extraordinarily accomplished book written by one of Britain's leading commentators on social theory provides a peerless account of the French tradition. The book provides a systematic account of French social theory from the aftermath of the French Revolution (St Simon, Bazard and Comte) to the contemporary scene dominated by Kristeva, Deleuze, Bourdieu and Baudrillard. It divides French social theory into three logically coherent cycles: 1800-80 positivist, 1880-1940 anthropological, 1940-2000 Marxist. It provides a detailed guide to the three phases of postwar French social theory: existential, structural and post-structural, and situates the discussions of individuals and schools in the relevant social and political contexts. The book is a masterpiece of erudition and scholarship but is written throughout in an engaging and informative style. It will be required reading for anyone interested in social theory and sociology.

Durkheim and Foucault Mark Sydney Cladis, 1999. Education and punishment are two crucial sites of the disciplinary society approached by Durkheim and Foucault from different perspectives but also in a shared concern with what kind of society might constitute an emancipatory alternative. This collection of essays explores the issues that are involved and that are illuminated through a comparison and contrast of two social theorists who at first sight might seem an unlikely couple: Durkheim and Foucault.

Emile Durkheim W. S. F. Pickering, 2001. A five-volume collection of scholarly journal articles and chapters from books covering the subject of Emile Durkheim's work. The five volumes are thematically organized in the following sections: Volume I 1. Durkheim: The man himself 2. General sociology. Volume II 3. Religion 4. Epistemology and the philosophy of science. Volume III 5. Morality and ethics 6. Political sociology. Volume IV 7. Suicide and anomie 8. Division of labour and economics 9. Education.

Emile Durkheim on Crime and Punishment (An Exegesis) Seamus Breathnach, 2002. In civilised society the rising crime rate is a thing of terror. Clever governments manipulate it, the public messianically fear it and the social scientists misunderstand it. In the face of such confusion Emile Durkheim reminds us that without a crime rate society is utterly impossible; it cannot constitute itself, maintain its solidarity or develop morally. In short, we cannot live with or without a crime rate. This dissertation is an exegetical work and attempts to unpack the Criminology of Emile Durkheim. It is divided into six chapters, five of which are expository, the sixth critical. It begins with a look in overview at Durkheim's philosophy and how it underpins his theories of crime and punishment. chap 1. By their nature, theories of crime and punishment chap 2. presuppose the more primary theoretical formulations, both of evolution and society chap 3. the one answering the theoretical time requirement, the other the spatial requirement and each symbiotically related to the other in an integral theory of social evolution. Durkheim's treatment of the modern State and the Conscience Collective as an organ of social control chap 4. is of primary importance, not least because it underpins his treatment of the broader issues such as the connection between civil and criminal law, morality and authority chap 5. Since there is hardly a serious Durkheimian proposition that is reducible to a provable or an uncontroversial fact chap 6. it can hardly surprise us that on the one hand he attracted such copious criticism and on the other has remained perhaps the most popular sociologist of the twentieth and twenty-first centuries.
