Gender Differences in Different Contexts Aida Alvinus, 2017-02-01. The development of gender differences as an area of research has been rapid over the last decades. Varieties of studies have focused on the gender differences as well as the similarities of women and men. The common purpose of the research attempt is to find out the possibilities and even the consequences of gender differences and the impact on human beings on one side and social and cultural environment on the other. This book is an attempt to provide theoretical and empirical framework to better understand gender differences in various contexts and on different levels. Therefore the contributions cover an array of themes that span from an individual level to an organizational and societal level.

Interpersonal Communication Pamela J. Kalbfleisch, 2013-09-13. Interpersonal relationships are the core of our societal system and have been since before the dawn of civilization. In today's world, friends, lovers, companions and confidants make valuable contributions to our everyday lives. These are the relationships whose members are not automatically participants as a result of their birth and kin affiliations. The focus is on these relationships that must be forged from the sometimes indifferent and sometimes hostile world. Yet there is still much that is not known about how these relationships evolve, how partners communicate in ongoing relationships, how people keep their relationships together and how they cope when they fall apart. Primary to the focus of this book is the underlying theme of evolving interpersonal relationships from the initial encounter to the mature alliance. The contributors to this volume provide a contemporary perspective for the study of interpersonal relationships. Fresh areas of scholarly inquiry are presented and existing approaches are re-examined. Research in the introductory chapters breaks new ground and appraises the ultimate question of what impact initial interactions have on further relational development. The mid-section of the volume concerns communication issues that confront the members of a relationship in process, focusing on how conflict and jealousy are communicated to a relational partner. This research considers relational development as well as obstacles and barriers to evolving relationships. The concluding chapters probe the question: Ultimately, do all good things have to come to an end? Employing innovative techniques to examine maturing and disengaging relationships, the research presented here focuses on how interpersonal relationships become committed and mature.

Gender, Power, and Communication in Human Relationships Pamela J. Kalbfleisch, Michael J. Cody, 1995. This edited volume establishes a state of the art perspective on theory and research on gender power and communication in human relationships Both theoretical essays and review chapters address issues relevant to female and male differences in power dominance communication equality and expectations beliefs All chapter contributors share two commonalities First each provides a 1990s assessment of power and equality in female and male relationships Second each reviews respective programs of research and focuses attention on the relevance of this research to understanding the relationships of women and men Unique because it incorporates a multidisciplinary approach to the study of gender and the communication of power in human relationships this book includes the original work of intellectuals with national and international reputations in the social sciences The volume provides both scholastic breadth and centralized treatment of issues that form the very foundation of social and personal relationships It will appeal to scholars working in the disciplines of communication and psychology as well as other areas of social science research
