Forest Quality Nigel Dudley, Rodolphe Schlaepfer, William Jackson, Jean-Paul Jeanrenaud, Sue Stolton, 2012-04-27 Deforestation is frequently a topic of discussion in the environmental arena but it is not just the number of trees that matters the quality of the forest is also important Even where the forest area is stable or increasing there are often rapid changes in its character Natural forests are being replaced by plantations or by intensively managed forests Around the world forests are becoming younger and less diverse in both species and structure this has important impacts for biodiversity and also affects many human values In this groundbreaking text forest quality is discussed as a useful new concept in forest conservation and management Three main assessment criteria are used authenticity environmental benefits and social and economic benefits The book describes a methodology and protocol for collecting and analysing data and outlines in detail the approach required with each indicator The authors advocate a landscape approach to assessment and demonstrate how assessment works through a series of case studies that show how this approach can be used in many ways to help forest conservation management This hands on manual is for professionals involved in forestry conservation and resource management worldwide and contains case study material from Europe Asia Africa and Latin America that demonstrates practical uses of the new landscape approach to forest conservation Published with IUCN and WWF

Trees as Symbol and Metaphor in the Middle Ages Michael D. J. Bintley, Pippa Saloni, 2024 WINNER AFCEMS Prize 2024 Highlights human encounters with the forest and its trees at the time of the European Middle Ages when their lofty boughs were weighted with meaning Forests with their interlacing networks of trees and secret patterns of communication are powerful entities for thinking with A majestic terrestrial community of arboreal others their presence echoes entangles and resonates deeply with the human world The chapters interrogate the pre Anthropocene environment reflecting on trees as metaphors for kinship and knowledge as they appear in literary historical art historical and philosophical sources They examine images of trees and trees in themselves across a range of environmental material and intellectual contexts and consider how humans used arboreal and rhizomatic forms to negotiate bodies of knowledge and processes of transition Looking beyond medieval Europe they include discussion of parallel developments in the Islamic world and that of the M ori the indigenous people of New Zealand

The Tapestry of Culture Abraham Rosman, Paula G. Rubel, Maxine Weisgrau, 2017-01-12 The most exciting thing about anthropology is that it enables the student to become acquainted with people of different cultures The Tapestry of Culture provides the student with the basic concepts necessary to understand these different cultures while showing that cultural variations occur within certain limits Though the forces of globalization have caused cultures of the world around us to become increasingly similar the book shows that people nevertheless cling to ethnic identities and their cultural distinctiveness The tenth edition of this popular textbook incorporates new material throughout such as ethnographic examples in every chapter strengthened discussions of gender transnationalism and globalization and more To enhance the experience of both instructors and students the tenth edition is accompanied by a learning package that includes an instructor s manual with outlines key terms discussion questions lists of films and other resources and more a test bank and a
