

The Marxist Theory

--Marx created the theory of Marxism which believed that the motive for all social and political activities was for gaining and keeping economic power.

--Theories of Marxism are categorized into a group called "Dialectal Materialism" which consists of lots of thoughts and the way one looks at life. As well as one's outlook and emotions on different things.

--Marxists believe in "Empirical Evidence" which consists of using the truth in every aspect of a situation. This methodology was led by Marx and Engels. However later they reveal that not all of their "theories" were true and that they were based more on scientific theory rather than concrete facts.

--Another component of Marxism is Determinism which explains that all processes are pre-thought and determined by natural laws. Therefore all processes should be able to be predicted.
