Handbook of the Sociology of Gender Barbara J. Risman,Carissa M. Froyum,William J. Scarborough,2018-06-05 This handbook provides a comprehensive view of the field of the sociology of gender It presents the most important theories about gender and methods used to study gender as well as extensive coverage of the latest research on gender in the most important areas of social life including gendered bodies sexuality carework paid labor social movements incarceration migration gendered violence and others Building from previous publications this handbook includes a vast array of chapters from leading researchers in the sociological study of gender It synthesizes the diverse field of gender scholarship into a cohesive theoretical framework gender structure theory in order to position the specific contributions of each author chapter as part of a complex and multidimensional gender structure Through this organization of the handbook readers do not only gain tremendous insight from each chapter but they also attain a broader understanding of the way multiple gendered processes are interrelated and mutually constitutive While the specific focus of the handbook is on gender the chapters included in the volume also give significant attention to the interrelation of race class and other systems of stratification as they intersect and implicate gendered processes

Handbook of Marriage and the Family Suzanne K. Steinmetz, Marvin B. Sussman, 2013-11-11 The lucid straightforward Preface of this Handbook by the two editors and the comprehensive perspectives offered in the Introduction by one of them leave little for a Foreword to add It is therefore limited to two relevant but not intrinsically related points vis a vis research on marriage and the family in the interval since the first Handbook Christensen 1964 appeared namely the impact on this research of the politicization of the New Right and of the Feminist Enlightenment beginning in the mid sixties about the time of the first Handbook In the late 1930s Willard Waller noted Fifty years or more ago about 1890 most people had the greatest respect for the institution called the family and wished to learn nothing whatever about it Everything that concerned the life of men and women and their children was shrouded from the light Today much of that has been changed Gone is the concealment of the way in which life begins gone the irrational sanctity of the home The aura of sentiment which once protected the family from discussion clings to it no more We want to learn as much about it as we can and to understand it as thoroughly as possible for there is a rising recognition in America that vast numbers of its families are sick from internal frustrations and from external buffeting We are engaged in the process of reconstructing our family institutions through criticism and discussion 1938 pp 3 4

Improving Educational Gender Equality in Religious Societies Sumaia A. Al-Kohlani, 2018-03-06 In this book Al Kohlani examines fifty five Muslim and non Muslim countries from 1960 to 2010 in response to religious theory that associates certain religions with gender inequality and modernization theory which downplays the role of religion on gender inequity and associates gender inequality with socioeconomic factors The author explores both schools of thought and posits that on average Muslim countries have lower educational equality in comparison to non Muslim countries with less religious constitution An interdisciplinary study drawn from the fields of world politics public policy in education and political religion this book responds not only to debates within academia but also to larger debates in society about the role of religion in the state the specific challenges of the relationship of Islam and the public policies and the relationship between constitution and gender equality
