Women's Work: The First 20,000 Years Women, Cloth, and Society in Early Times Elizabeth Wayland Barber, 1995-09-17

A fascinating history of a craft that preceded and made possible civilization itself New York Times Book Review New discoveries about the textile arts reveal women s unexpectedly influential role in ancient societies Twenty thousand years ago women were making and wearing the first clothing created from spun fibers In fact right up to the Industrial Revolution the fiber arts were an enormous economic force belonging primarily to women Despite the great toil required in making cloth and clothing most books on ancient history and economics have no information on them Much of this gap results from the extreme perishability of what women produced but it seems clear that until now descriptions of prehistoric and early historic cultures have omitted virtually half the picture Elizabeth Wayland Barber has drawn from data gathered by the most sophisticated new archaeological methods methods she herself helped to fashion In a brilliantly original book Katha Pollitt Washington Post Book World she argues that women were a powerful economic force in the ancient world with their own industry fabric Womens Work E. J. W. Barber, 1994 The author presents the previously untold human side of the story of prehistoric textiles the relations of women and their textile work to society and economics over the huge span of prehistoric and early historic times Design Through Discovery Marjorie Elliott Bevin, 1994 An ideal choice for courses that combine the study of two dimensional and three dimensional art this book presents an analysis of the elements and principles of design as they apply to various fields of human design The Cumulative Book Index , 1976 A world list of books in the English language Contemporary Crafts Market Place , 1977
