

A 19th-century landscape painting. A vibrant rainbow arches from the top right corner down towards a river valley. The valley is filled with a herd of cattle grazing on a grassy slope. In the background, a large, rocky hill or mountain rises, its slopes covered in sparse vegetation. The sky is a mix of blue and soft, hazy clouds. The overall style is characteristic of 19th-century landscape art, with a focus on natural beauty and a sense of tranquility.

Sharing Traditions Five Black Artists In Nineteenth Century America:

Sharing Traditions National Museum of American Art (U.S.), Lynda Roscoe Hartigan, 1985 The lives and work of 5 black American painters and sculptors of the nineteenth century are examined SHARING TRADITIONS Lynda Roscoe Hartigan, 1985 Sharing Traditions National Museum of American Art (U.S.), 1985 Race and Racism in Nineteenth-Century Art Naurice Frank Woods Jr., 2021-06-28 Painters Robert Duncanson ca 1821 1872 and Edward Bannister 1828 1901 and sculptor Mary Edmonia Lewis ca 1844 1907 each became accomplished African American artists But as emerging art makers of color during the antebellum period they experienced numerous incidents of racism that severely hampered their pursuits of a profession that many in the mainstream considered the highest form of social cultivation Despite barriers imposed upon them due to their racial inheritance these artists shared a common cause in demanding acceptance alongside their white contemporaries as capable painters and sculptors on local regional and international levels Author Naurice Frank Woods Jr provides an in depth examination of the strategies deployed by Duncanson Bannister and Lewis that enabled them not only to overcome prevailing race and gender inequality but also to achieve a measure of success that eventually placed them in the top rank of nineteenth century American art Unfortunately the racism that hampered these three artists throughout their careers ultimately denied them their rightful place as significant contributors to the development of American art Dominant art historians and art critics excluded them in their accounts of the period In this volume Woods restores their artistic legacies and redeems their memories introducing these significant artists to rightful new audiences Sharing Traditions National Museum of American Art (U.S.), 1985 Blacks and Blackness in European Art of the Long Nineteenth Century Adrienne L. Childs, 2017-07-05 Compelling and troubling colorful and dark black figures served as the quintessential image of difference in nineteenth century European art the essays in this volume further the investigation of constructions of blackness during this period This collection marks a phase in the scholarship on images of blacks that moves beyond undifferentiated binaries like negative and positive that fail to reveal complexities contradictions and ambiguities Essays that cover the late eighteenth through the early twentieth century explore the visibility of blackness in anti slavery imagery black women in Orientalist art race and beauty in fin de siècle photography the French brand of blackface minstrelsy and a set of little known images of an African model by Edvard Munch In spite of the difficulty of resurrecting black lives in nineteenth century Europe one essay chronicles the rare instance of an American artist of color in mid nineteenth century Europe With analyses of works ranging from Gault's Raft of the Medusa to portraits of the American actor Ira Aldridge this volume provides new interpretations of nineteenth century representations of blacks Resources in Education, 1995 Fugitive Science Britt Rusert, 2017-04-18 Fugitive Science excavates this story uncovering the dynamic scientific engagements and experiments of African American writers performers and other cultural producers who mobilized natural science and produced alternative knowledges in the quest for and name of freedom Literary and cultural critics have a particularly important role to play in uncovering the history of fugitive science since these engagements and experiments often happened not in the laboratory or the university but in print on stage in the garden church parlor and in other cultural spaces and productions Routinely excluded from the official spaces of scientific learning and training black cultural actors transformed the spaces of the everyday into laboratories of knowledge and experimentation Introduction A to Z of American Women in the Visual Arts Carol Kort,Liz Sonneborn,2014-05-14 Presents biographical profiles of American women of achievement in the field of visual arts including birth and death dates major accomplishments and historical influence Critical Issues In American Art Mary Ann Calo,2018-02-12 This anthology of essays on different critical approaches and methodologies for the analysis and interpretation of American art and artists is designed for students and teachers in American art history and American studies programs It contains twenty selections from academic journals on American art from colonial times to 1940 Mary Ann Calo provides an introduction to the anthology explaining its purpose and organization and each selection has a brief introduction about its main focus and scholarly approach These case studies show the diversity of scholarly thinking about interpreting American works of art which should be useful for teachers and comprehensible and interesting for students This anthology contains twenty articles on American art from colonial times to 1940 The selections are mainly from academic journals and aim to provide the student and teacher with different critical approaches and methodologies for the analysis and interpretation of American art and artists Mary Ann Calo s preface to the anthology explains its purpose and organization and each article will have a brief introduction about its main focus and scholarly approach This text meets the need in American art history studies for an anthology of essays on critical approaches and methodologies
