Ragtime Dudes at the World's Fair Richard Gartee, 2021-01-10 It s 1904 St Louis birthplace of the hottest new music craze Ragtime is hosting a World s Fair that everyone wants to see Three fun loving New York dandies are already planning to attend the Fair when a newspaper photo of them dallying with a colleen from Brooklyn sets a pair of Irish boxers on their trail With the pugilists mere days behind them they hastily hop a train to St Louis Aboard a Pullman sleeper the dandies meet three sisters from New Jersey free thinkers whose view of morality seems to match the dandies own Quickly they pair off in couples for a romantic journey But as the train nears St Louis the sisters reveal they are going to the Fair to meet marriageable titled European aristocrats That obviously precludes the New Yorkers They arrive for opening day of the largest world s fair ever held a dazzling sight Over the next two weeks the dandies keep bumping into the sisters the sisters keep snubbing them and the pursuing boxers keep just missing them As the Irishmen close in the New Yorkers hear of an art colony forming out West and the idea of opening an emporium in distant New Mexico seems as brilliant as the Fair s electric lights The men rush to buy enough goods to start a business and get out of town before the boxers find them

The Studio, 1893 Monet's Minutes André Dombrowski, 2023-01-01 A stunning exploration of the vital links between Claude Monet s Impressionism and the time technologies that helped define modernity in the nineteenth century Monet's Minutes is a revelatory account charting the relationship between the works of Claude Monet 1840-1926 founder of French Impressionism and one of the world's best known painters and the modern experience of time. Andr Dombrowski illuminates Monet's celebration of instantaneity in the context of the late nineteenth century time technologies that underwrote it. Monet's version of Impressionism demonstrated an acute awareness of the particularly modern pressures of time but until now scholars have not examined the histories and technologies of time and timekeeping that informed Impressionism's major stylistic shifts. Arguing that the fascination with instantaneity rejected the dulling cultures of newly routinized and standardized time, Monet's Minutes traces the evolution of Monet's art to what were then seismic shifts in the shape of time itself. In each chapter Dombrowski focuses on the connections between a set of Monet's works and a specific technology or experience of time while providing the voices of period critics responding to Impressionism. Grounded in exceptional research and analyses, this book offers new interpretations of key works by Monet and a fresh perspective on late nineteenth century art society and modern temporality. Bibliographic Guide to Art and Architecture New York Public Library. Possibilities Mind Bernard G. Berenson, 2001. With the mathematics of inequality. The Possibilities Mind gives us the first real theory of science for understanding and applying the unfinished state of creation. From the groundbreaking series by Dr Robert Carkhuff and Dr Bernard Berenson. The Ekphrastic Encounter in Contemporary British Poetry and Elsewhere David Kennedy, 2016-03-23. Examining a wide range of ekphrastic poems, David Kennedy argues that contemporary British poets writing out of both mainstream and avant garde traditions challenge established critical models of ekphrasis with work that is more complex than representational or counter representational responses to paintings in museums and galleries. Even when the poem appears to be straightforwardly representational, it is often selectively so, producing a virtual work that doesn't exist in actuality. Poets such as Kelvin Corcoran, Peter Hughes, and Gillian Clarke, Kennedy suggests, relish the ekphrastic encounter as one in which word and image become mutually destabilizing. Similarly, other poets engage with the source artwork as a performance that participates in the ethical realm. Showing that the ethical turn in ekphrastic poetry is often powerfully gendered, Kennedy also surveys a range of ekphrastic poets from the Renaissance and nineteenth century to trace a tradition of female ekphrastic poetry that includes Pauline Stainer and Frances Presley. Kennedy concludes with a critique of ekphrastic exercises in creative writing teaching, proposing that ekphrastic writing that takes greater account of performance, spectatorship, may offer more fruitful models for the classroom than the narrativizing of images.

Figuratively Speaking Irene Wai Lwin Moe, 2017-05-06. Figuratively Speaking: Contemporary Naive Art from Finland is an introduction to a new wave of popular art in Finland. The reader will meet ten artists who have renewed, revived, and reformed the concept of Naive art. Naivism is the lingua franca for all sorts of people. It does not require a guide or an interpreter to be understood. The artist always hides some jewels in the artwork. A painting or a sculpture is a mirror and a door. It reflects the time and, more importantly, the viewer's world. The artist may have a message or he may have been on a philosophical quest but the artwork when it is finished and hangs on a gallery wall lives an independent life Whatever the intentions of the artist were the artworks comes to life only when someone looks at it

Reconciling Art and Technology

Subrata Dasgupta, 2024-05-14 This book examines two venerable cultures art and technology and uses the young interdisciplinary of cognitive history combined with case studies of both ancient and modern artifacts to explore and unveil some of the bridges by which this reconciliation of two seemingly distant and oppositional cultures can be effected Art and technology are commonly regarded as oppositional While both are concerned with made things artifacts and both have their origins in pre literate antiquity the primary purposes they are intended for are quite distinct the artifacts of technology serve utilitarian purposes while those of art serve affective needs This opposition between art and technology notably argued by such scholars as Lewis Mumford and George Kubler is challenged in this book For when we consider art and technology as creative phenomena then many significant interesting and often subtle commonalities emerge whereby a reconciliation a unity of these two great cultures seems possible This book utilizes case studies of both ancient and modern artifacts ranging from the Nataraja sculpture of ancient India a great astronomical clock of ancient China and Japanese Samurai swordmaking through Gothic cathedrals and Renaissance paintings of Europe to English Elizabethan machinery to the French Impressionists to modernist concrete structures and paintings in both East and West This book will be of interest to students and professional scholars interested in the histories of art and technology cultural history and creativity studies
