Ellis,2018-03-20 Desert Borderland investigates the historical processes that transformed political identity in the easternmost reaches of the Sahara Desert in the half century before World War I Adopting a view from the margins illuminating the little known history of the Egyptian Libyan borderland the book challenges prevailing notions of how Egypt and Libya were constituted as modern territorial nation states Matthew H Ellis draws on a wide array of archival sources to reconstruct the multiple layers and meanings of territoriality in this desert borderland Throughout the decades a heightened awareness of the existence of distinctive Egyptian and Ottoman Libyan territorial spheres began to develop despite any clear cut boundary markers or cartographic evidence National territoriality was not simply imposed on Egypt's western or Ottoman Libya's eastern domains by centralizing state power Rather it developed only through a complex and multilayered process of negotiation with local groups motivated by their own local conceptions of space sovereignty and political belonging By the early twentieth century distinctive Egyptian and Libyan territorial domains emerged what would ultimately become the modern nation states of Egypt and Libya Pilgrims and Pilgrimages as Peacemakers in Christianity, Judaism and Islam Antón M. Vote of Faith Maya Mayblin,2024-12-03 A richly cinematic and compelling look at priest politicians in Brazil and their religious and secular entanglements What does desire have to reveal about the nature of power Through a detailed focus on the lives and loves of Catholic priests as they enter the profane world of party politics Maya Mayblin explores the complex intersection of democracy patriarchy and religiosity in Brazil For over a hundred years Catholic priests have been running for government office challenging Brazil's constitutional separation of church and state and its self image as a modern secular nation Priests find themselves walking a tightrope between religious and secular demands in one of Brazil's poorest regions Vote of Faith is a beautifully crafted ethnography based upon decades of fieldwork that tells the story of the ambiguous and frequently transgressive relationship between Catholicism and state governance a relationship ultimately mediated by kinship gender and sexuality For the protagonists of Vote of Faith democracy becomes a sphere in which divine will and human ambition compete with one another a tension embedded in the vernacular concept of faith In the Brazilian context faith signifies a complex set of assumptions about the nature of the world assumptions derived not just from Christianity but also from Afro Brazilian and secular ideas about power causation and human agency In combining ethnographic theological and feminist perspectives Vote of Faith places desiring bodies at the very heart of Catholicism's complex connection to multiple forms of power and offers provocative new angles on the question of the secular The first work by an anthropologist to explore the unique phenomenon of the mayor priest this book offers an essential new angle on emerging debates about secularity as the condition of separation of the religious from the political Brimming with originality Vote of Faith is required reading for those interested in the gendered and sexual dimensions of the secular the plasticity of religion and the fundamental nature of the world's largest religious institution

Robert Fergusson and the Scottish Periodical Press Rhona Brown, 2016-04-08 Though Robert Fergusson published only one collection of poems during his lifetime he was a fixture in the Scottish periodical press Rhona Brown explores Fergusson's poetic output in its immediate periodical context enabling a new understanding of Fergusson's contribution to poetry that also enlarges on our understanding of the Scottish periodical press Focusing on the development of his career in Walter Ruddiman's Weekly Magazine Brown situates Fergusson's poetry alongside contemporary events that expose Fergusson's preoccupations with the frivolities of fashion theatrical culture the economic status of Scottish manufacture and politics At the same time Brown offers fascinating insights into the political climate of Enlightenment Scotland and shows the Weekly Magazine in relationship to the larger Scottish and British periodical milieus She concludes by exploring reactions to

Fergusson's death in the British periodical presses arguing that contrary to critical consensus the poet's death was ignored neither by his own country nor by the larger literary community      A Sketch of Semitic Origins George Aaron Barton, 1902
