Seeing Anthropology:

Seeing Anthropology Karl G. Heider, 2001 Video includes short clips from 15 ethnographic films tied to chapters in the book

Seeing Anthropology Karl G. Heider, 1997 Accompanying videocassettes include short ethnographically accurate films on a wide range of culture types and world areas which contribute to the subject of the chapters

Seeing Anthropology Karl G. Heider, Herbert L. Ziegler, 2000-09 This is the only book video package for cultural anthropology This book truly incorporates films within the text This unique package allows the reader to view the films in class or at home

Seeing Anthropology Karl G. Heider, 2004 Seeing Anthropology continues to be the only cultural anthropology text available that allows for easy integration of ethnographic films into the introductory cultural anthropology course This text truly incorporates films within the text by blending textbook content with fourteen ethnographic film clips that are put in the hands of students More flexible ordering options are available with the new edition See New to this Edition section below One reviewer says The greatest strengths of this text are its unique and skillful use of film clips to enhance student learning I can think of no better way to extend student learning in anthropology than the use of films and there is no one more qualified to select and present anthropological films than the author of this book

The Third Eye Fatimah Tobing Rony, 1996 Charting the intersection of technology and ideology cultural production and social science Fatimah Tobing Rony explores early twentieth century representations of non Western indigenous peoples in films ranging from the documentary to the spectacular to the scientific Turning the gaze of the ethnographic camera back onto itself bringing the perspective of a third eye to bear on the invention of the primitive other Rony reveals the collaboration of anthropology and popular culture in Western constructions of race gender nation and empire Her work demonstrates the significance of these constructions and more generally of ethnographic cinema for understanding issues of identity In films as seemingly dissimilar as Nanook of the North King Kong and research footage of West Africans from an 1895 Paris ethnographic exposition Rony exposes a shared fascination with and anxiety over race She shows how photographic realism contributed to popular and scientific notions of evolution race and civilization and how in turn anthropology understood and critiqued its own use of photographic technology Looking beyond negative Western images of the Other Rony considers performance strategies that disrupt these images for example the use of open resistance recontextualization and parody in the films of Katherine Dunham and Zora Neale Hurston or the performances of Josephine Baker She also draws on the work of contemporary artists such as Lorna Simpson and Victor Masayesva Jr and writers such as Frantz Fanon and James Baldwin who unveil the language of racialization in ethnographic cinema Elegantly written and richly illustrated innovative in theory and original in method The Third Eye is a remarkable interdisciplinary contribution to critical thought in film studies anthropology cultural studies art history postcolonial studies and women s studies

The Ethnographer's Eye Anna Grimshaw, 2001-04-30 Grimshaw s exploration of the role of vision within modern anthropology engages with current debates about ocularcentism investigating the relationship between vision and knowledge in ethnographic enquiry Using John Berger's notion of ways of seeing the author argues that vision operates differently as a technique and theory of knowledge within the discipline In the first part of the book she examines contrasting visions at work in the so called classical British school reassessing the legacy of Rivers Malinowski and Radcliffe Brown through the lens of early modern art and cinema In the second part of the book the changing relationship between vision and knowledge is explored through the anthropology of Jean Rouch David and Judith MacDougall and Melissa Llewelyn Davies Vision is foregrounded in the work of these contemporary ethnographers focusing more general questions about technique and epistemology whether image based media are used or not in ethnographic enquiry

Writing and Seeing Rui Manuel G. de Carvalho Homem, Maria de Fátima Lambert, 2006 The essays in this volume are informed by a variety of theoretical assumptions and of critical methodologies but they all share an interest in the intersections of word and image in a variety of media This unifying rationale secures the present collection's central position in the current critical context defined as it predominantly is by ways of reading that are based on a relational nexus The intertextual the intermedial the intersemiotic are indeed foregrounded and combined in these essays conceptually as much as in the critical practices favoured by the various contributions Studies of literature in its relation to pictorial genres enjoy a relative prominence in the volume but the range of media and of approaches considered is broad enough to include photography film video television comic strips animated film public art material culture The backgrounds of contributors are likewise diverse culturally academically linguistically The volume combines contributions by prominent scholars and critics with essays by younger scholars from a variety of backgrounds The resulting plurality of perspective is indeed a source of new insights into the relations between writing and seeing and it contributes to making this collection an exciting new contribution to word and image studies

Seeing South Asia Dev Nath Pathak, Biswajit Das, Ratan Kumar Roy, 2022-04-11 This book critically examines the cultural politics of visuals in South Asia It makes a key contribution to the study of visuals in the social sciences in South Asia by studying the interplay of the seen and unseen and the visual and nonvisual The volume explores interrelated themes including the vernacular visual and visibility ways of seeing in South Asia and the methodology of hermeneutic sensorium anxiety and politics of the visuals across the region and the trajectory of visual anthropology significance of visual symbols and representations in contemporary performances and folk art visual landscapes of loss and recovery and representation of refugees visual public in South Asia and making of visuals for contemporary consumptions The chapters unravel the concepts of visual visibility visibility while attending to determinant meta ideas such as memory and modernity trajectories of tradition fluidity and hybridity and visual performative politics Based on interdisciplinary resources the chapters in this volume present a wide array of empirical findings across India Pakistan Sri Lanka Nepal and Bangladesh along with analytical readings of the visual culture of the subcontinent across borders The book will be useful to scholars and researchers of visual and cultural studies social and cultural anthropology sociology political studies media and communications studies performance studies art history television and film studies photography studies and South Asian studies It will also interest practitioners including artists visual artists photographers filmmakers and media critics

