Laure Delcour, 2016-04-01 While the European Union EU is widely perceived as a model for regional integration the encouragement of regional co operation also ranks high among its foreign policy priorities Drawing on a wealth of sources and extensive fieldwork conducted in the Commonwealth of Independent States CIS Laure Delcour questions the pursuit of this external objective in EU policies implemented in the CIS and the existence of an EU regional vision in the post Soviet area She asks does the recent compartmentalization of EU policies correspond to a growing fragmentation of the former Soviet Union that cannot be considered as a region anymore Does it rather reflect the EU s own interests in the area Interested in exposing why the EU has not pursued a strategy of region building in the post Soviet area Delcour examines the disintegration dynamics affecting the area following the collapse of the USSR the interplay between different actors and levels of action in EU foreign policy making and the role of other region builders She takes a closer look at the strategic partnership with Russia European Neighbourhood Policy Eastern Partnership and Black Sea Synergy as a capability test for the European foreign policy to promote its foreign policy priorities and to raise a distinctive profile in the international arena Russian Energy in a Changing World Jakub M. Godzimirski, 2016-03-23 For a long time Russia s position as a key global energy player has enhanced Moscow s international economic and political influence whilst causing concern amongst other states fearful of becoming too dependent on Russia as an energy supplier The Global Financial Crisis shook this established image of Russia as an indispensable energy superpower immune to negative external influences and revealed the full extent of Russia s dependence on oil and gas for economic and political influence This led to calls from within the country for a new approach where energy resources were no longer regarded wholly as an asset but also a potential curse resulting in an over reliance on one sector thwarting modernization of the economy and the country as a whole In this fascinating and timely volume leading Russian and Western scholars examine various aspects of Russian energy policy and the opportunities and constraints that influence the choices made by the country s energy decision makers Contributors focus on Russia s energy relations with the rest of the world alongside internal debates about the need for diversification and modernisation in a changing economy country and world system where overdependence on energy commodities has become a key concern for customer and supplier alike Cumulated Index to the Books ,1999 HMSO Agency Catalogue Great Britain.
