Some of the greatest writers in the history of the art: Hart Crane, Ernest Hemingway, Jerzy Kosinski, Sylvia Plath, Anne Sexton, and Virginia Woolf all chose to silence themselves by suicide, leaving their families and friends with heartbreak and the world of literature with gaping holes. Their reasons for killing themselves when known were varied and quite often unreasonable. Some were plagued by depression or self-doubt, and others by frustration and helplessness in a world they could neither change nor tolerate. Profoundly moving and morbidly attractive, Final Drafts is a necessary historical record, biographical treatment, and psychological examination of the authors who left this cruel world by their own hands, either instantly or over long periods of relentless self-destructive behavior. It is also a devoted examination of references to suicide in literature, both by those who took their own lives and those who decided to live. Mark Seinfeld has selected many well-known, mostly fiction writers from those whose work dates to over a century ago, when the medical community was ill-equipped to deal with substance abuse and depression, to more recent writers such as Kosinski, Michael Dorris, and Eugene Izzie, who have left a puzzled literary community with a sad legacy. Seinfeld reveals that many authors contemplated ending their lives; in their work, they were obsessed with destroying themselves, were unable, in the case of the Holocaust, to live with the fact that their contemporaries had been killed, believed death to be a freedom from the horrors that forced them to create, and sometimes were simply unable to withstand rejection or criticism of their work. Other noted authors discussed in this volume include John Berryman, Ambrose Bierce, Harry Crosby, John Davidson, William Inge, Randall Jarrell, Arthur Koestler, T.E. Lawrence, Primo Levi, Jack London, Jay Anthony Lukas, Tom McHale, Yukio Mishima, Henry de Montherlant, Seth Morgan, George Sterling, Sara Teasdale, Ernst Toller, John Kennedy Toole, Sergey Yesenin, and many others.

Screen Savors Hernán Vera, Andrew M. Gordon, 2003-01-21. Screen Savors studies how the self of whites is imagined in Hollywood movies by white directors featuring white protagonists interacting with people of another color. This collaboration by a sociologist and a film critic, using the new perspective of critical white studies, offers a bold and sweeping critique of almost a century's worth of American film, from Birth of a Nation (1915) through Black Hawk Down (2001). Screen Savors studies the way in which the social relations that we call race are fictionalized and pictured in the movies. It argues that films are part of broader projects that lead us to ignore or deny the nature of the racial divide in which Americans live. Even as the images of racial and ethnic minorities change across the twentieth century, Hollywood keeps portraying the ideal white American self as good-looking, powerful, brave, cordial, kind, firm, and generous, a natural-born leader worthy of the loyalty of those of another color. The book invites readers to conduct their own analyses of films by showing how this can be done in over 50 Hollywood movies Among these are some films about the Civil War Birth of a Nation Gone with the Wind and Glory some about white messiahs who rescue people of another color Stargate To Kill a Mockingbird Mississippi Burning Three Kings and The Matrix the three versions of Mutiny on the Bounty 1935 1962 and 1984 and interracial romance Guess Who s Coming to Dinner Forty years of Hollywood fantasies of interracial harmony from The Defiant Ones and In the Heat of the Night through the Lethal Weapon series and Men in Black are examined This work in the sociology of knowledge and cultural studies relates the movies of Hollywood to the large political agendas on race relation in the United States Screen Saviors appeals to the general reader interested in the movies or in race and ethnicity as well as to students of communication

Small-Town Fiction, 1940-1960 Nathanael T. Booth,2019-01-10 In literature and popular culture small town America is often idealized as distilling the national spirit Does the myth of the small town conceal deep seated reactionary tendencies or does it contain the basis of a national re imagining During the period between 1940 and 1960 America underwent a great shift in self mythologizing that can be charted through representations of small towns Authors like Henry Bellamann and Grace Metalious continued the tradition of Sherwood Anderson in showing the small town by extension America itself profoundly warping the souls of its citizens Meanwhile Ray Bradbury Toshio Mori and Ross Lockridge Jr sought to identify the small town s potential for growth away from the shadows cast by World War II toward a more inclusive democratic future Examined together these works are key to understanding how mid 20th century America refashioned itself in light of a new postwar order and how the literary small town both obscures and reveals contradictions at the heart of the American experience William Lloyd Garrison and American Abolitionism in Literature and Memory Brian Allen Santana,2016-03-11 For nearly 150 years William Lloyd Garrison founder of the famed antislavery newspaper The Liberator has been represented by scholars educators politicians and authors as the founder of the American abolitionist movement Yet the idea that Garrison was the leader of a coherent movement was strongly contested during his lifetime Drawing on private letters diaries newspapers novels memoirs eulogies late 19th century textbooks poetry and monuments this study reveals the dramatic social and political forces of the postwar period which transformed our perceptions of Garrison the abolitionist movement and the first histories of the Civil War Cumulative List of Organizations Described in Section 170 (c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 United States.
