Sacreds Of The East 1898:

The Mysteries of Mithras Payam Nabarz,2005-06-09 The Mysteries of Mithras presents a revival of this ancient Roman mystery religion popular from the late second century B C Payam Nabarz reveals the history and tenets of Mithraism its connections to Christianity Islam and Freemasonry and the modern neo pagan practice of Mithraism today Included are seven of its initiatory rituals Friedrich Max Müller and the Sacred Books of the East Arie L. Molendijk,2016-07-21 This volume offers a critical analysis of one the most ambitious editorial projects of late Victorian Britain the edition of the fifty substantial volumes of the Sacred Books of the East 1879 1910 The series was edited and conceptualized by Friedrich Max Müller 1823 1900 a world famous German born philologist orientalist and religious scholar Müller and his influential Oxford colleagues secured financial support from the India Office of the British Empire and from Oxford University Press Arie L. Molendijk documents how the series has become a landmark in the development of the humanities especially the study of religion and language in the second half of the nineteenth century The edition also contributed significantly to the Western perception of the religious or even mystic East which was textually represented in English translations The series was a token of the rise of big science and textualized the East by selecting their sacred books and bringing them under the power of western scholarship History of the Syrian Nation and the Old Evangelical-apostolic Church of the East, from Remote Antiquity to the Present Time George David Malech,1910 The Encyclopedia of Sunday Schools and Religious Education John Thomas McFarland,Benjamin Severance Winchester,1915 Luzac's Oriental List and Book Review,1899 Sacred Books of the East F. Max Muller,2001-10-26 This is a subset of the Sacred Books of the East Series which includes translations of all the most important works of the seven non Christian religions which have exercised a profound influence on the civilizations of the continent of Asia Keramat, Sacred Relics and Forbidden Idols in Singapore William L. Gibson,2024-08-29 Keramat holy graves and shrines represent physical markers of Singapore s history as a multi ethnic maritime trading center They offered sanctified spaces not only for Muslims but also for the entire community in which they emerged Maintained by self appointed caretakers the stories of keramat often interweave fact with folklore that mirror the history and sensibilities of the community While once an abundant part of the social landscape of Singapore many keramat were destroyed during the post independence rush to develop These keramat now face a second vanishing with memories of them fading as caretakers and community members age and pass away In parallel many modern Muslims consider keramat as a form of shirk or polytheism and tacitly consent to their destruction This book concludes by critically examining the often tense relationship between keramat and authority both secular and religious from colonial to modern times The dilemmas of grappling with puritanical norms and grassroots elaborations in varying modes of preservation are investigated using case studies from Singapore and the wider region A vital resource for scholars this work contributes to a people s history of Singapore one that both deepens and problematizes official historical accounts The Sacred Books of the East Friedrich Max Müller, 1910 The Routledge Handbook of Identity and the Environment in the Classical and Medieval Worlds Rebecca Futo Kennedy, Molly Jones-Lewis, 2016-01-08

The Routledge Handbook of Identity and the Environment in the Classical and Medieval Worlds explores how environment was thought to shape ethnicity and identity discussing developments in early natural philosophy and historical ethnographies. Defining environment broadly to include not only physical but also cultural environments, natural and constructed, the volume considers the multifarious ways in which environment was understood to shape the culture and physical characteristics of peoples as well as how the ancients manipulated their environments to achieve a desired identity. This diverse collection includes studies not only of the Greco-Roman world but also ancient China and the European Jewish and Arab inheritors and transmitters of classical thought. In recent years, work in this subject has been confined mostly to the discussion of texts that reflect an approach to the barbarian as other. The Routledge Handbook of Identity and the Environment in the Classical and Medieval Worlds takes the discussion of ethnicity on a fresh course, contextualising the concept of the barbarian within rational discourses such as cartography, medicine, and mathematical sciences, an approach that allows us to more clearly discern the varied and nuanced approaches to ethnic identity which abounded in antiquity. The innovative and thought-provoking material in this volume realises new directions in the study of identity in the Classical and Medieval worlds.
