Psychological Impacts Of Exile Salvadoran And Guatemalan Families In Mexico:

Psychological Impacts of Exile María Cristina Bottinelli,1990 World Mental Health Casebook Alex Cohen,Arthur Kleinman,Benedetto Saraceno,2002-04-30 In 1974 the World Health Organization began research on the effectiveness of mental health services in the developing world Through their efforts they found that treatment methods were extremely limited in their usefulness and in some cases even inappropriate and harmful Little has changed in the last quarter century but the research in these countries has shown that psychological need often stems from poor physical conditions Elements including social and economical inequalities gender discrimination political violence and malnutrition and poor physical health all contribute to the social and psychological decay of both individuals and communities Currently the goal of the WHO is to document previous studies on communities of developing countries and to build on this information in order to move forward in research Using real cases based in the South Pacific Asia South and Latin America and Europe this volume sets out examples of community based interventions that have succeeded by implementing outreach to the families and community to identify those in need reliable and adequate drug supplies treatment interventions healthy psychosocial environments This book will interest mental health professionals international public health workers global program administrators and clinicians and healthcare workers all working with low income areas The Mental Health of Refugees Kenneth E. Miller,Lisa M. Rasco,2004-05-20 Print version originally published Mahwah NJ Lawrence Erlbaum 2004

International Handbook of Multigenerational Legacies of Trauma Yael Danieli,2013-03-09 In this extraordinary new text an international array of scholars explore the enduring legacy of such social shocks as war genocide slavery tyranny crime and disease Among the cases addressed are instances of genocide in Turkey Cambodia and Russia the plight of the families of Holocaust survivors atomic bomb survivors in Japan and even the children of Nazis the long term effects associated with the Vietnam War and the war in Yugoslavia and the psychology arising from the legacy of slavery in America Counseling Refugees Fred Bemak,Rita Chi-Ying Chung,Paul Pedersen,2002-09-30 There are more than 26 million refugees in the world and the population is expected to grow However there is minimal training or understanding in the mental health and social services fields that provides the awareness knowledge and skills to effectively work with refugees Subsequently this volume is intended to provide a comprehensive understanding of refugee psychosocial adjustment that incorporates cross cultural perspectives The text provides an all inclusive overview of refugee acculturation and adaptation a model of intervention to assist refugees in the process of psychosocial adjustment case studies illustrating practical intervention applications and country specific interventions from unique and diverse national perspectives Professionals working with refugees in the United States and around the world will value this volume Transnational Ruptures Catherine Nolin,2017-05-15 A key development in international migration in recent years has been the increasing feminization of migrant populations Research attention now focuses not only on the growing number of women on the move but also on their changing gender roles as more female migrants participate as principal wage earners and heads of household rather than as dependants The tensions between population displacement within and beyond Guatemala and the multiple local regional and national realities encountered and reconfigured by these refugee and migrants allow a fascinating window onto the connections and ruptures experienced in a global local world Transnational Ruptures holds great interest and value for a wide readership from scholars who are interested in transnational and refugee studies and international migration to upper level university students in disciplines such as human geography anthropology sociology Latin American Studies gender studies political science and international studies

In Search of Providence Patricia Foxen,2020-09-15 In the mid 1990s Patricia Foxen traveled back and forth between the Guatemalan highlands and Providence Rhode Island to understand the migration paths of K'iche' Mayan Indians who had fled the Guatemalan civil war to work in the factories and fisheries of New England More than two decades later many Mayans are still migrating to the US today part of the border crisis that prompted the Trump administration's ruthless immigration and asylum policy backlash As Foxen argues the recent surge in Mayan border crossings must be contextualized within both the longer history of violence marginality and exclusion that has long led Guatemala's Indigenous populations to be survivors on the move as well as contemporary push factors such as climate change and growing inequality that have forced people from their communities And yet one of the most significant drivers of continued emigration today ironically is the very culture of migration described in the book that has accelerated social change within many Indigenous communities setting in motion a complex series of economic and cultural shifts that have compelled a continuous movement of people and generations to the US Reading this story in 2020 at a time of massive growth in flows of irregular migrations around the world can help us better understand the highly complex set of factors that propel long term migrations and that shape transnational communities on both sides of the border In Search of Providence offers a layered historically grounded perspective that speaks to the local specificity behind the migration experience in order to point to the universal themes and contradictions of contemporary global displacements

Uprooted Minds Nancy Caro Hollander,2014-04-08 In our post 9/11 environment our sense of relative security and stability as privileged subjects living in the heart of Empire has been profoundly shaken Hollander explores the forces that have brought us to this critical juncture analyzing the role played by the neoliberal economic paradigm and conservative political agenda that emerged in the West over the past four decades with devastating consequences for the hemisphere's citizens Narrative testimonies of progressive US and Latin American psychoanalysts illuminate the psychological meanings of living under authoritarian political conditions and show how a psychoanalysis beyond the couch contributes to social struggles on behalf of human rights and redistributive justice By interrogating themes related to the mutual effects of social power and ideology large group dynamics and unconscious fantasies affects and defenses Hollander encourages reflections about our experience as social psychological subjects

Driven from Home David Hollenbach,2010-04-19 Throughout human history people have been driven from their homes by wars unjust treatment earthquakes and hurricanes The reality of forced migration is not new nor is awareness of the suffering of the displaced a recent discovery The United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees estimates that at the end of 2007 there were 67 million persons in the world who had been forcibly displaced from their homes including more than 16 million people who had to flee across an international border for fear of being persecuted due to race religion nationality social group or political opinion Driven from Home advances the discussion on how best to protect and assist the growing number of persons who have been forced from their homes and proposes a human rights framework to guide political and policy responses to forced migration This thought provoking volume brings together contributors from several disciplines including international affairs law ethics economics and theology to advocate for better responses to protect the global community s most vulnerable citizens Identities, Consciousness, and Organizing in Exile Deborah Lynn Billings,1995 The Psychology of Terrorism: Clinical aspects and responses Chris E. Stout,2002 Responding directly to the terrorist attacks of September 11 2001 an outstanding interdisciplinary group of academics clinicians and activists from around the world united to produce this clear exploration of terrorism Health, Society and Culture in Latin America Margaret Horn,1994 Counseling Across Cultures Paul Pedersen,1996 This book examines the priority issues of counselling from a variety of perspectives and takes stock of the many developments changes that have occurred in the last 20 years The focus is on specific ethnic groups in North America Nicaraguan Repatriation to Mosquitia Marvin Ortega,1991 Guatemala Scholars Network News ,1989 Reintegration of Nicaraguan Refugees and Internally Displaced Persons Marvin Ortega,1991 A Decade of Ambiguity Gilda Pacheco,1991 Violence and Migration in Colombia Gabriel Murillo-Castaño,Marta Herrera,1991 Repatriation Under Conflict in Central America Mary Ann Larkin,Frederick C. Cuny,Barry Nathan Stein,1991 Refugee Abstracts ,1990
