Setting the Moral Compass Cheshire Calhoun, 2004 Setting the Moral Compass brings together the largely unpublished writings of 19 women moral philosophers whose work has contributed to the re setting of the compass of moral philosophy since the 1980s The Oxford Handbook of Virtue Nancy E. Snow, 2018 The late twentieth and early twenty first centuries have seen a renaissance in the study of virtue a topic that has prevailed in philosophical work since the time of Aristotle Several major developments have conspired to mark this new age Foremost among them some argue is the birth of virtue ethics an approach to ethics that focuses on virtue in place of consequentialism the view that normative properties depend only on consequences or deontology the study of what we have a moral duty to do The emergence of new virtue theories also marks this new wave of work on virtue Put simply these are theories about what virtue is and they include Kantian and utilitarian virtue theories Concurrently virtue ethics is being applied to other fields where it hasn t been used before including bioethics and education In addition to these developments the study of virtue in epistemological theories has become increasingly widespread to the point that it has spawned a subfield known as virtue epistemology This volume therefore provides a representative overview of philosophical work on virtue It is divided into seven parts conceptualizations of virtue historical and religious accounts contemporary virtue ethics and theories of virtue central concepts and issues critical examinations applied virtue ethics and virtue epistemology Forty two chapters by distinguished scholars offer insights and directions for further research In addition to philosophy authors also deal with virtues in non western philosophical traditions religion and psychological perspectives on virtue

The Dynamics of Epistemic Injustice Amandine Catala, 2025-03-07 Epistemic injustice refers to the injustice that a person suffers specifically in their capacity as a knower i e as someone who produces conveys or uses knowledge Epistemic injustice occurs every day when members of non dominant groups are not included or taken seriously in conversations or social representations due to individual or societal biases Epistemic injustice is inherently connected to epistemic power and epistemic agency understanding and addressing epistemic injustice allows us to better understand and address epistemic power and agency and vice versa Yet despite vast and rich discussions of epistemic injustice which often invoke the notions of epistemic power and epistemic agency both notions remain undertheorized and hence largely elusive Amandine Catala offers a systematic account of epistemic power and agency by turning to the dynamics of epistemic injustice that is the many forms epistemic injustice can take the different sites and mechanisms through which it operates and the various transformations consequently required to cultivate greater epistemic justice Adopting standpoint theory as both a theoretical and a methodological framework Catala considers several pressing social questions such as deliberative impasses in divided societies colonial memory academic migration the underrepresentation of members of non dominant groups in certain fields the marginalization of minoritized minds such as intellectually disabled people and the underdiagnosing of autistic women By analyzing these social questions through the lens of the dynamics of epistemic injustice this book makes two main contributions it develops a systematic account of epistemic power and agency that highlights the interaction between individual and structural factors and it offers a pluralist account of epistemic injustice and agency that reveals their non propositional and non verbal dimensions

Collins, Iris Vidmar Jovanovic, Mark Alfano, 2023-11-20 What is the importance of trust for human social life What role does trust play in morality in political arrangements and in our attempts to gain knowledge and understand the world When should we trust others and when is withholding trust or mistrusting others warranted While philosophers have recently turned their attention to such questions they have generally overlooked what important thinkers throughout the history of philosophy have said on the topic of trust Edited by David Collins Iris Vidmar Jovanovic and Mark Alfano Perspectives on Trust in the History of Philosophy brings together examinations of the views on trust that can be found in several major philosophers from the ancient world up to the twentieth century and from across the globe With a focus on the moral and social dimensions of trust this collection includes perspectives from Chinese Indian and African philosophies and the contributors examine how thinkers such as Confucius Aristotle Hobbes Hume Smith Kant Nietzsche L gstrup and Murdoch have thought about trust and trustworthiness This book demonstrates that good philosophical work on trust must be historically informed

Categories We Live By Ásta, 2018-07-05 We are women we are men We are refugees single mothers people with disabilities and queers We belong to social categories and they frame our actions self understanding and opportunities But what are social categories How are they created and sustained How does one come to belong to them sta approaches these questions through analytic feminist metaphysics Her theory of social categories centers on an answer to the question what is it for a feature of an individual to be socially meaningful In a careful probing investigation she reveals how social categories are created and sustained and demonstrates their tendency to oppress through examples from current events To this end she offers an account of just what social construction is and how it works in a range of examples that problematize the categories of sex gender and race in particular The main idea is that social categories are conferred upon people sta introduces a conferralist framework in order to articulate a theory of social meaning social construction and most importantly of the construction of sex gender race disability and other social categories
