Second Thoughts About Barths Models:

Second Thoughts about Barth's Models Robert Paine, 1970      Second Thoughts About Barth's Models, 1974

Hegemony and Strategies of Transgression E. San Juan Jr., 1995-03-30 In Part One the author examines what is at stake in the complex relations between theory and practice in exchanges involving Paul de Man Mikhail Bakhtin Georg Lukacs Bertolt Brecht Walter Benjamin Antonio Gramsci and others In Part Two San Juan focuses on the materialist aesthetics of Louis Althusser and Pierre Macherey examining their resonance in a Hemingway novel and in the poetry of Hugh MacDiarmid In Part Three the author conducts an appraisal of James Baldwin's worldview the textualization of the Asian diaspora in the United States and the interface between postmodern themes and postcolonial sensibilities The ultimate project of the author is to envision the emergence of a new field called world cultural studies from a radical Third World perspective The transition from Western hegemony to the transformative oppositional inquiry of Others epitomizes the itinerary of San Juan's exploration of the discipline once called litterae humaniores but now reconceived as the praxis of critical transgressions

Factory Women in Taiwan Lydia Kung, 1994 An important study of Taiwan's first generation of working women documenting their and their families' views of their employment and the effects that wage earning has on the status and lives of these women

Anthropology and Politics Joan Vincent, 2022-08-16 In considering how anthropologists have chosen to look at and write about politics Joan Vincent contends that the anthropological study of politics is itself a historical process Intended not only as a representation but also as a reinterpretation her study arises from questioning accepted views and unexamined assumptions This wide ranging cross disciplinary work is a critical review of the anthropological study of politics in the English speaking world from 1879 to the present a counterpoint of text and context that describes for each of three eras both what anthropologists have said about politics and the national and international events that have shaped their interests and concerns It is also an account of how intellectual social and political conditions influenced the discipline by conditioning both anthropological inquiry and the avenues of research supported by universities and governments Finally it is a study of the politics of anthropology itself examining the survival of theses or schools of thought and the influence of certain individuals and departments

Comparing Impossibilities Sally Falk Moore, 2016-04-15 Few scholars have had a more varied career than Sally Falk Moore Once a lawyer for an elite New York law firm her career has led her to the Nuremberg trials where she prepared cases against major industrialists to Harvard to the Spanish archives where she studied the Inca political system and to the mountain of Kilimanjaro where she studied the politics of Tanzanian socialism This book offers a compelling tour of Moore's diverse experiences a history of her thought as she reflects on her life and thought in the disciplines of anthropology law and politics The essays range from studies of myths of incest and sexuality to those of economic development projects from South America to Africa The result is an astonishing assortment of works from one of the most respected legal anthropologists in the field one who brought together disparate places and ideas in enriching comparisons that showcase the possibilities and impossibilities of anthropology      Chinese Populations in Contemporary Southeast Asian Societies M. Jocelyn Armstrong, R. Warwick Armstrong, Kent Mulliner, 2012-10-12 New perspectives on the past and present contributions of the 25 million strong Chinese diaspora in Southeast Asia to the development of contemporary society Case studies feature organisational community religious and other arenas of Chinese activity and identity definition and the book analyses the interplay of local regional global and transnational networks and identities      Symbolising Boundaries Anthony Paul Cohen, 1986      Social Identity Richard Jenkins, 2004-08-02 Without social identity there is no human world Without frameworks of similarity and difference people would be unable to relate to each other in a consistent and meaningful fashion In the second edition of this highly successful text Richard Jenkins develops his argument that identity is both individual and collective and should therefore be considered within one analytic framework Using the work of major social theorists such as Mead Goffman and Barthes to explore the experience of identity in everyday life Jenkins considers a range of different issues including embodiment categorization and boundaries the institutionalizing of identities identity and modernity and the significance of identity in modernity      African Art in Transit Christopher B. Steiner, 1994-01-27 African Art in Transit is an absorbing account of the commodification and circulation of African art objects in the international art market Christopher Steiner's analysis of the role of the African middleman in linking those who produce and supply works of art in Africa with those who buy and collect so called primitive art in Europe and America is based on extensive field research among the art traders in Cote d'Ivoire Steiner provides a lucid interpretation which reveals not only a complex economic network with its own internal logic and rules but also an elaborate process of transcultural valuation and exchange By focusing directly on the intermediaries in the African art trade he unveils a critical new perspective on how symbolic codes and economic values are mediated in the context of shifting geographic and cultural domains He questions conventional definitions of authenticity in African art by demonstrating how the categories authentic and traditional are continually redefined      The Philippine Temptation Epifanio San Juan, 1996 In this incisive and polemical book E. San Juan Jr the leading authority on Philippines U.S. literary studies goes beyond fashionable postcolonial theory to bring to our attention the complex history of Philippines U.S. literary interactions In sharp contrast to other works on the subject the author presents Filipino literary production within the context of a long and sustained tradition of anti-imperialist insurgency and foregrounds the strong presence of oppositional writing in the Philippines After establishing the historical context of U.S. intervention and Filipino resistance San Juan examines the work of two very significant writers The first Carlos Bulosan a journalist and union activist became in the author's words a tribune of the people Bulosan's writings which combine critique and prophecy do not allow us to forget the atrocities inflicted on the Filipino people The other Jos Garcia Villa lapsed into premature obscurity on account of the complexity of his writings about the Filipino predicament Read through San Juan's eyes these writers are revealed as multifaceted thinkers and activists not stereotypical ethnic artists San Juan goes beyond literary studies and contemporary debates about nationalism and politics to point the way to a new direction in radical transformative writing. He uncovers hidden agendas in many previous accounts of U S Philippine relations and this book exemplifies how best to combine activist scholarship with historically grounded cultural commentary. Author note: E. San Juan Jr is Fellow of the Center for the Humanities and Visiting Professor of English, Wesleyan University and Director of the Philippines Cultural Studies Center. He was recently chair of the Department of Comparative American Cultures, Washington University and Professor of Ethnic Studies at Bowling Green State University, Ohio. He received the 1999 Centennial Award for Literature from the Philippines Cultural Center. His most recent books are Beyond Postcolonial Theory: From Exile to Diaspora, After Postcolonialism and Racism, and Cultural Studies. Sharing without Reckoning