Seeing Cities Change Jerome Krase, 2016-04-01 Cities have always been dynamic social environments for visual and otherwise symbolic competition between the groups who live and work within them In contemporary urban areas all sorts of diversity are simultaneously increased and concentrated chief amongst them in recent years being the ethnic and racial transformation produced by migration and the gentrification of once socially marginal areas of the city Seeing Cities Change demonstrates the utility of a visual approach and the study of ordinary streetscapes to document and analyze how the built environment reflects the changing cultural and class identities of neighborhood residents Discussing the manner in which these changes relate to issues of local and national identities and multiculturalism it presents studies of various cities on both sides of the Atlantic to show how global forces and the competition between urban residents in contested terrains is changing the faces of cities around the globe Blending together a variety of sources from scholarly and mass media this engaging volume focuses on the importance of seeing and in its consideration of questions of migration ethnicity diversity community identity class and culture will appeal to sociologists anthropologists and geographers with interests in visual methods and urban spaces

Seeing More Samantha Matherne, Gardner Cowles Associate Professor of the Humanities Samantha Matherne, 2024-07-19 There is a long standing tradition in philosophy that defines imagination as engaging with things that are not real or present as a kind of fantasy Immanuel Kant offered an original theory of imagination as something that shapes our encounters with what is real present and pervades our lives This book brings this theory of imagining to light

Seeing and Knowing Geoffrey Blundell, Christopher Chippindale, Benjamin Smith, 2016-06-16 Using the pioneering research of David Lewis Williams as a foundation contributors from around the world examine how the availability of ethnographic analogies or lack thereof affect the interpretation of rock art

Seeing Politics Sophie Harman, 2019-07-04 Visual politics and the aesthetic turn in international relations have emphasized the power of the image in world politics Postcolonial and decolonial feminist theory shows the urgent need to rethink research and teaching methods What happens when these concepts converge and such thinking is translated into practice Engaging with a broad range of topics the politics of everyday life health HIV AIDS Africa post colonialism gender feminist theory visuality film and method in Seeing Politics Sophie Harman looks at scholars who are pushing the boundaries of how they do research how they communicate their research to a broader audience and what counts as scholarship in world politics Through a detailed exploration of the political process of film production from inception and co production to distribution and exhibition she addresses the tricky transnational relationships government gatekeeping and global hierarchies of film governance that control and marginalize the stories and people we see Fundamentally Seeing Politics is about how narrative feature film challenges and advances the discipline of international relations revealing aspects of politics that would otherwise remain unseen and unaddressed Film is not just a way of communicating research It is a method that produces research and visibility advancing research practice and knowledge in international relations Innovative and compelling this book is about the politics of seeing being seen and what stops us from seeing Seeing Like a Smuggler Mahmoud Keshavarz, Shahram Khosravi, 2022-07-20 This conceptually vivid book refreshes our vision Ruth Wilson Gilmore The word smuggler often unleashes a simplified negative image painted by the media and the authorities Such state centric perspectives hide many social political and economic relations generated by smuggling This book looks at the practice through the eyes of the smugglers revealing how their work can be productive subversive and deeply sociopolitical By tracing the illegalised movement of people and goods across borders Seeing Like a Smuggler shows smuggling as a contradiction within the nation state system and in a dialectical relation with the national order of things It raises questions on how smuggling engages and unsettles the ethics materialities visualities histories and the colonial power relations that form borders and bordering Covering a wide spectrum of approaches from personal reflections and ethnographies to historical accounts cultural analysis and visual essays the book spans the globe from Colombia to Ethiopia Singapore to Guatemala Afghanistan to Zimbabwe and from Kurdistan to Bangladesh to show how people deal with global inequalities and the restrictions of poverty and immobility Seeing Like a Child Clara Han, 2020-12-01 An original blend of autobiography and ethnography that re examines violence and memory from the perspective of a child of Korean War survivors This deeply moving narrative Heonik Kwon author of After the Korean War showcases an unexpected voice from an established researcher With an unwavering commitment to a child s perspective Clara Han explores how the catastrophic event of the Korean War is dispersed into domestic life Han writes from inside her childhood memories as the daughter of parents displaced by war who fled from the North to the South and whose displacement in Korea and subsequent migration to the United States implicated the fraying and suppression of kinship relations and the Korean language At the same time Han writes as an anthropologist whose fieldwork has taken her to the devastated worlds of her parents to Korea and to the Korean language allowing her as she explains to find and found kinship relationships that had been suppressed or broken in war and illness A fascinating counterpoint to the project of testimony that seeks to transmit a narrative of the event to future generations Seeing Like a Child sees the inheritance of familial memories of violence as embedded in how the child inhabits her everyday life Seeing Like a Child offers readers a unique experience an intimate engagement with the emotional reality of migration and the inheritance of mass displacement and death inviting us to explore categories such as catastrophe war violence and kinship in a brand new light An extraordinary book bursting with critical insight and affective power Jo o Biehl author of Vita Life in a Zone of Social Abandonment

