McKenzie, 1968 The Anchor Bible Commentary is the collaborative effort of Protestant Catholic and Jewish scholars from around the world Fair Spoken and Persuading Richard J. Clifford, 1984 Within the last two hundred years critical scholarship has come to recognize that Chapters 40-55 of the Book of Isaiah are the work not of the eighth century Isaiah of Jerusalem but of an anonymous sixth century disciple standing in the Isaiah tradition This Second Isaiah spoke to a community who had once lived in Judah and Jerusalem but now a half century later were settled in Babylon Critical scholarship discovered Second Isaiah through its scientific methods The successive fads and fashions of that scholarship source criticism then form criticism have onesidedly determined interpretation Fair Spoken and Persuading criticizes previous approaches that took the book to be a series of fragments outbursts of a great lyrical poet It argues instead that Isaiah 40-55 is a collection of substantial speeches that reinterpret national traditions to answer a sixth century question how could the exiles be Israel outside of the sacred land The prophet's answer by making a fresh Exodus and Conquest The Judahites would become Israel through their brave and trustful journeying to Zion Second Isaiah's name for Jerusalem Second Isaiah is therefore not just a poet but an orator His program of action one becomes Israel through action is still

Isaiah 40-55 Joseph Blenkinsopp, 2002-04 Scholars have traditionally isolated three distinct sections of what is known as the Book of Isaiah and in Isaiah 40-55 distinguished biblical scholar Joseph Blenkinsopp provides a new translation and critical commentary on the section usually referred to as Second or Deutero Isaiah The second volume in a three volume commentary it easily maintains the high standards of academic excellence established by Isaiah 1-39 Second Isaiah was written in the sixth century b c e in the years just before the fall of the mighty Babylonian Empire by an anonymous prophet whom history has erroneously identified with the real Isaiah born ca 765 b c e Scholars know Second Isaiah was written by someone other than Isaiah because the contexts of these prophecies are so very different When Second Isaiah was written the prophet believed that Israel s time of suffering was drawing to a close There was he insisted a new age upon them a time of hope peace and renewed national prosperity The main thrust of the prophet s argument was intended to rally the spirits of a people devastated by war and conquest One of the most famous examples of this optimistic tone is the well known and beloved Song of the Suffering Servant which is found in Chapters 52 53 and about which Blenkinsopp has some challenging new ideas The final chapters of Second Isaiah however are in an entirely different key as it becomes clear that the new world the prophet foresaw earlier was not going to come to pass This despair finds its most poignant expression in the final section of the Book of Isaiah which Blenkinsopp will address in his forthcoming third volume
