Maritime Labour Richard Gorski,2007 This is a collection of soundings into various aspects of the history of maritime labor from the close of the Middle Ages to the present The spatial emphasis of the essays is north European and Atlantic since they deal with the countries around the North Sea and Baltic with some coverage of North America Indeed from time to time the authors leave the sea behind in order to examine broader issues such as labor markets the regulation and institutions of seafaring and industrial relations on the waterfront But at all points there is a common theme of sea related labor and a common objective of better understanding what have often been perceived as difficult and elusive groups of people Captain Ahab Had a Wife Lisa Norling,2014-02-01 During the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries the whaling industry in New England sent hundreds of ships and thousands of men to distant seas on voyages lasting up to five years In Captain Ahab Had a Wife Lisa Norling taps a rich vein of sources including women's and men's letters and diaries shipowners records Quaker meeting minutes and other church records newspapers and magazines censuses and city directories to reconstruct the lives of the Cape Horn widows left behind onshore Norling begins with the emergence of colonial whaling on the island of Nantucket and then follows the industry to mainland New Bedford in the nineteenth century tracking the parallel shift from a patriarchal world to a more ambiguous Victorian culture of domesticity Through the sea wives compelling and often poignant stories Norling exposes the painful discrepancies between gender ideals and the reality of maritime life and documents the power of gender to shape both economic development and individual experience Round About the Earth Joyce E.
