Our Own War Fred Bonisch,2006-08 It is 1943 and the big war in Europe is now in its fourth year The Allies have begun to take the fight to Germany and bombing raids on German cities are now an almost daily and nightly occurrence As cities are being destroyed panic stricken survivors are frantically searching for relatives to find shelter with Refugees driven out of recently occupied Russian territories in the east are now arriving with only small pieces of luggage as their only possessions and they are in desperate need of places to stay Our small house which we already shared with another family soon nearly doubles its occupancy as desperate relatives in need of shelter kept arriving All eligible men are away fighting at one of Hitler s many fronts The overwhelming need to support this effort has left the country drained of nearly everything and has forced mothers alone to protect and provide for their families during this most difficult period of history Fear hunger and the struggle to survive have become a way of life As children we did not always understand the serious time in which we lived however we learned to assess the fear from the expressions on our mother s faces especially so during the frequent air raids Often it was their despair that we quietly observed while they struggled with the constant inability to adequately provide for their families In late1943 my family received the news that Dad had recently become a prisoner of war By late1944 it became clear that Germany was losing the war Fear that Russian troops would reach our area ahead of American or British forces became the real concern now Just days prior to Germany s capitulation our occupation occurred and this event would forever remain in my memory and directly affect much of my young life The events as described were real and have been written as seen through the eyes of a young boy Following our liberation we came to realize the enormous atrocities that had occurred and learned of people whose suffering had been far greater than ours and to those people I wish to offer my deepest respect

Early Childhood Curriculum Resource Handbook, 1993 Bulletin Washington (State). Superintendent of Public Instruction, 1913 Great New Nonfiction Reads Sharron L. McElmeel, 1995-02-15 Selected for their accuracy authenticity and appeal these books span the curriculum in subject matter and will help librarians advise readers making the transition from fiction to nonfiction McElmeel provides thorough guidelines for choosing and using information books to promote literacy and learning through inquiry Complete bibliographic information grade and age levels and series information are given for each title with suggestions for related resources both fiction and nonfiction and learning connections Our Dumb Animals George Thorndike Angell, 1922 The Emotional Lives of Animals Marc Bekoff, 2024-04-09 A seminal exploration of animal emotion sentience and cognition revised and expanded to incorporate a surge of new science When award winning scientist Marc Bekoff penned the first edition of this book in 2007 he predicted that over time our understanding of animal cognition and emotion would grow richer more accurate and possibly different Since then not only has the field seen an explosion of new and startling research but the popular interest in the subject has grown as well spawning countless podcasts articles and bestselling books Bekoff skillfully blends extraordinary stories of animal joy empathy grief embarrassment anger and love with the latest scientific research confirming the existence of emotions that common sense and experience have long implied Filled with light humor and compassion The Emotional Lives of Animals is a clarion call for reassessing both how we view and how we treat animals Congressional Record United States. Congress, 1967

Nature Magazine Percival Sheldon Ridsdale, Arthur Newton Pack, 1924 An illustrated monthly with popular articles about nature Home and School Reading and Study Guides Donna M. Lusardi, Rosemarie Kent, 2006 A compilation of information to expand the information in the New book of knowledge Provides a recommended reading list of more than 6 000 books to help teachers librarians and especially parents make optimal use of the set Farm Forestry for Agricultural Students at Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts Iowa State University. Conservation and Sustainable Utilization of Bioresources Swapna Thacheril Sukumaran, Keerthi T R, 2023-01-05 This book brings together chapters related to sustainable utilization of biological resources including in situ and ex situ conservation of rare endangered and threatened plants The title also gives a special emphasis on marine sponges and mangrove ecosystems which are two important untapped potential resources of the marine ecosystem and play a key role in maintaining the marine ecosystem There is an urgent need for the conservation exploration and utilization of bioresources for the growth and survival of human beings Due to the significant reduction in biological resources many countries are developing strategic action plans for the conservation and sustainable use of biological resources That is where this book fills the gap by discussing the significant development of new products and methodologies for sustainable utilization of these resources This book also unveils a world of novel bioactive molecules from medicinal plants and the marine ecosystem and explains how drug design pipelines can advance modern drug development The target audiences for this book include biodiversity researchers who are working on technology and bioresource management issues and faculty and students in the environment research areas and Biodiversity conservation National Conference on Conservation of Game, Fur-bearing Animals and Other Wild Life Canada. Commission of Conservation,Canada. Advisory Board on Wild Life Protection,1919

American Chestnut Susan Freinkel,2009-04 In prose as strong and quietly beautiful as the American chestnut itself Susan Freinkel profiles the silent catastrophe of a near extinction and the impassioned struggle to bring a species back from the brink Freinkel is a rare hybrid equally fluid and in command as a science writer and a chronicler of historical events and graced with the poise and skill to seamlessly graft these talents together A perfect book Mary Roach author of Stiff and Spook A spellbinding heart wrenching and uplifting account of the American chestnut that asks the vastly important question Have we learned enough and do we care enough to begin healing some of the wounds we've inflicted on the natural world Scott Weidensaul author of Return to Wild America and Mountains of the Heart This is a beautifully written account of the passing of one of the botanical wonders of the North American landscape the American chestnut tree which was nearly extirpated by a plague that entered the ecosystem and swept these great trees away Freinkel a gifted writer whose research is impeccable and whose reporting is topnotch tells of the impassioned work of scientists over the past century and up to today trying to bring the American chestnut back from the brink of extinction Only a person in love with trees could have written this lovely book Richard Preston author of The Hot Zone and The Wild Trees Graceful provocative and inspiring Thoreau would be proud Alan Burdick author of Out of Eden a 2005 National Book Award finalist In this beautifully written volume Susan Freinkel ably describes the marriage of science and passion that is being brought to bear to save this majestic American tree from extinction The people whose ancestors lived among chestnut trees and their places come alive for the reader as does the appearance and spread of the blight and the heroes who are struggling with it today The book concludes with a tantalizing vision of chestnuts in the forests again a thought of making the world right where it has gone wrong Peter H Raven Director of the Missouri Botanical Garden Young Children ,1991
