Exploring Cultural Dynamics and Tensions Within Service-Learning Trae Stewart, Nicole Webster, 2011-09-01 Service learning is an exciting pedagogy and field of study offering insight into how academic study and community engagement blend to create social change In its most traditional conceptualization servicelearning activities typically manifest within communities where outside individuals address a need Service learning is purported to have a transforming effect on individual student perspectives by providing students the opportunity to interact with people and enter into situations that allow students to test their predisposition towards others However the literature on the impact of service learning on participants acceptance of diversity and development of open mindedness reports mixed outcomes The purpose of this book is to explore cultural tensions and dynamics within the field of service learning It is not meant to be an exhaustive review of the interplay between culture and service learning but rather a starting point for an ongoing conversation about how this complex topic impacts the field. In 18 chapters educators, students, and administrators investigate the cultural values of service learning itself and the tensions created when this is at odds with the values of others within K-12 and higher education in the United States and abroad. Authors include community organization representatives, researchers, directors of offices of community engagement, university administrators, junior and senior faculty, and former service learning undergraduate students. Submissions reflect a range of genres including theoretical, conceptual pieces, position papers, case studies, and other traditional academic essays challenging how students and community members are affected by the cultural tensions within service learning engagement.

Research Anthology on Service Learning and Community Engagement Teaching Practices Management

Association, Information Resources, 2021-12-30. The need for more empathetic and community-focused students must begin with educators as service learning has begun to grow in popularity throughout the years. By implementing service and community aspects into the classroom at an early age, educators have a greater chance of influencing students and creating a new generation of service-minded individuals who care about their communities. Teachers must have the necessary skills and current information available to them to provide students with quality service learning and community engagement curricula. The Research Anthology on Service Learning and Community Engagement Teaching Practices provides a thorough investigation of the current trends, best practices, and challenges of teaching practices for service learning and community engagement. Using innovative research, it outlines the struggles, frameworks, and recommendations necessary for educators to engage students and provide them with a comprehensive education in service learning. Covering topics such as lesson planning, teacher education, and cultural humility, it is a crucial reference for educators, administrators, universities, lesson planners, researchers, academicians, and students.

Nursing Education in the Clinical Setting Roberta J.

Emerson, 2006-09-19. 2007 AJN Book of the Year Award Winner. Nursing Education in the Clinical Setting provides a practical approach to clinical nursing instruction. Although grounded in adult learning theory, this unique resource provides practical suggestions and addresses common questions and issues. The text incorporates illustrative scenarios, discussion questions, and reflection exercises designed to facilitate thoughtful application of the content. Addresses the role transition for a nurse with clinical expertise to that of clinical nursing instructor. Provides important tips for effectively appraising student performance such as student involvement in self-evaluation and goal setting, and suggestions for how evaluation and appraisal are shared with the student. Incorporates sample scenarios to illustrate concepts and allow the reader to apply them. Integrates discussion questions and exercises designed to facilitate thoughtful application and critical thinking skills. Addresses all aspects of learning including cognitive (e.g., critical thinking), affective (e.g., caring), and psychomotor (e.g., technical) skills. Provides actual examples of tools to be used for documenting student performance and approaches for stimulating student involvement and critical thinking. Includes a separate chapter on Clinical Faculty as Clinical Coach that discusses how learning is facilitated in the clinical setting with the guidance of an effective teacher Features a Clinical Toolbox that contains a variety of supplemental resources including sample approaches for teaching and evaluation suggestions for preparing anecdotal notes and relevant reference material Incorporates issues related to computer access of patient data banks for students and the federal regulations mandated by HIPAA and their clinical education implications