Seeing and Being Seen Hilary E. Kahn, 2010-01-01 The practice of morality and the formation of identity among an indigenous Latin American culture are framed in a pioneering ethnography of sight that attempts to reverse the trend of anthropological fieldwork and theory overshadowing one another In this vital and richly detailed work methodology and theory are treated as complementary partners as the author explores the dynamic Mayan customs of the Q'eqchi' people living in the cultural crossroads of Livingston Guatemala Here Q'eqchi' Ladino and Garifuna Caribbean coast Afro Indians societies interact among themselves and with others ranging from government officials to capitalists to contemporary tourists The fieldwork explores the politics of sight and incorporates a video camera operated by multiple people the author and the Q'eqchi' people themselves to watch unobtrusively the traditions rituals and everyday actions that exemplify the long standing moral concepts guiding the Q'eqchi' in their relationships and tribulations Sharing the camera lens as well as the lens of ethnographic authority allows the author to slip into the world of the Q'eqchi' and capture their moral social political economic and spiritual constructs shaped by history ancestry external forces and time itself A comprehensive history of the Q'eqchi' illustrates how these former plantation laborers migrated to lands far from their Mayan ancestral homes to co exist as one of several competing cultures and what impact this had on maintaining continuity in their identities moral codes of conduct and perception of the changing outside world With the innovative use of visual methods and theories the author's reflexive sensory oriented ethnographic approach makes this a study that itself becomes a reflection of the complex set of social structures embodied in its subject

The Ethics of Seeing Jennifer Evans, Paul Betts, Stefan-Ludwig Hoffmann, 2018-01-09 Throughout Germany's tumultuous twentieth century photography was an indispensable form of documentation Whether acting as artists witnesses or reformers both professional and amateur photographers chronicled social worlds through successive periods of radical upheaval The Ethics of Seeing brings together an international group of scholars to explore the complex relationship between the visual and the historic in German history Emphasizing the transformation of the visual arena and the ways in which ordinary people made sense of world events these revealing case studies illustrate photography's multilayered role as a new form of representation a means to subjective experience and a fresh mode of narrating the past

A History of Seeing in Eleven Inventions Susan Denham Wade, 2019-09-16 A remarkable achievement Stephen Fry In 2015 the dress captured the world's imagination Was the dress in the picture white and gold or blue and black It inspired the author to ask if people in the same time and place can see the same thing differently how did people in distant times and places see the world Jam packed with fascinating stories facts and insights and impeccably researched A History of Seeing in Eleven Inventions investigates the story of seeing from the evolution of eyes 500 million years ago to the present day Time after time it reveals inventions that changed how people saw the world ended up changing it altogether Twenty first century life is more visual than ever and seeing overwhelmingly dominates our senses Can our eyes keep up with technology Have we gone as far as the eye can see

The Archaeology of Seeing Liliana Janik, 2020-01-28 The Archaeology of Seeing provides readers with a new and provocative understanding of material culture through exploring visual narratives captured in cave and rock art sculpture paintings and more The engaging argument draws on current thinking in archaeology on how we can interpret the behaviour of people in the past through their use of material culture and how this affects our understanding of how we create and see art in the present Exploring themes of gender identity and story telling in visual material culture this book forces a radical reassessment of how the ability to see makes us and our ancestors human as such it will interest lovers of both art and archaeology Illustrated with examples from around the world from the earliest art from hundreds of thousands of years ago to the contemporary art scene including street art and advertising Janik cogently argues that the human capacity for art which we share with our most ancient ancestors and cousins is rooted in our common neurophysiology The ways in which our brains allow us to see is a common heritage that shapes the creative process what changes according to time and place are the cultural contexts in which art is produced and consumed The book argues for an innovative understanding of art through the interplay between the way the human brain works and the culturally specific creation and interpretation of meaning making an important contribution to the debate on art archaeology

Twelve Ways of Seeing the World Mario Betti, 2019-12-02 Mario Betti strives to make sense of the world through different lenses framed as 12 archetypes Phenomenalism Sensualism Materialism Mathematism Rationalism Idealism Psychism Pneumatism Monadism Dynamism Realism and Humanism Betti draws on the research of Rudolph Steiner and his twelvefold typology of human and cosmic thought to explore and validate each world view from its own unique perspective In this way he means to transform dogmatism and enable a deeper dialogue The book includes a study guide World View by World View which comprises of templates for lesson structures and questions for discussion put together by the author Mario Betti and Kathelijne Drenth of the Cloverleaf Foundation The Netherlands Teachers of Children who are Partially Seeing Abul Hassan K. Sassani, Gertrude (Golden) Broderick, Marjorie Cecil Johnston, Romaine Prior Mackie, Willis Clark Brown, 1956
