range of terminology associated with Islamist violence and explains how imprecise and oversimplified narratives are destructive to progress and worse empowering to terrorist organizations These chapters build up to research informed policies and rhetorical recommendations for improved outcomes With its novel insights into the root causes of extremist terrorism in Southeast Asia the ineffective policies that prohibit progress and promote unrest in this region and the avenues for positive change this book offers a comprehensive strategy for fostering theologically sound yet culturally authentic counterterrorist measures that defend the complex richly textured tapestry of culture in Southeast Asia
