Ira now fights against everything that Fred Rollins stands for and he starts to bring justice back from near annihilation. Doing the Right Thing Marybeth Gasman, 2024-08-20 An honest confrontation of systemic racism in faculty hiring and what to do about it. While colleges and universities have been lauded for increasing student diversity these same institutions have failed to achieve any comparable diversity among their faculty. In 2017 of the nation's full time tenure track and tenured faculty only 3 percent each were Black men, Black women, Hispanic men and Hispanic women. Only 6 percent were Asian Pacific Islander men, 5 percent were Asian Pacific Islander women and 1 percent were American Indian Alaska Native. Why are the numbers so abysmal? In Doing the Right Thing Marybeth Gasman takes a hard insightful look at the issues surrounding the recruitment and hiring of faculty of color. Relying on national data and interviews with provosts, deans and department chairs from sixty major universities, Gasman documents the institutional forces stymieing faculty diversification and she makes the case for how such deficiencies can and should be rectified. Even as institutions publicly champion inclusive excellence and the number of doctoral students of color increases, Gasman reveals the entrenched constraints contributing to the faculty status quo. Impediments to progress include the alleged trade off between quality and diversity, the power of pedigree, the rigidity of academic pipelines, failures of administrative leadership, lack of accountability among administration and faculty, and the opacity and arbitrariness of the recruitment and hiring process. Gasman contends that leaders must acknowledge institutional failures of inclusion, pervasive systemic racism and biases that restrict people of color from pursuing faculty careers. Recognizing that individuals from all backgrounds are essential to the creation and teaching of knowledge, Doing the Right Thing puts forth a concrete call for colleges and universities to take action and do better.
