Out of the Mainstream Rutgerd Boelens, David Getches, Armando Guevara-Gil, 2010-02-26 Water is not only a source of life and culture It is also a source of power conflicting interests and identity battles Rights to materially access culturally organize and politically control water resources are poorly understood by mainstream scientific approaches and hardly addressed by current normative frameworks These issues become even more challenging when law and policy makers and dominant power groups try to grasp contain and handle them in multicultural societies The struggles over the uses meanings and appropriation of water are especially well illustrated in Andean communities and local water systems of Peru Chile Ecuador and Bolivia as well as in Native American communities in south western USA The problem is that throughout history these nation states have attempted to civilize and bring into the mainstream the different cultures and peoples within their borders instead of understanding context and harnessing the strengths and potentials of diversity This book examines the multi scale struggles for cultural justice and socio economic re distribution that arise as Latin American communities and user federations seek access to water resources and decision making power regarding their control and management It is set in the dynamic context of unequal globalizing power relations politics of scale and identity environmental encroachment and the increasing presence of extractive industries that are creating additional pressures on local livelihoods While much of the focus of the book is on the Andean Region a number of comparative chapters are also included These address issues such as water rights and defence strategies in neighbouring countries and those of Native American people in the southern USA as well as state reform and multi culturalism across Latin and Native America and the use of international standards in struggles for indigenous water rights This book shows that against all odds people are actively contesting neoliberal globalization and water power plays In doing so they construct new hybrid water rights systems livelihoods cultures and hydro political networks and dynamically challenge the mainstream powers and politics

Political Ecology of Tourism Mary Mostafanezhad, Roger Norum, Eric J. Shelton, Anna Thompson-Carr, 2016-01-08 Why has political ecology been assigned so little attention in tourism studies despite its broad and critical interrogation of environment and politics As the first full length treatment of a political ecology of tourism the collection addresses this lacuna and calls for the further establishment of this emerging interdisciplinary subfield Drawing on recent trends in geography anthropology and environmental and tourism studies Political Ecology of Tourism Communities Power and the Environment employs a political ecology approach to the analysis of tourism through three interrelated themes Communities and Power Conservation and Control and Development and Conflict While geographically broad in scope with chapters that span Central and South America to Africa and South Southeast and East Asia to Europe and Greenland the collection illustrates how tourism related environmental challenges are shared across prodigious geographical distances while also attending to the nuanced ways they materialize in local contexts and therefore demand the historically situated place based and multi scalar approach of political ecology This collection advances our understanding of the role of political economic and environmental concerns in tourism practice It offers readers a political ecology framework from which to address tourism related issues and themes such as development identity politics environmental subjectivities environmental degradation land and resources conflict and indigenous ecologies Finally the collection is bookended by a pair of essays from two of the most distinguished scholars working in the subfield Rosaleen Duffy foreword and James Igoe afterword This collection will be valuable reading for scholars and practitioners alike who share a critical interest in the intersection of tourism politics and the environment

Making Place through Ritual Lea Schulte-Droesch, 2018-09-10 Indian indigenous societies are especially known for their elaborate rituals which offer an excellent chance for studying religion as practice However few detailed ethnographic works exist on the ritual practices of these societies Based on long term ethnographic fieldwork in Jharkhand India this book offers insights into contemporary previously not described rituals of the Santal one of the largest indigenous societies of Central India Its focus lies on culturally specific notions of place as articulated and created during these rituals In three chapters the book discusses how the Santal make place on different local regional and global levels through their rituals They reaffirm their ancestral roots in their land during large sacrificial rituals They offer sacrifices to the dangerous deities of the forest in exchange for rain And they claim their region to be a Santal region through large festivals celebrated in sacred groves which they link to national and global discourses of indigeneity and environmentalism Through an analysis of the rituals of a specific society this book addresses broader issues It presents an example of how to study religion as a practical activity It portrays culture specific perceptions of the environment And last the book underlines the potential that lies in choosing place as a lens to study social phenomena in context

Indigenous Peoples' Cultural Heritage Alexandra Xanthaki, Sanna Valkonen, Leena Heinämäki, Piia Kristiina Nuorgam, 2017-10-17 Indigenous rights to heritage have only recently become the subject of academic scholarship This collection aims to fill that gap by offering the fruits of a unique conference on this topic organised by the University of Lapland with the help of the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights The conference made clear that important information on Indigenous cultural heritage has remained unexplored or has not been adequately linked with specific actors such as WIPO or specific issues such as free prior and informed consent Indigenous leaders explained the impact that disrespect of their cultural heritage has had on their identity well being and development Experts in social sciences explained the intricacies of indigenous cultural heritage Human rights scholars talked about the inability of current international law to fully address the injustices towards indigenous communities Representatives of International organisations discussed new positive developments This wealth of experiences materials ideas and knowledge is contained in this important volume
