

The background of the cover is a photograph of a rainforest. Large, vibrant green leaves, likely banana leaves, are prominent in the foreground and midground. Sunlight filters through the dense canopy, creating a dappled light effect. A solid black horizontal band runs across the middle of the image, serving as a background for the text.

Rainforest Politics Ecological Destruction In South East Asia:

Rainforest Politics Philip Hurst,1990 The Politics of Environment in Southeast Asia Philip Hirsch,Carol Warren,2002-01-31 The environment in Southeast Asia is now a major issue of topical concern First book to give analysis in depth of the political processes involved in environmental disputes Provides a good selection of case studies in the region Questions the assumption that the middle classes are in the vanguard of the environmental movement The Political Ecology of Tropical Forests in Southeast Asia Tuck-Po Lye,Ken-ichi Abe,Wil de Jong,2003 Following an interdisciplinary approach to debates about the future of tropical forests in Southeast Asia the authors experts in their field unravel the extent to which the interests of local inhabitants nation states and international environmental movements are intertwined This volume a joint publication with Kyoto University Press examines the highly politicized context in which local forestry problems intersect with global market forces focusing on the social and economic diversity of different tropical forests and their specific historical background It emphasizes the importance of examining local issues in their own right

Environmental Challenges in South-East Asia Victor T. King,2013-01-11 This volume discusses environmental change natural resource exploitation and the prospect for ecological sustainability in Southeast Asia The contributors including sociologists geographers anthropologists economists political economists and historians presents the findings of recent archival and field research mainly from ongoing programmes of team research based in European universities and institutes Among the themes discussed are European and indigenous perceptions of the environment historical processes of environmental change the politics of resource use ecotourism and development deforestation and smallholding land use strategies migration and environmental degradation disease environment and human geography demography sustainability and resource exploitation Environmental Change in South-East Asia Raymond Bryant,Michael Parnwell,2005-08-03 Environmental Change in South East Asia brings together scholars journalists consultants and NGO activists to explore the interaction of people politics and ecology Ostensibly green activities plantation forestry eco tourism hydro electricity are revealed as guises used by elites to promote their own political and economic interests Highlighting fatal flaws in presently exclusive economic and ecological approaches the authors stress that neither the quest for sustainable development nor the process of environmental change itself can be understood without reference to political processes The Political Ecology of Forestry in Burma, 1824-1994 Raymond L. Bryant,1997-08-01 The author examines how the Burmese state has sought to control the country s forest activities and the ways in which groups relying on the forest for their livelihood loggers transnational corporations cultivators peasants have fought such control Loggers and Degradation in the Asia-Pacific Peter Dauvergne,2001-10-15 Corporate loggers have damaged much of the tropical forest throughout the Asia Pacific over the last four decades Despite a steady rise in global and local concern few firms have changed their practices Loggers and Degradation in the Asia Pacific examines why and how loggers have resisted and ignored calls for environmental reforms

Concentrating on the period after 1990 the book explains what is happening on the ground and highlights the structures within which firms and governments operate Within this broader context the author considers a range of factors including the science of tropical forest management the capacity of states to regulate and enforce rules the relative power of environmental reformers and the 1997 Asian financial crisis This is a constructive insightful approach to a depressing yet urgent problem It will be accessible to academic and student readers as well as those in corporations government and NGOs

Deforestation Ellen Kay Miller,1993 Tropical Forests and Climate N. Myers,2013-06-29 Tropical forests affect climate and the removal of the forests will change climate Or not This book discusses basic questions on how far if at all tropical deforestation leads to climatic change The question of this uncertainty is particularly addressed One important consequence of the uncertainties of whether deforestation affects climate is how scientific findings best illuminate the policy making process

