SADDLE RIGGING

Three Quarter Dee Ring Rigging

Three quarters double rigging is still a favorite of many riders. This rigging is set back under the stirrup leathers and fenders and positions the saddle forward on the horse's withers.

Full Double Rigging

This is widely used by professional ropers. Full double rig positions the dee ring directly under the front of the tree.

Suffering in Silence Jochen Schleese,2014-09-15

Humans and horses have been joined for thousands of years and for much of that time one thing has served as the primary point of physical contact between them the saddle

However for many horses and many riders the saddle has been no less than a refined means of torture

Horses have long suffered from tree points impeding the movement of their shoulder blades too narrow gullet channels damaging the muscles and nerves along the vertebrae and too long panels putting harmful pressure on the reflex point in the loin area

Male riders saddle up despite riding related pain and the potential for serious side effects such as impotence while female riders endure backache slipped discs and bladder infections to name just a few common issues

We must ask ourselves How much better could we ride and how much better could our horses perform if our saddles fit optimally

If they accommodated the horse s unique conformation and natural asymmetry

If they were built for the differing anatomy of men and women

The answers to all these questions are right here right now in this book
