Liminal Images Alex Woodcock, 2005 The presence of unusual grotesque and rude carvings on ecclesiastical buildings have been explained in a number of ways from reflecting the warped sense of humour of the masons to a purely ornamental or marginal function However in this study of medieval sculpture from southern England Alex Woodcock suggests that imagery should be seen in the same way as the buildings themselves as liminal spaces mediating between the human mortal world and the sacred and unknown In examining various distorted and foliate heads grotesques mythical creatures beasts and so on Woodcock argues that these are wholly appropriate images for medieval religious life reflecting the ambiguous and the unclassifiable in an unknown realm whilst also having an apotropaic function Placing emphasis on liminality the study focuses in particular on heads severed foliate and otherwise and whole figures humans animals and hybrids including detailed studies of the siren and mermaid
