The Ethics of Destruction Ward Thomas, 2014-06-14 Many assume that in international politics and especially in war anything goes Sherman famously declared war is all hell The implication behind the maxim is that in war there is no order only chaos no mercy only cruelty no restraint only suffering Ward Thomas finds that this anything goes view is demonstrably wrong It neither reflects how most people talk about the use of force in international relations nor describes the way national leaders actually use military force Events such as those in Europe during World War II in the Persian Gulf War and in Kosovo cannot be understood he argues until we realize that state behavior even during wartime is shaped by common understandings about what is ethically acceptable and unacceptable Thomas makes extensive use of two cases the assassination of foreign leaders and the aerial bombardment of civilians to trace the relative influence of norms and interests His insistence on interconnections between ethical principle and material power leads to a revised understanding of the role of normative factors in foreign policy and the ways in which power and interest shape the international system
