Catching Up, Spillovers and Innovation Networks in a Schumpeterian Perspective Andreas Pyka,Maria da Graça Derengowski Fonseca,2011-05-10 This book discusses the influence of technological and institutional change on development and growth the impact on innovation of labor markets the spatial distribution of innovation dynamics and the meaning of knowledge generation and knowledge diffusion processes for development policies The individual articles demonstrate the powerful possibilities that emerge from the toolkit of evolutionary and Schumpeterian economics The book shows that evolutionary economics can be applied to the multi faceted phenomena of economic development and that a strong orientation on knowledge and innovation is key to development especially in less developed and emerging economies

Innovation and Finance Andreas Pyka,Hans-Peter Burghof,2013-07-18 Innovation and finance are in a symbiotic and twin track relationship a well functioning financial system spurs innovation by identifying and funding stimulating entrepreneurial activities which trigger economic growth Innovations also open up profitable opportunities for the financial system These mutual dynamics cause and need innovative adaptations in the financial system in order to better deal with the changing requirements of a knowledge based economy The volume comprises different contributions which focus on the central imperative of this evident connection between financial markets and innovation which despite its importance is only barely considered in academia as well in practice so far The book is about the mutual interdependence of innovation processes and finance This interdependent relationship is characterized by a high degree of complexity which stems on the one hand from the truly uncertain character of innovation and on the other hand from the different time scales in both domains Whereas innovation processes are long term and experimental financial markets are interested in shortening time horizons in order to optimize financial investments Economies which do not manage to align the two realms of their economic system are in danger of ending up in either financial bubbles or economic stagnation The chapters of this book deal with different aspects of this complex interrelationship between innovation and finance highlighting for example the role of stock markets venture capital and international financial transactions as well as the historical co development of the financial and industrial domains Thus far the communities in economics dealing with both issues are almost completely disconnected The book brings together economic research dealing with the interface between innovation and finance and highlights the importance of the Neo Schumpeterian perspective This topic is of particular interest in the current economic crisis affecting the Eurozone and its currency Most of the policy instruments discussed and implemented so far are focused on short run targets This discussion of the relationship between innovation and finance suggests a long run perspective to create new potentials for economic growth and a sustainable way out of the economic crisis

Brian Fitzgerald,Eleanor Wynn,2008-11-16 IT Innovation for Adaptability and Competitiveness addresses the topic of IT

innovations that can further an organization's ability to adapt and be competitive. Thus we address the problem at an earlier starting point that is the emergence of something innovative in an organization applied to that organization and its process of being diffused and accepted internally. Topics covered in the book include: The role of IT in organizational innovation; Innovating systems development process; Assessing innovation drivers; Innovation adoption; New environments; new innovation practices. This volume contains the edited proceedings of the Seventh Working Conference on IT Innovation for Adaptability and Competitiveness which was sponsored by the International Federation for Information Processing (IFIP) Working Group 8.6 and held at Intel Corporation, Leixlip, Ireland in May/June 2004. Knowledge Integration and Innovation Christian Berggren, Anna Bergek, Lars Bengtsson, Michael Hobday, Jonas Söderlund, 2011-08-11. Technology-based firms continue to compete primarily on innovation and are continuously required to present new solutions to an exacting market. As technological complexity and specialization intensifies, firms increasingly need to integrate and coordinate knowledge by means of project groups, diversified organizations, inter-organizational partnerships and strategic alliances. Innovation processes have progressively become interdisciplinary, collaborative, inter-organizational and international, and a firm's ability to synthesize knowledge across disciplines, organizations and geographical locations has a major influence on its viability and success. This book demonstrates how knowledge integration is crucial in facilitating innovation within modern firms. This book provides original, detailed empirical studies of prerequisites, mechanisms and outcomes of knowledge integration processes on several organizational levels, from key individuals, projects and internal organizations to collaboration between firms. It stresses the need to understand knowledge integration as a multi-level phenomenon which requires a broad repertoire of organizational and technical means. It further clarifies the need for strong internal capabilities for exploiting external knowledge, reveals how costs of knowledge integration affect outcomes and strategic decisions and discusses the managerial implications of fostering knowledge integration, providing practical guidance and support for managers of knowledge integration in high technology enterprises. System Innovation for Sustainability 2 Theo Geerken, Mads Borup, 2017-09-08. The EU-funded project Sustainable Consumption Research Exchanges (SCORE) consists of around 200 experts in the field of sustainable innovation and sustainable consumption. The SCORE philosophy is that innovation in SCP, sustainable consumption and production policy can be achieved only if experts that understand business development, sustainable solution design, consumer behaviour and system innovation policy work together in shaping it. Sustainable technology design can be effective only if business can make the products profitably and consumers are attracted to them. To understand how this might effectively happen, the expertise of systems thinkers must be added to the mix. The publication in 2008 of System Innovation for Sustainability 1 was the first result of a unique, positive confrontation between experts from all four communities. It examined what SCP is and what it could be, provided a state-of-the-art review on the governance of change in SCP policy and looked at the strengths and weaknesses of current approaches. System Innovation for Sustainability 2 is the first of three books of case studies covering respectively the three key consumption areas of mobility food and agriculture and energy use and housing These three areas are responsible for 70% of the life cycle environmental impacts of Western societies These case studies aim to stimulate foster or force change to SCP theory in practice System Innovation for Sustainability 2 focuses on change towards sustainable personal mobility based on implemented cases analysed from a system perspective It examines what changes can be made to help us reduce our need for mobility or start to make use of more sustainable mobility systems This is clearly a critical and highly problematic area as increasing living standards of a growing global population have resulted in rapid rises in both car and air travel along with the associated pollution Uniquely this book approaches the problems and solutions from a systems perspective explaining the meta trends specific issues for the mobility sector socioeconomic trends political considerations socio cultural developments and environmental issues As well as the mobility system itself other societal systems that impact the need for mobility such as labour and taxation are addressed in order to provide sustainable solutions to our current lock in problems Three major problem areas are considered the three Cs carbon emissions and the growing contribution of mobility to the climate change crisis congestion and casualties And each strategy proposed addresses one or more of these problem areas Among the cases discussed are Norway s carbon compensation scheme for air travel Madrid s high occupancy vehicle lanes London s congestion charge scheme market based instruments such as eco labelling for cars and taxation The book identifies opportunities for actors such as governments manufacturers and consumers to intervene in the complex system to promote sustainable mobility It concludes with a reflection on problems trends and action needed The System Innovation for Sustainability series is the fruit of the first major international research network on SCP and will set the standard in this field for some years to come It will be required reading for all involved in the policy debate on sustainable production and consumption from government business academia and NGOs for designers scientists businesses and system innovators

State Policies and Techno-Industrial Innovation Ulrich Hilpert, 2002-01-31 Behind the rhetoric of intervention and deregulation which has accompanied state attempts to stimulate technological innovation in the last decade is secreted a story of failed ambitions confusion muddle and incoherence Techno industrial innovation does make demands on the state not only in terms of new industries but also in regard to the inter relation of industrial and R D policy and the creation of markets This book provides a comparative analysis of techno industrial innovation in Europe Japan and the USA Drawing on case studies ranging from the semi conductor to the biotechnology industries the book presents a comprehensive and detailed survey of national strategies for the internal and world markets and sets them in their political context where the costs may be high and the pay offs uncertain