Millard Schumaker, 2006-01-01. Sharing without Reckoning is the first full scale treatment of the ancient and persistent distinction between perfect and imperfect rights and duties. It examines the use of the distinction in jurisprudential, philosophical and religious material from Classical times until the present, proposes a connection between imperfect right and the norms of reciprocity as that complex set of ideas has been developed in anthropology and sociology, and argues that contemporary understanding of the nature of morality and of moral reasoning would be well served by the reintroduction of this traditional doctrine. This enlightening study includes a notable chapter reassessing the role of imperfect obligation in the thought of Immanuel Kant, portraying a kinder and gentler Kant. Concluding by elaborating ways in which concepts such as love, justice and the boundary between law and morality might be reconstructed, taking the fact of imperfect right seriously, this work will serve as a key reference for scholars interested in the complex question of perfect and imperfect rights and duties. An Anthropological Critique of Development, Mark Hobart, 2002-05-03. Questioning the utopian image of western knowledge as a uniquely successful achievement in its application to economic and social development, this provocative volume, the latest in the EIDOS series, argues that it is unacceptable to dismiss problems encountered by development projects as the inadequate implementation of knowledge. Rather, it suggests that failures stem from the constitution of knowledge and its object. By focussing on the ways in which agency in development is attributed to experts, thereby turning previously active participants into passive subjects or ignorant objects, the contributors claim that the hidden agenda to the aims of educating and improving the lives of those in the undeveloped world falls little short of perpetuating ignorance.

Fredrik Barth, Thomas Hylland Eriksen, 2015-04-20. Fredrik Barth is one of the towering figures of twentieth century anthropology. This intellectual history traces the development of Barth's ideas and explores the substance of his contributions. In an accessible style, Thomas Hylland Eriksen's biographical study reveals the magic of ethnography to professional anthropologists and non practitioners alike. Exploring his six decade career, it follows Barth from early ecological studies in Pakistan to political studies in Iran, to groundbreaking fieldwork in Norway, New Guinea, Bali and Bhutan. Eriksen argues that Barth's voracious appetite for fieldwork holds the key to understanding his remarkable intellectual development and the insights it produced The book raises many of the same questions that emerge from Barth's own work of unity and diversity of culture and relativism of art and science      Tricksters and Trancers Mathias Guenther,1999-11-22 a first rate piece of scholarship an invaluable summary and commentary on the multilingual literature on Bushman people Choice The trickster and trance dancer are the guides through Bushman or San religion a world of ambiguity and contradiction and of enchantment The two figures who in Bushman belief are symbolically equivalent and mystically linked embody these antistructural traits      Beyond the New Economic Anthropology John Clammer,1987-07-14      The Gujjars -Vol 04 (Gujjars History & Culture) by Dr. Javaid Rahi Javaid Rahi, The Gujjars is book series on Gujjars History Culture by Dr Javaid Rahi The Gujjars numbered around 2 038 692 according to their last census in 1931 Eight provinces were then identified as pockets inhabited by them namely Delhi Jammu Kashmir Punjab undivided the North West Provinces Pakistan and other area in and along the Himalayas now Uttaranchal and Himanchal Pradesh The Van Gujjars are relatively unknown in relation to the Hindu Gujjars of North West India According to the current reports the majority of Van Gujjars are semi nomadic forest dwelling and cattle herding Muslim      Social and Cultural Anthropology: The Key Concepts Nigel Rapport,Joanna Overing,2002-09-11 Social and Cultural Anthropology The Key Concepts is the ideal introduction to this discipline defining and discussing the central terms of the subject with clarity and authority      Outcaste (RLE Iran D) Laurence Loeb,2012-05-04 This volume is a unique investigation of contemporary Jewish life in a Muslim country and the first ethnography of the Persian Jewish diaspora giving the reader a deep appreciation of this relatively unknown culture The author describes in detail traditional Jewish life in the provincial city of Shiraz and the challenges of coexistence with a Muslim majority      It Happens Among People Keping Wu,Robert P. Weller,2019-11-04 Written by eleven leading anthropologists from around the world this volume extends the insights of Fredrik Barth one of the most important anthropologists of the twentieth century to push even further at the frontiers of anthropology and honor his memory As a collection the chapters thus expand Barth's pioneering work on values further develop his insights on human agency and its potential creativity as well as continuing to develop the relevance for his work as a way of thinking about and beyond the state The work is grounded on his insistence that theory should grow only from observed life
