Ptolemy39s Geography:

Mapping Medieval Geographies Keith D. Lilley, 2014-01-09 Mapping Medieval Geographies explores the ways in which geographical knowledge ideas and traditions were formed in Europe during the Middle Ages Leading scholars reveal the connections between Islamic Christian Biblical and Classical geographical traditions from Antiquity to the later Middle Ages and Renaissance The book is divided into two parts Part I focuses on the notion of geographical tradition and charts the evolution of celestial and earthly geography in terms of its intellectual visual and textual representations whilst Part II explores geographical imaginations that is to say those imagined geographies that came into being as a result of everyday spatial and spiritual experience Bringing together approaches from art literary studies intellectual history and historical geography this pioneering volume will be essential reading for scholars concerned with visual and textual modes of geographical representation and transmission as well as the spaces and places of knowledge creation and consumption

Framing the World Margaret Small, 2020 A timely examination of the ways in which sixteenth century understandings of the world were framed by classical theory

The Great Rift Michael E. Hobart, 2018-04-16 Michael Hobart locates the great rift between science and religion not in ideological disagreement but in advances in mathematics and symbolic representation that moved past language to open new windows onto the natural world His work connects the cognitive breakthroughs of the past with intellectual debates ongoing in the twenty first century

A History of All Nations, from the Earliest Periods to the Present Time Samuel Griswold Goodrich, 1854

A History of the World in 12 Maps Jerry Brotton, 2014-10-28 A New York Times Bestseller Maps allow the armchair traveler to roam the world the diplomat to argue his points the ruler to administer his country the warrior to plan his campaigns and the propagandist to boost his cause rich and beautiful Wall Street Journal Throughout history maps have been fundamental in shaping our view of the world and our place in it But far from being purely scientific objects maps of the world are unavoidably ideological and subjective intimately bound up with the systems of power and authority of particular times and places Mapmakers do not simply represent the world they construct it out of the ideas of their age In this scintillating book Jerry Brotton examines the significance of 12 maps from the almost mystical representations of ancient history to the satellite derived imagery of today He vividly recreates the environments and circumstances in which each of the maps was made showing how each conveys a highly individual view of the world Brotton shows how each of his maps both influenced and reflected contemporary events and how by considering it in all its nuances and omissions we can better understand the world that produced it Although the way we map our surroundings is more precise than ever before Brotton argues that maps today are no more definitive or objective than they have ever been Readers of this beautifully illustrated and masterfully argued book will never look at a map in quite the same way again A fascinating and panoramic new history of the cartographer's art The Guardian The intellectual background to these images is conveyed with beguiling erudition There is nothing more subversive than a map The Spectator A mesmerizing and beautifully illustrated book The Telegraph

UNESCO General History of Africa, Vol. I, Abridged Edition Jacqueline Ki-Zerbo, Unesco. International Scientific Committee for the Drafting of a General History of Africa, 1990 This volume covers the period from the end of the Neolithic era to the beginning of the seventh century of our era This lengthy period includes the civilization of Ancient Egypt the history of Nubia Ethiopia North Africa and the Sahara as well as of the other regions of the continent and its islands Publisher's description

Encountering Water in Early Modern Europe and Beyond Lindsay Starkey, 2025-10-01 Both the Christian Bible and Aristotle's works suggest that water should entirely flood the earth Though many ancient medieval and early modern Europeans relied on these works to understand and explore the relationships between water and earth sixteenth century Europeans particularly were especially concerned with why dry land existed This book investigates why they were so interested in water's failure to submerge the earth when their predecessors had not been Analyzing biblical commentaries as well as natural philosophical geographical and cosmographical texts from these periods Lindsay Starkey shows that European sea voyages to the southern hemisphere combined with the traditional methods of European scholarship and religious reformations led sixteenth century Europeans to reinterpret water and earth's ontological and spatial relationships The manner in which they did so also sheds light on how we can respond to our current water crisis before it is too late
