‘Everyday health’, embodiment, and selfhood since 1950 Tracey Loughran, Hannah Froom, Kate Mahoney, Daisy Payling, 2024-10-22. What is the history of everyday health in the postwar world and where might we find it? This volume moves away from top-down histories of health and medicine that focus on states, medical professionals and other experts. Instead, it centres the day-to-day lives of people in diverse contexts from 1950 to the present. Chapters explore how gender, class, race, sexuality, disability and age mediated experiences of health and wellbeing in historical context. The volume foregrounds methodologies for writing bottom-up histories of health, subjectivity and embodiment, offering insights applicable to scholars of times and places beyond those represented in the case studies presented here. Drawing together cutting-edge scholarship, the volume establishes and critically interrogates everyday health as a crucial concept that will shape future histories of health and medicine.

Shaping Sexual Knowledge Lutz Sauerteig, Roger Davidson, 2009-01-13. The history of sex education enables us to gain valuable insights into the cultural constructions of what different societies have defined as normal sexuality and sexual health. Yet the history of sex education has only recently attracted the full attention of historians of modern sexuality. Shaping Sexual Knowledge: A Cultural History of Sex Education in Twentieth Century Europe makes a considerable contribution, not only to the cultural history of sexual enlightenment and identity in modern Europe, but also to the history of childhood and adolescence. The essays collected in this volume treat sex education in the broadest sense, incorporating all aspects of the formal and informal shaping of sexual knowledge and awareness of the young. The volume therefore not only addresses officially sanctioned and regulated sex education delivered within the school system and regulated by the State, and in some cases the Church, but also the content, iconography and experience of sexual enlightenment within the private sphere of the family and as portrayed through the media.
