A Discourse Analysis of Corruption Blendi Kajsiu, 2016-03-16 Why did Albania enjoy some of the most successful anti corruption programs and institutions along with what appeared to be growing levels of corruption during the period 1998 2005 Looking at corruption through a post structuralist discourse analysis perspective this book argues that the dominant corruption discourse in Albania served primarily to institute the neoliberal order rather than eliminate corruption It did so in four interrelated ways First blaming every Albanian failure on corruption avoided a critical engagement with the existing neoliberal developmental model Second the dominant articulation of corruption as abuse of public office for private gain consigned it to the public sector transforming neoliberal policies of privatisation and expanding markets into anticorruption measures Third international anticorruption campaigns reproduced an asymmetric relationship of dependency between Albania and the international institutions that monitored it by articulating corruption as internal to the Albanian condition Finally against corruption international and local actors could articulate a neoliberal order that was free of internal contradictions and fully compatible with democratization As a rare example of post structuralist discourse analysis of corruption this book can be useful for future research on discourses of corruption in other countries of the region and beyond

Genre and the (Post-)Communist Woman Florentina C. Andreescu, Michael Shapiro, 2014-09-25 This work is a critical intervention into the archive of female identity it reflects on the ways in which the Central and Eastern European female ideal was constructed represented and embodied in communist societies and on its transformation resulting from the political economic and social changes specific to the post communist social and political transitions During the communist period the female ideal was constituted as a heroic mother and worker both a revolutionary and a state bureaucrat which were regarded as key elements in the processes of industrial development and production She was portrayed as physically strong and with rugged rather than with feminized attributes After the post communist regime collapsed the female ideal's traits changed and instead took on the feminine attributes that are familiar in the West's consumer oriented societies Each chapter in the volume explores different aspects of these changes and links those changes to national security nationalism and relations with Western societies while focusing on a variety of genres of expression such as films music plays literature press reports television talk shows and ethnographic research The topics explored in this volume open a space for discussion and reflection about how radical social change intimately affected the lives and identities of women and their positions in society resulting in various policy initiatives involving women's social and political roles The book will be of interest to students and scholars of gender studies comparative politics Eastern European studies and cultural studies

Communism: A Very Short Introduction Leslie Holmes, 2009-08-27 The collapse of communism was one of the most defining moments of the twentieth century This Very Short Introduction examines the history behind the political economic and social structures of communism as an ideology

Revolutionary Medicine P. Sean Brotherton, 2012-03-21 An ethnography of post Soviet Cuba's health care sector which reveals Cuba to be a pragmatic and contradictory state

Mzala Nxumalo, Leftist Thought and Contemporary South Africa Robert J. Balfour, 2024-10-04 Written as a tribute to the revolutionary intellectual and leader Mzala Nxumalo this book discusses the significance of his work in the context of contemporary South African left politics It explores the history and struggle of the apartheid era that preceded the advent of democracy to analyze a crucial aspect of the national question that is the quest for the establishment of a united South Africa to overcome racist and sexist policies that create and nurture divisions among black people The subjects in this book deal with a wide range of topics including the new social economic and political challenges facing democratic South Africa the need to reexamine the critique of capitalism in the 21st century the relationship between race class and community struggles and the ecological challenges under capitalism Print edition not for sale in Sub Saharan Africa

Ragged Trousered NGOs Charles Buxton, 2019-05-17 Ragged Trousered NGOs is a compelling first hand account of the NGO sector and wider civil society over the past 40 years examining how and why people take collective action and engage in social development projects The book explores different organisational and methodological aspects of NGO work and social action asking what was possible to achieve at a grass roots level at different times in different economic and political contexts in the East and West Adopting a critical perspective the author argues that social action continues to play a vital and varied role and yet it struggles to challenge deep rooted power relations and traditional forms of behaviour in today's unequal world. In particular, the book draws on examples from the former Soviet Union in transition and the UK's voluntary sector over the last 40 years with a view to challenging Eurocentric views about organisations and communities. The analysis adopts a Gramscian view of hegemony and an internationalist and anti-war position on key issues arising in recent armed conflicts and the new cold war with Russia. The book concludes by addressing the challenges for development workers, noting the precarious nature of NGO work despite its many achievements and suggesting ways in which social activists can pick up more strength and support. This book's practical perspective on progressive forms of organisational management will be of considerable interest to civil society and NGO development workers as well as to researchers and students in the fields of international development, politics, sociology and regional studies.

Motivation, Educational Policy and Achievement Sam Carr, 2015-12-14

Motivation, Educational Policy and Achievement seeks to theorise and critique current trends in education through the lens of key ideas from motivational theory. Its purpose is to argue that current educational trends on a macro level are a significant threat to the provision of classroom practices seeking to create an educational environment that motivational theorists would argue is best placed to develop motivational equality, optimal motivation and wellbeing. Linking major contemporary theories of motivation to wider educational and political debate, this unique resource will bring about two major benefits: it will vocalise and mobilise the substantial research evidence from motivational theory in order to ensure that it contributes more explicitly to a critique of current neoliberal trends, and motivation researchers will be better positioned to move the theory forward in relation to what is happening in the real world of education. Areas covered include developing a more critical space in relation to the field of motivational psychology and contemporary educational policy; linking motivational theory to education policy and broader social and political structures; the neoliberal educational landscape; an overview of achievement goal theory and self-determination theory. Motivation, Educational Policy and Achievement is a wake-up call for educational practitioners and policy makers and essential reading for all advanced students and researchers in the fields of educational psychology and educational research.

Ignite the flame of optimism with is motivational masterpiece, Marx For A Post Communist Era On Poverty Corruption And Banality .
