Set Apart for the Great Fight

Look, Eunice, and now Timothy. While there is no inheritance of righteousness, there is an inheritance in righteousness (1:5). God has no grandchildren, so godly mothers do. Greeting

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, according to the promise of life which is in Christ Jesus.

To Timothy, a beloved son.

Grace, mercy, and peace be from the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.

Timothy's Faith and Her

I thank God, whom I serve with conscience, as my forefathers did, not ceasing I remember you night and day, greatly desiring to see you, being mindful of your tears, when I will see you, filled with joy, when I will see you, the genuine faith, which dwelt first in your mother Eunice, and is in you also. I will stir up the gift which is in you through the laying on of hands. For God has not given us a spirit of fear, but of power and of love and of a sound mind.

First and Second Timothy, Titus, Philemon Terence J. Lee,2021-02-16 Respected scholar Dorothy Lee considers evidence from the New Testament and early church to show that women s ministry is confirmed by the biblical witness Her comprehensive examination explores the roles women played in the Gospels and the Pauline corpus with a particular focus on passages that have been used in the past to limit women s ministry She argues that women in the New

Framing Paul Douglas A. Campbell, 2014-11-26 All historical work on Paul presupposes a story concerning the composition of his letters which ones he actually wrote how many pieces they might originally have consisted of when he wrote them where from and why But the answers given to these questions are often derived in dubious ways In Framing Paul Douglas Campbell reappraises all these issues in rigorous fashion appealing only to Paul's own epistolary data in order to derive a basic frame for the letters on which all subsequent interpretation can be built Though figuring out the authorship and order of Paul's letters has been thought to be impossible Campbell's Framing Paul presents a cogent solution to the puzzle

The Gospel on the Margins Michael J. Kok, 2015-02-01

Scholars of the Gospel of Mark usually discuss the merits of patristic references to the Gospel's origin and Mark's identity as the interpreter of Peter. But while the question of the Gospel's historical origins draws attention, no one has asked why, despite virtually unanimous patristic association of the Gospel with Peter, one of the most prestigious apostolic founding figures in Christian memory, Mark's Gospel was mostly neglected by those same writers. Not only is the text of Mark the least represented of the canonical Gospels in patristic citations, commentaries, and manuscripts, but the explicit comments about the Evangelist reveal ambivalence about Mark's literary or theological value. Michael J. Kok surveys the second-century reception of Mark from Papias of Hierapolis to Clement of Alexandria and finds that the patristic writers were hesitant to embrace Mark because they perceived it to be too easily adapted to rival Christian factions. Kok describes the story of Mark's Petrine origins as a second-century move to assert ownership of the Gospel on the part of the emerging Orthodox Church.

An Index to Periodical Literature on the Apostle Paul Watson E. Mills, 1993. The volume updates an important earlier work by Bruce M. Metzger, Index to Periodical Literature on the Apostle Paul, first published in 1960, which undertook to list periodical materials available before 1960. This volume was the first book in the New Testament Tools and Studies series published by Brill. As with Metzger's volume, this new work lists periodicals in a wide spectrum of languages, including English and Russian. This volume adds considerably to the 3,013 entries of Metzger's original work. To facilitate use, the original classification and numbering scheme developed by Metzger is retained in the new references, as well as in a few from a second edition by Metzger (1970). They are inserted in their proper classification by subject and date and are indicated by the original number with an alpha extension. In a few instances, new classifications are offered, e.g., structuralism.