Histories of Health in Southeast Asia Tim Harper,Sunil S. Amrith,2014-10-01 Health patterns in Southeast Asia have changed profoundly over the past century In that period epidemic and chronic diseases environmental transformations and international health institutions have created new connections within the region and the increased interdependence of Southeast Asia with China and India In this volume leading scholars provide a new approach to the history of health in Southeast Asia Framed by a series of synoptic pieces on the Landscapes of Health in Southeast Asia in 1914 1950 and 2014 the essays interweave local national and regional perspectives They range from studies of long term processes such as changing epidemics mortality and aging and environmental history to detailed accounts of particular episodes the global cholera epidemic and the hajj the influenza epidemic of 1918 WWII and natural disasters The writers also examine state policy on healthcare and the influence of organizations from NGOs such as the China Medical Board and the Rockefeller Foundation to grassroots organizations in Thailand Indonesia and the Philippines

Southeast Asian Responses to Globalization Francis Loh Kok Wah,2003-08-01 It is now apparent especially in the aftermath of the regional financial crisis of 1997 that globalization has been impacting upon the Southeast Asian economies and societies in new and harrowing ways a theme of many recent studies Inadvertently these studies of globalization have also highlighted that the 1980s and 1990s debate on democratization in the region which focused on the emergence of the middle classes the roles of new social movements NGOs and the changing relations between state and civil society might have been overly one dimensional This volume revisits the theme of democratization via the lenses of globalization understood economically politically and culturally Although globalization increasingly frames the processes of democracy and development nonetheless the governments and peoples of Southeast Asia have been able to determine the pace and character even the direction of these processes to a considerable extent This collection of essays by some distinguished senior scholars and other equally perceptive younger ones focuses on this globalization democratization nexus and shows empirically and analytically how governance is being restructured and democracy sometimes deepened in this new global era A historical review introduces the volume while an analytical assessment of the ten case studies concludes it Environmental Cooperation in Southeast Asia Paruedee Nguitragool, 2010-10-04 One of the most challenging environmental threats to the ten countries of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN has been the haze the sickening and deadly cloud of smoky pollution caused by widespread burning of land and forests in Indonesia This book examines both the threat and response to it by analysing environmental cooperation in Southeast Asia from an international regime perspective Tracing the development of regional cooperation on the haze and evaluating the effectiveness of the cooperation the author argues that the haze crisis combined with the economic crisis of 1997 has profoundly challenged the ASEAN modus operandi and resulted in ASEAN's efforts to establish an environmental regime to cope with environmental challenges The emerging ASEAN haze regime is a unique case study of a regional environmental institution in multi levelled global environmental governance Based on in depth original research this case study is integrated into international relations political science and comparative political analysis literatures and contributes to a better understanding of processes within the regional organisation Green Delusions Martin W. Lewis, 1992 Scholars politicians and activists worldwide are finally recognizing the severity of the global environmental crisis yet serious threats to the environmental movement remain Anti environmentalists dismiss the very idea of a crisis as a mirage Much less obvious however is the more subtle threat masquerading under the mantle of environmentalism itself It is this threat that Green Delusions addresses Writing from the standpoint of a committed environmentalist Martin W Lewis contends that many of the most devoted and strident greens those who propose a radical environmentalism unwittingly espouse an ill conceived doctrine that has devastating implications for the global ecosystem In this book he distinguishes the main variants of eco extremism exposes the fallacies upon which such views ultimately flounder and demonstrates that the policies advocated by their proponents would if enacted result in unequivocal ecological disaster At once polemic and prescriptive Green Delusions is an impassioned attempt to defend the environmental movement against extremist ideas that would lead to self defeating political strategies Tropical Deforestation Leslie Elmer Sponsel, Thomas N. Headland, Robert Converse Bailey, 1996 The authors present fresh perspectives on the major global crisis of deforestation from a wide range of fields including biological ecology forest history conservation biology anthropology political economy and development economics Conflict and Change in Cambodia Ben Kiernan, Caroline Hughes, 2020-10-28 In the thirty years after the Second World War Cambodia witnessed the reassertion of colonial power the spread of nationalism the birth and growth of a communist party the achievement of independence the stifling reform during the decade of peace the rise of an armed domestic insurgency the encroachment of an international war massive bombardment and civilian casualties pogroms and ethnic cleansing of religious minorities From 1975 to 1979 genocide took another 1.7 million lives Then after liberation from the Khmer Rouge regime Cambodia survived a decade of foreign occupation international isolation and guerrilla terror and harassment UN intervention and democratic transition were followed by Cambodia's defeat of the Khmer

