Planting the Anthropocene Jennifer Clary-Lemon, 2019-03-15 Planting the Anthropocene is a rhetorical look into the world of industrial tree planting in Canada that engages the themes of nature culture and environmental change Bringing together the work of material ecocriticism and critical affect studies in service of a new materialist environmental rhetoric Planting the Anthropocene forwards a frame that can be used to work through complex scenes of anthropogenic labor Using the results of interviews with seasonal Canadian tree planters Jennifer Clary Lemon interrogates the complex and messy imbrication of nature culture through the inadequate terminology used to describe the actual circumstances of the planters work and lives and offers alternative ways to conceptualize them Although silvicultural workers do engage with the limiting rhetoric of efficiency and humanism they also make rhetorical choices that break down the nature culture divide and orient them on a continuum that blurs the boundaries between the given and the constructed the human and nonhuman Tree planting work is approached as a site of a deep seated materiality a continued re creation of the land s disturbance rather than a simplistic form of doing good that further separates humans from landscapes Jennifer Clary Lemon s view of nature and the Anthropocene through the lens of material rhetorical studies is thoroughly original and will be of great interest to students and scholars of rhetoric and composition especially those focused on the environment

Parapsychology, Philosophy, and Spirituality David Ray Griffin, 1997-01-09 In this book David Ray Griffin best known for his work on the problem of evil turns his attention to the even more controversial topic of parapsychology Griffin examines why scientists philosophers and theologians have held parapsychology in disdain and argues that neither a priori philosophical attacks nor wholesale rejection of the evidence can withstand scrutiny After articulating a constructive postmodern philosophy that allows the parapsychological evidence to be taken seriously Griffin examines this evidence extensively He identifies four types of repeatable phenomena that suggest the reality of extrasensory perception and psychokinesis Then on the basis of a nondualistic distinction between mind and brain which makes the idea of life after death conceivable he examines five types of evidence for the reality of life after death messages from mediums apparitions cases of the possession type cases of the reincarnation type and out of body experiences His philosophical and empirical examinations of these phenomena suggest that they provide support for a postmodern spirituality that overcomes the thinness of modern
