studies ranging from hospitality to seed swapping and from indigenous land rights to alcohol consumption In each chapter a different crisis or vulnerability frames and shapes the study allowing contributors to unpick the ways in which crisis and sharing relate to each other in real life The book is divided into three thematic sections Following an extended introduction to the themes and ideas of the book by the editors the first section foregrounds the shaping of sharing practices by already existing or anticipated crises The second section focuses on the lived relations between sharing and economic practice In the third section authors conclude the book by exploring the possibilities and challenges for creating alternative economic forms grounded in practices of sharing This edited volume makes a major original contribution towards academic understandings of sharing economies in the context of crises It is suitable for both students and academics who are interested in political economy economic geography and consumption
