Visions of the Land Michael A. Bryson,2002-06-29 The work of John Charles Fremont Richard Byrd Charlotte Perkins Gilman John Wesley Powell Susan Cooper Rachel Carson and Loren Eiseley represents a widely divergent body of writing Yet despite their range of genres including exploration narratives technical reports natural histories scientific autobiographies fictional utopias nature writing and popular scientific literature these seven authors produced strikingly connected representations of nature and the practice of science in America from about 1840 to 1970 Michael A Bryson provides a thoughtful examination of the authors their work and the ways in which science and nature unite them Visions of the Land explores how our environmental attitudes have influenced and been shaped by various scientific perspectives from the time of western expansion and geographic exploration in the mid nineteenth century to the start of the contemporary environmental movement in the twentieth century Bryson offers a literary critical analysis of how writers of different backgrounds scientific training and geographic experiences represented nature through various kinds of natural science from natural history to cartography to resource management to ecology and evolution and in the process explored the possibilities and limits of science itself Visions of the Land examines the varied sometimes conflicting but always fascinating ways in which we have defined the relations among science nature language and the human community Ultimately it is an extended meditation on the capacity of using science to live well within nature Education, Arts, and Morality Doris B.

Wallace,2006-01-27 Inspired by Howard Gruber s Evolving Systems Approach these studies explore creativity in several domains The idea that the creative person embodies a system of loosely coupled sub systems knowledge purpose and affect that work together is viewed here in different chapters that explore this concept These include autobiographies of incarcerated youth curricula for moral and civic responsibility changing attitudes of readers to text romance novels as well as case studies of highly creative individuals such as George Bernard Shaw Gruber s approach provides concepts as well as methodological tools which the authors apply to diverse creative processes This book is a valuable resource for undergraduate as well as graduate level students interested in creativity development and education In addition to the intrinsic interest of each chapter the guiding theme of the book is the underlying theory of creativity Gruber s Evolving Systems Approach and illustrates the unusual breadth and flexibility of that theory Digging-Deep John G. Sabol Jr.,2009-09-25 Digging Deep is an excavation of the archaeological site called John Sabol It is an unearthing of the author s memory of experiences of past presences that cuts across space time and culture Water mining operations dust and dirt dogs and wolves and ghosts are seen as important features that are re covered from these memory excavations Some of the recalled practices that are unearthed include an alternative remembrance of trick or treat the multiple symmetrical worlds of history myth and ghosts in Winchester England the haunting nature of archaeological excavations and field surveys the actor s encounters with more than a filmed death scene and a search for a legendary monster in Arkansas All of these memories are perceived as symmetrically interrelated though they originate in different places They are viewed as a form of theatrical ghosting a resonating element that unfolds time as events and activities are framed by their contemporary significance in the author s life In this process of excavation a recurring haunting drama manifests in the life of this archaeologist who also happens to be a cultural anthropologist actor and ghost excavator Encyclopedia of Religion and Nature Bron Taylor,Jeffrey Kaplan,2005-01-01 No Marketing Blurb Modern American Environmentalists George A. Scenes from the High Desert Virginia Kerns, 2010-10-01 If a religion cannot attract and instruct young people it will struggle to survive which is why recreational programs were second only to theological questions in the development of twentieth century Mormonism In this book Richard Ian Kimball explores how Mormon leaders used recreational programs to ameliorate the problems of urbanization and industrialization and to inculcate morals and values in LDS youth As well as promoting sports as a means of physical and spiritual excellence Progressive Era Mormons established a variety of institutions such as the Deseret Gymnasium and camps for girls and boys all designed to compete with more worldly attractions and to socialize adolescents into the faith Kimball employs a wealth of source material including periodicals diaries journals personal papers and institutional records to illuminate this hitherto underexplored aspect of the LDS church In addition to uncovering the historical roots of many Mormon institutions still visible today Sports in Zion is a detailed look at the broader functions of recreation in society