Rouge in 1999 amid continuing internal tension and political confrontation Against this backdrop of more than thirty years of conflict in Cambodia Conflict and Change in Cambodia brings together primary documents and secondary analyses that offer fresh and informed insights into Cambodia's political and environmental history This book was previously published as a special issue of Critical Asian Studies

Nature and Nation Jeyamalar Kathirithamby-Wells, 2005-10-31 Nature and Nation explores the relations between people and forests in Peninsular Malaysia where the planet's richest terrestrial eco system met head on with the fastest pace of economic transformation experienced in the tropical world It engages the interplay of history culture science economics and politics to provide a holistic interpretation of the continuing relevance of forests to state and society in the moist tropics Malaysia has long been singled out for emulation by developing nations an accolade contradicted in recent years by concerns over its capital rather than poverty driven forest depletion The Malaysian case supports the call for re appraisal of entrenched prescriptions for development that go beyond material needs Book cover

Civilizing the Margins Christopher R. Duncan, 2008 Discusses the programs policies and laws that affect ethnic minorities in eight countries Burma Cambodia Indonesia Laos Malaysia the Philippines Thailand and Viet Nam Once targeted for intervention people such as the Orang Asli of Malaysia and the hill tribes of Thailand often become the subject of programs aimed at radically changing their lifestyles which the government views as backward or primitive Several chapters highlight the tragic consequences of forced resettlement a common result of these programs

Global Establishment David Kowalewski, 2016-07-27 Global Establishment applies the theory of establishmentism to international political economy After the 1930-80 period which greatly damaged the interests of the elites of Northern countries the establishments of the North increasingly meshed across national borders They also forged close connections with the national establishments of Asian nations Whereas this new transnational class formation the Global Establishment has been of great benefit to Northern and Asian elites it has brought considerable suffering to Asian nonelites These nonelites have fought back in the form of numerous strikes demonstrations and terrorist acts

Conservation, Sustainability, and Environmental Justice in India Alok Gupta, 2020-12-03 Conservation Sustainability and Environmental Justice in India highlights the environmental challenges that India faces largely due to high population and limited natural resources and discusses the gap between the intent of environmental policies and the actualization of those policies Contributors posit that the protection of the environment poses a fundamental challenge to the nation's desire to industrialize and develop more quickly arguing that the conservation of biodiversity protection of wetlands prevention of environmental pollution and promotion of ecological balance are all crucial in enabling sustainable development This book poses the question of how large a role the judiciary system should play in the protection of the environment as a vital body that passes policies to promote conservation and sustainable development

Tropical Deforestation Thomas K. Rudel, Bruce Horowitz, 1993 The highly publicized obscenity trial of Radclyffe Hall's The Well of Loneliness 1928 is generally recognized as the crystallizing moment in the construction of a visible modern English lesbian culture marking a great divide between innocence and deviance private and public New Woman and Modern Lesbian Yet despite unreserved agreement on the importance of this cultural moment previous studies often reductively distort our reading of the formation of early twentieth century lesbian identity either by neglecting to examine in detail the developments leading up to the ban or by framing events in too broad a context against other cultural phenomena Fashioning Sapphism locates the novelist Radclyffe Hall and other prominent lesbians including the pioneer in women's policing Mary Allen the artist Gluck and the writer Bryher within English modernity through the multiple sites of law sexology fashion and literary and visual representation thus tracing the emergence of a modern English lesbian subculture in the first two decades of the twentieth century Drawing on extensive new archival research the book interrogates anew a range of myths long accepted without question and still in circulation concerning to cite only a few the extent of homophobia in the 1920s the strategic deployment of sexology against sexual minorities and the rigidity of certain cultural codes to denote lesbianism in public culture
